Evolutionary Psychology And Motivation Nebraska Symposium On Motivation Volume 47:

Motivation and Action Jutta Heckhausen, Heinz Heckhausen, 2018-03-27 This third edition provides translations of all chapters of the most recent fifth German edition of Motivation and Action including several entirely new chapters. It provides comprehensive coverage of the history of motivation and introduces up to date theories and new research findings. Early sections provide a broad introduction to and deep understanding of the field of motivation psychology mapping out different perspectives and research traditions. Subsequent chapters examine major themes of human motivation including achievement, affiliation and power motivation as well as the fundamentals of motivation psychology such as motivated and goal oriented behaviors, implicit and explicit motives and the regulation of development. In addition, the book discusses the roles of motivation in three practical fields: school and college, the workplace and sports. Topics featured in this text include Social Relationships and its effects on sexual or intimacy motivation, Conscious and unconscious motivators of behavior, Drives and incentives in the fields of achievement, intimacy, sociability and power, How the biochemistry and structures of our brain shapes motivated behavior, How to engage in intentional goal directed behavior, The potential and limits of motivation and self direction in shaping our lives. Motivation and Action Third Edition is a must have resource for undergraduate and graduate students as well as researchers in the fields of motivation psychology, cognitive psychology and social psychology as well as personality psychology and agency. About the Editor: Jutta Heckhausen is the daughter of Heinz Heckhausen who published Motivation and Action as a monograph in 1980 and who died in 1988 just before the 2nd edition came out. Dr. Heckhausen received her Ph.D. in 1985 from the University of Strathclyde Glasgow with a dissertation about early mother child interaction and did her Habilitation in 1996 at the Free University of Berlin with a monograph about developmental regulation in adulthood. Dr. Heckhausen worked for many years at the Max Planck Institute for Human Development in Berlin conducting research about the role of motivation in lifespan development. She is currently a professor of psychology at the University of California Irvine.

The Social Psychology of Inequality Jolanda Jetten, Kim Peters, 2019-10-31 Economic inequality has been of considerable interest to academics citizens and politicians worldwide for the past decade and while economic inequality has attracted a considerable amount of research attention it is only more recently that researchers have considered that economic inequality may have broader societal implications However while there is an increasingly clear picture of the varied ways in which economic inequality harms the fabric of society there is a relatively poor understanding of the social psychological processes that are at work in unequal societies This edited book aims to build on this emerging area of research by bringing together researchers who are at the forefront of this development and who can therefore provide timely insight to academics and practitioners who are grappling with the impact of economic inequality This book will address questions relating to perceptions of inequality mechanisms underlying effects of inequality various consequences of inequality and the factors that contribute to the maintenance of inequality The target audiences are students at advanced undergraduate or graduate level as well as scholars and professionals in the field The book fills a niche of both applied and practical relevance strongly emphasizing theory and integration of different perspectives in social psychology Given the broad interest in inequality within the social sciences the book will be accessible to sociologists and political scientists as well as social organizational and developmental psychologists The insights brought together in The Social Psychology of Inequality will contribute to a broader understanding of the far reaching costs of inequality for the social health of a society and its citizens This edited volume brings together cutting edge social psychological research addressing one of the most pressing issues of our times economic inequality Collectively the chapters illuminate why inequality has negative effects on individuals and societies when and for whom these negative effects are most likely to emerge and the psychological mechanisms that maintain inequality This comprehensive volume is an essential read for those interested in understanding and ameliorating inequality Brenda Major Distinguished Professor Department of Psychological and Brain Sciences University of California This invaluable volume demonstrates the indispensable and powerful contribution that social psychologists can make to our understanding of societal inequality For those outside of social psychology it provides a unique and comprehensive overview of what social psychology has to offer and for social psychologists it is exemplary in demonstrating how to make a systematic contribution to the understanding of a hotly debated real world issue Scholars and students alike and from various disciplines will gain much from reading this fascinating and inspiring social psychological journey Maykel Verkuyten Professor in Interdisciplinary Social Science University of Utrecht The Social Psychology of Inequality offers a superb and timely social psychological analysis of the causes and consequence of increasing wealth and income gaps With its refreshingly international authorship this volume offers profound insights into the cognitive and social mechanisms that help maintain but potentially also to overcome an economy that is rigged in favor of the wealthy A new and stimulating voice illustrating science in the service of a fairer and more democratic society Anne Maass Professor of Social Psychology University of Padova This volume assembles an impressive list of leading international scholars to address a timely and important issue the causes and consequences of economic inequality The approach to the topic is social psychological but the editors and chapters make valuable connections to related literatures on socio structural influences in allied disciplines such as economics political science and sociology The Social Psychology of Inequality offers cutting edge insights into the psychological dynamics of inequality and novel synthesis of structural and individual level influences and outcomes of inequality It should attract a wide audience and will set the agenda for research on economic inequality well into the future John F Dovidio Carl Iver Hovland Professor of Psychology and Public Health Yale University Impulsivity

Understanding Human Development Ursula M. Staudinger, Ulman E.R. Lindenberger, 2012-12-06 K Warner Schaie I am pleased to write a foreword for this interesting volume particularly as over many years I have had the privilege of interacting with the editors and a majority of the contributors in various professional roles as a colleague mentor or research collaborator The editors begin their introduction by asking why one would want to read yet another book on human development They immediately answer their question by pointing out that many developmentally oriented texts and other treatises neglect the theoretical foundations of human development and fail to embed psychological constructs within the multidisciplinary context so essential to understanding development This volume provides a positive remedy to past deficiencies in volumes on human development with a well organized structure that leads the reader from a general introduction through the basic processes to methodological issues and the relation of developmental constructs to social context and biological infrastructure This approach does not surprise After all the editors and most of the contributors at one time or another had a connection to the Max Planck Institute of Human Development in Berlin whether as students junior scientists or senior visitors That institute under the leadership of Paul Baltes has been instrumental in pursuing a systematic lifespan approach to the study of cognition and personality Over the past two decades it has influenced the careers of a generation of scientists who have advocated long term studies of human development in an interdisciplinary context viewpoint The Nature of Emotion reveals the central issues in emotion research and theory in the words of the leading scientists working in the field today providing a unique and highly accessible guide for students researchers and clinicians

Psychology of Self-Regulation Joseph P. Forgas, Roy F. Baumeister, Dianne M. Tice, 2011-02-25 The ability to regulate and control our behaviors is a key accomplishment of the human species yet the psychological mechanisms involved in self regulation remain incompletely understood This book presents contributions from leading international researchers who survey the most recent developments in this fascinating area The chapters shed new light on the subtle and often subconscious ways that the people seek to regulate their thoughts feelings and behaviors in everyday social life The contributions seek answers to such intriguing questions as How can we improve our ability to control our actions How do people make decisions about which goals to pursue How do we maintain and manage goal oriented behavior What happens when we run out of self regulation resources Can we match people and the regulatory demands of to specific tasks so as to optimize performance What role does self regulation play in sports performance in maintaining successful relationships and in managing work situations The book offers a highly integrated and representative coverage of this important field and is suitable as a core textbook in advanced courses dealing with social behavior and the applications of psychology to real life problems

Motivating Humans Martin E. Ford, 1992-10-06 Motivating Humans represents an excellent integration of different motivational constructs The main purpose of Ford s book and his theory motivational systems theory MST is to provide an integrative and coherent model of motivation that synthesizes the various constructs from the different theories into one comprehensive framework It represents an important addition to the knowledge base on motivation and will be generative of much future research Moreover the book presents the framework in a scholarly yet readable fashion that makes the book accessible to professional psychologists as well as graduate and undergraduate students Paul R Pintrich in Contemporary Psychology Why do people do the things they do In Motivating Humans Ford answers this age old question and offers the reader a precise and comprehensive description of the basic substance of human motivation what it is how it works and how it impacts what people do and how well they do it He also shows how classic and contemporary motivation theory in education management and psychology can be integrated into a coherent and unified framework called Motivational Systems Theory from which he derives 17 principles for motivating humans Different from any other motivation book Motivating Humans presents numerous unique features a variety of concrete examples to bridge the gap between abstract theory and the world of practical human affairs an applications chapter that explores such issues as ways to promote social responsibility in youth ways to increase work productivity and job satisfaction and ways to increase learning and school achievement the most up to date coverage of recent studies in motivation and pedagogical devices including summary tables to help the reader digest and remember key information Unique comprehensive and accessibly written Motivating Humans will inspire a wide readership including professors and students in psychology management education developmental psychology and clinical psychology Class Tested What the Students Say The chart on the history of motivational theory organized broadly by MST concepts was extremely helpful in providing the reader with a look at the field in a glance First and foremost the fact that this is a legitimate psychological theory and I can understand it having had very little other exposure to psychology is a very strong aspect of the book It refers to and explains a variety of psychological theories and principles without losing me Also any theory that seems to unify a large volume of disparate work is always attractive to me especially if it does a good enough job surveying its predecessors as I think the book does Finally I think that the summary of the LSF in chapter two was integral to the largeness or wide view of the book It helped to tie in and explain the whole person approach to motivational theory I really liked how MST emphasized the role of emotions in motivation and human action where other theories had rationalized them Emotions are very powerful and I believe virtually impossible to explain away something that I think psychology does too readily Motivational Systems Theory is the most comprehensive and compelling theory of human motivation which I have seen to date Martin Ford has taken an impoverished and muddled field of psychological inquiry and transformed it into a coherent and useful tool for explaining human behavior Chapter 6 is especially brilliant It gives an overview of all the major and most of the not so major theories and capitalizes on their similarities rather than their differences Most practitioners in schools and business recognize the value of motivating people and do so operating from their gut it is good to know that there is a workable and logical theory to put behind the practice and help refine it Chapter 7 is particularly helpful one could read this chapter and none others and still benefit Finally a book which will help educators turn their students on to learning It should be required reading for all classroom teachers Praise for this volume Motivating Humans by Martin Ford presents one of the most complete and comprehensive theories of human motivation yet to be proposed This is a significant work that is essential reading for all interested both in understanding motivation and in applying motivational principles in the workplace Robert J Sternberg Yale University Motivating Humans is a well thought out and well organized book that focuses on issues of motivation Educators in particular will be interested in this volume It utilizes a combination of logic and existing literature to build its case Martin Ford's work is creative yet analytic Motivating Humans will certainly stimulate some serious class discussion Gerald R Adams College of Family and Consumer Studies University of Guelph Ontario Canada Using a broad systems perspective Ford has skillfully organized a wide and all too often confusing array of advances in motivation theory and research Students researchers and practitioners in education and psychology should find this book most helpful in providing a clear and thought provoking introduction to the field Ruth Kanfer Department of Psychology University of Minnesota Motivating Humans contains a wealth of information from theory to application to help educators increase school learning and achievement Twenty five pages of bibliography alone make this book attest to its thoroughness A chapter of theories of motivation can only be regarded as definitive some 31 theories of motivation are described and arranged in a table format Ford regards facilitation not control as the guiding idea for motivating people an idea that fits nicely with the growing role of teacher as facilitator Wisely he offers no ready formula for facilitating motivation for there are no magic motivational buttons that can be pushed to make people want to learn work hard and act in a responsible manner But Ford does offer a comprehensive glimpse into the mechanism of motivation for those who are trying to find their own paths toward inspiring it It deserves the highest praise and the widest reading for its treatment of such a complex subject in such an accessible and thorough manner Motivating Humans should serve long as the standard source and reference on motivation Educational Leadership Children, Cities, and Psychological Theories Dietmar Görlitz,Hans Joachim Harloff,Günter Mey,Jaan Valsiner,2012-10-25 No detailed description available for Children Cities and Psychological Theories
