System Theories and A Priori Aspects of Perception J.S. Jordan, 1998-04-21 This book takes as a starting point John Dewey s article The Reflex Arc Concept in Psychology in which Dewey was calling for in short the utilisation of systems theories within psychology theories of behaviour that capture its nature as a vastly complex dynamic coordination of nested coordinations This line of research was neglected as American psychology migrated towards behaviourism where perception came to be thought of as being both a neural response to an external stimulus and a mediating neural stimulus leading to or causing a muscular response As such perception becomes a question of how it is the perceiver creates neural representations of the physical world Gestalt psychology on the other hand focused on perception itself utilising the term Phenomenological Field a term that elegantly nests perception and the organism within their respective as well as relative levels of organisation With the development of servo mechanisms during the second world war systems theory began to take on momentum within psychology and then in the 1970s William T Powers brought the notion of servo control to perception in his book Behavior The Control of Perception Since then scientists have come to see nature not as linear chain of contingent cause effect relationships but rather as a non linear unpredictable nesting of self referential emergent coordinations best described as Chaos theory The implications for perception are astounding while maintaining the double aspect nature of perception espoused by the Gestalt psychologists In short system theories model perception within the context of a functioning organism so that objects of experience come to be seen as scale dependent psychophysically neutral phenomenological transformations of energy structures the dynamics of which are the result of evolution and therefore a priori to the individual case This a priori homological unity among brain perception and world is revealed through the use of systems theories and represents the thrust of this book All the authors are applying some sort of systems theory to the psychology of perception However unlike Dewey we have close to a century of technology we can bring to bear upon the issue This book should be seen as a collection of such efforts     Of Heaven and Earth Neil Freer,1996 Presents information on Sitchins theories about the origins of mankind and the intervention of intelligence from beyond the Earth He and the other contributors offer a scholarly approach to the ancient astronaut theory Contains the complete transcript of the first Sitchin Studies Day held in Denver Colorado on Oct 6 1996 Following Sitchins detailed keynote address are six other prominent speakers whose work he has influenced They include philosopher Neil Freer UFO expert J Antonio Huneeus clergyman Father Charles Moore author V Susan Ferguson and two university professors Madeleine Briskin and Marlene Evans They agree that certain myths were actual events instead of figments of imaginations Sitchins work comprises the early part of a new paradigmone that is already beginning to shake the very foundations of religion archaeology and our society in general

Cartography and the Political Imagination Julie MacArthur,2016-06-30 After four decades of British rule in colonial Kenya a previously unknown ethnic name Luyia appeared on the official census in 1948 The emergence of the Luyia represents a clear case of ethnic invention At the same time current restrictive theories privileging ethnic homogeneity fail to explain this defiantly diverse ethnic project which now comprises the second largest ethnic group in Kenya In Cartography and the Political Imagination which encompasses social history geography and political science Julie MacArthur unpacks Luyia origins In so doing she calls for a shift to understanding geographic imagination and mapping not only as means of enforcing imperial power and constraining colonized populations but as tools for articulating new political communities and dissent Through cartography Luyia ethnic patriots crafted an identity for themselves characterized by plurality mobility and cosmopolitan belonging While other historians have focused on the official maps of imperial surveyors MacArthur scrutinizes the ways African communities adopted and adapted mapping strategies to their own ongoing creative projects This book marks an important reassessment of current theories of ethnogenesis investigates the geographic imaginations of African communities and challenges contemporary readings of community and conflict in Africa

The Unity of Mystical Traditions Randall Studstill, 2018-08-14 This book argues that mystical doctrines and practices initiate parallel transformative processes in the consciousness of mystics This thesis is supported through a comparative analysis of Tibetan Buddhist Dzogchen rdzogs chen and the medieval German mysticism of Eckhart Suso and

Tauler These traditions are interpreted using a system cybernetic model of consciousness This model provides a theoretical framework for assessing the cognitive effects of mystical doctrines and practices and showing how different doctrines and practices may nevertheless initiate common transformative processes This systems approach contributes to current philosophical discourse on mysticism by 1 making possible a precise analysis of the cognitive effects of mystical doctrines and practices and 2 reconciling mystical heterogeneity with the essential unity of mystical traditions     The SAGE Handbook of International Marketing Masaaki Kotabe,Kristiaan Helsen,2009-01-30 In an internationally minded and detailed analysis the contributors seek to examine the state of the art in research in international marketing with particular emphasis on the conceptual framework and theory development in the field Looking at new research formative and fundamental literature and the nature of strategic alliance and global strategy this timely and comprehensive Handbook offers the reader a compelling examination of the central concerns of marketing for an international community
