in the fossil record According to the catastrophists new species do not evolve gradually they proliferate following sudden mass extinctions Placing this major change of perspective within the context of a range of ancient debates Palmer discusses such topics as the history of the solar system present day extraterrestrial threats to earth hominid evolution and the fossil record

Julian Huxley, Evolutionism and the History of Transhumanism Ingrid Dunér,2025-03-18 The evolutionary biologist Julian Huxley 1887 1975 attempted to promote a religion for the future which he would come to refer to as Transhumanism Transhumanism was an attempt to unite a more traditional humanistic view of the human as containing some form of core essence or potential with an evolutionary point of view of humans as a work in progress Before humans natural selection had been responsible for the transformation of life Through its ordering principles and through chance it had given rise to humankind which had ushered in a new phase of evolution Humanity stood on the threshold of yet another critical point in evolution The consciously purposive phase of evolution This open access book explores the history of transhumanism by analyzing how Julian Huxley s transhumanism develops and why it does at this particular point in time by placing it firmly within the context of his specific scientific and sociopolitical milieu starting roughly in the interwar years and stretching over the Second World War to the 1970s Continuing the study then focuses on the new transhumanists of the 1970s 1980s and 1990s and investigates continuity in mode of thinking contributing to a more coherent understanding of transhumanism its history and of modern projects of human enhancement The book captures how scientific and technological development in relation to society and social order shapes images and expectations of the future and of what future is desirable

A Short History of Humanity Johannes Krause,Thomas Trappe,2022-04-19 Thrilling a bracing summary of what we have learned from archaeogenetics the study of ancient DNA Krause and Trappe capture the excitement of this young field Kyle Harper The Wall Street Journal Johannes Krause is the director of the Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology and a brilliant pioneer in the field of archaeogenetics archaeology augmented by DNA sequencing technology which has allowed scientists to reconstruct human history reaching back hundreds of thousands of years before recorded time In this surprising account Krause and journalist Thomas Trappe rewrite a fascinating chapter of this history the peopling of Europe that takes us from the Neanderthals and Denisovans to the present We know now that a wave of farmers from Anatolia migrated into Europe 8 000 years ago essentially displacing the dark skinned blue eyed hunter gatherers who preceded them This Anatolian farmer DNA is one of the core genetic components of people with contemporary European ancestry Archaeogenetics has also revealed that indigenous North and South Americans though long thought to have been East Asian also share DNA with contemporary Europeans Krause and Trappe vividly introduce us to the prehistoric cultures of the ancient Europeans the Aurignacians innovative artisans who carved flutes and animal and human forms from bird bones more than 40 000 years ago the Varna who buried their loved ones with gold long before the Pharaohs of Egypt and the Gravettians big game hunters who were Europe s most successful early settlers until they perished in the ice age Genetics has earned a reputation for smuggling racist ideologies into science but cutting edge science makes nonsense of eugenics and pure bloodlines Immigration and genetic exchanges have always defined our species who we are is a question of culture not biological inheritance This revelatory book offers us an entirely new way to understand ourselves both past and present
