The Archaeology of the Kurdistan Region of Iraq and Adjacent Regions Konstantinos Kopanias, John MacGinnis, 2016-06-23 Conference proceedings presenting the first opportunity for leading figures in the burgeoning area of archaeological research in the Kurdish Autonomous Region of Iraq to gather and present all the key new projects which are revolutionising our understanding of the region

Before Writing, Vol. I Denise Schmandt-Besserat, 1992 Before Writing gives a new perspective on the evolution of communication. It points out that when writing began in Mesopotamia it was not as previously thought a sudden and spontaneous invention. Instead it was the outgrowth of many thousands of years worth of experience at manipulating symbols. In Volume I From Counting to Cuneiform Denise Schmandt Besserat describes how in about 8000 B C coinciding with the rise of agriculture a system of counters or tokens appeared in the Near East. These tokens small geometrically shaped objects made of clay represented various units of goods and were used to count and account for them. The token system was a breakthrough in data processing and communication that ultimately led to the invention of writing about 3100 B C. Through a study of archaeological and epigraphic evidence Schmandt Besserat traces how the Sumerian cuneiform script the first writing system emerged from a counting device. In Volume II A Catalog of Near Eastern Tokens Schmandt Besserat presents the primary data on which she bases her theories. These data consist of several thousand tokens catalogued by country archaeological site and token types and subtypes. The information also includes the chronology stratigraphy museum ownership accession or field number references to previous publications material and size of the artifacts. Line drawings and photographs illustrate the various token types.

Glorious Mud! Gus W. Van Beek, Ora Van Beek, 2013-10-30 Invented about 13 000 years ago mud architecture has since been one of the most common economical useful and widespread forms of building It has been and is still being used for grand palaces and temples as well as simple shops and homes Research conducted over the last several decades has enabled archaeologists and architects to understand how now ruined ancient mud structures were originally built Gus and Ora Van Beek describe mud construction techniques from Southwest Asia the Near East North Africa Europe and the United States paying specific attention to problems involving foundations wall and roof construction cooling and heating water erosion and earthquake damage Glorious Mud is not only the definitive reference work on one of the world's most important forms of architecture but also a powerful study of the human past

Frank Lloyd Wright--the Lost Years, 1910-1922 Anthony Alofsin, 1993 New definition to the little known work Wright produced during this period which he describes as Wright's primitivist phase He traces this influence in his art through Wright's explorations of primitivist sources innovations in sculpture and an intensification of the architect's use of ornament Less tangible but as important was Wright's view of himself his art and society and Alofsin uncovers the European impact on the architect's image of himself as a

Archaeology and Women Sue Hamilton, Ruth D Whitehouse, Katherine I Wright, 2016-09-16 Archaeology and Women draws together from a variety of angles work currently being done within a contemporary framework on women in archaeology One section of this collection of original articles addresses the historical and contemporary roles of women in the discipline Another attempts to link contemporary archaeological theory and practice to work on women and gender in other fields Finally this volume presents a wide diversity of theoretical approaches and methods of study of women in the ancient world representing a cross section of work being carried out today under the broad banner of gender archaeology The geographical and chronological range of the contributions is also wide from Southeast Asia and South America to Western Asia Egypt and Europe from Great Britain to Greece and from 10 000 years ago to the recent past An ideal sampler for courses dealing with women and archaeology

Something Out of the Ordinary? Interpreting Diversity in the Early Neolithic Linearbandkeramik and Beyond Luc Amkreutz, Fabian Haack, Daniela Hofmann, 2016-04-26 More than 7000 years ago groups of early farmers the Linearbandkeramik or LBK spread over vast areas of Europe Their cultural characteristics comprised common choices and styles of execution with a central meaning and functionality attached to doing things a certain way over an enormous geographical area However recent evidence suggests that the reality was much more varied and diverse The central question of this book is the extent to which notions of uniformity and diversity have caused a wider shift in archaeological perspective Using the LBK case study as a starting point the volume brings together contributions by international specialists tackling the notion of cultural diversity and its explanatory power in archaeological analysis more generally Through discussions of the domestic architecture stone tool inventory pottery traditions landscape use and burial traditions of the LBK this book provides a crucial reappraisal of the culture's potential for adaptability and change. Papers in the second part of the volume are devoted to archaeological case studies from around the globe in which the tension between diversity and uniformity has also proved controversial including the Near Eastern Halaf culture the North American Mississippian the Pacific expansion of the Lapita culture and the European Bell Beaker phenomenon. All provide exciting theoretical and methodological contributions on how the appreciation of cultural diversity as a whole can be moved forward. These papers expose diversity and uniformity as cultural strategies and as such provide essential reading for scholars in archaeology and anthropology and for anyone interested in the interplay between material culture and human social change.

Nettleship, Dale Givens, 2011-06-24 No detailed description available for War its Causes and Correlates How Writing Came About Denise Schmandt-Besserat, 2010-01-01 An utterly lucid thoughtfully illustrated and thoroughly convincing book on the origins of the world's oldest known system of writing. American Journal of Archaeology One of American Scientist's Top 100 Books on Science 2001 In 1992 the University of Texas Press published Before Writing Volume I From Counting to Cuneiform and Before Writing Volume II A Catalog of Near Eastern Tokens. In these two volumes Denise Schmandt Besserat set forth her groundbreaking theory that the cuneiform script invented in the Near East in the late fourth millennium B.C. the world's oldest known system of writing derived from an archaic counting device. How Writing Came About draws material from both volumes of this scholarly work to present Schmandt Besserat's theory in an abridged version for a wide public and classroom audience. Based on the analysis and interpretation of a selection of 8 000 tokens or counters from 116 sites in Iran Iraq the Levant and Turkey it documents the immediate precursor of the cuneiform script. DIV Hesi after 50 Years and 130 Years John R. Spencer, James W. Hardin, Jeffrey Blakely, 2023-06-27 Tell el Hesi is located near the modern city of Qiryat Gat in the Southern District of Israel 23 kilometers from the Mediterranean Sea. The site which covers 35 40 acres includes both an acropolis and a lower city. Occupation of the site began as early as the Neolithic period and the city grew significantly during the Early Bronze Age before being abandoned until the Late Bronze Age. The latest phase of occupation occurred during the Hellenistic period. The acropolis was in use for almost two thousand years. This volume is the first in a new iteration of the Joint Archaeological Expedition to Tell el Hesi series that builds on previously published volumes. It publishes a final report for part of one of Tell el Hesi's excavation fields a reevaluation of the stratigraphic findings of the original 1891 1892 excavations on Tell el Hesi based on excavation work from the 1970s and 1980s in depth studies of groups of small finds from the tell and zooarchaeological analyses that widen the investigative perspective to include the region around the tell. Paying tribute to the long excavation history at Tell el Hesi the contributors to this volume employ state of the art scientific methods that honor the careful work and findings of a century of excavations. Hesi After 50 Years and 130 Years will be an important reference for scholars researching the history and culture of southern Palestine
