 book spotlights the trajectories of young women and men navigating the turmoil of the early twentieth century From the end of the First World War to the aftermath of the Second World War Europe witnessed fundamental changes in the social regimes that determined power distribution Against this backdrop of the struggle between democratic and authoritarian projects amid both war and fragile peace young people increasingly became a target of state legislation mass organizations and other institutions The authors of this collective volume approach the first half of the twentieth century through the lens of age and gender as interdependent categories of analysis In doing so they reveal how adult perceptions of youth and gender framed young men and women's lives as well as their roles in society The authors also explore how these perceptions collided with youth agency probing the specific age and gender related dynamics of empowerment and organization By focusing on the young actors and the institutional settings that limited their scope of action the authors contrast processes of wayward agency with institutionalized attempts to control and lead the young As such this book contributes to a global academic discussion on age gender the life cycle and intersectionality This book will be relevant for scholars and students in history sociology gender studies and youth studies It will also be of interest to those studying European history social
