Wright the author presents a compelling and controversial argument against the women's suffrage movement. Written in a formal and persuasive tone, Wright employs historical evidence and biological theories to support his assertion that women should not be granted the right to vote. This book, which was published in 1913 during a time of intense debate on suffrage rights, provides insight into the mindset of anti-suffragists and their reasoning behind opposing women's involvement in politics. Wright's work is a product of the patriarchal and conservative ideals prevalent in the early 20th century, shedding light on the challenges faced by women fighting for equal rights. Despite its outdated and discriminatory views, the book serves as a valuable historical document for understanding the opposition to women's suffrage. Readers interested in the history of feminism and political movements will find this text to be a thought-provoking and informative read. 200

Women Geoff Blackwell, Ruth Hobday, 2017-10-31. 200 incredible women, 126 hours of interviews, 16,000 photographs, 5 questions. A snapshot of female life around the globe. This book includes interviews with 200 women from a variety of backgrounds, taking you on a journey that's heartbreaking and uplifting. Each woman shares her unique reply to the same five questions: What really matters to you? What brings you happiness? What do you regard as the lowest depth of misery? What would you change if you could? and Which single word do you most identify with? The variety of answers offers gifts of empowerment and strength, inviting us to bring positive change at a time when so many are fighting for basic freedom and equality. Interviewees include Jane Goodall, conservation and animal welfare activist; Margaret Atwood, author and winner of The Booker Prize; Roxane Gay, author and feminist; Renée Montagne, former host of NPR's Morning Edition; Alicia Garza, activist and co-founder of Black Lives Matter; Alfre Woodard, award-winning actor and activist; Marian Wright Edelman, head of the Children's Defense Fund; Lydia Ko, professional golfer and Olympian; Dolores Huerta, labor activist, community organizer, and co-founder of the National Farm Workers Association; Alice Waters, chef, author, and food rights advocate; Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, author; and MacArthur Foundation fellow. Each interview is accompanied by a photographic portrait, resulting in a volume that is compelling in word and image and global in its scope and resonance. This landmark book is published to coincide with an interactive website building on this remarkable, ever-evolving project. 200 Women reminds us that there are no ordinary women. Makes a wonderful birthday, graduation, going-away gift, or coffee-table gift for every woman to encourage personal growth. An empowering book for women, teen girls, or anyone looking for inspiration from luminaries across the world.
