Faces In The Water:

Faces in the Water Janet Frame, 1984 Faces In The Water Ranjit Lal, 2010-04-12 What do you do when you discover an unspeakable truth about your parents The Diwanchand family boasted of having only sons no daughters The water from a magical well in their farmhouse was the reason behind this good fortune they said One day fifteen year old Gurmi sets out to look for the well and what he sees changes everyone's world forever The faces of three girls look up at him from the water and draw him into a world of fun games and cyber magic and Gurmi has to face up to an unnerving truth as murky as the surreal well What terrible crimes have been committed behind the walls of the rambling Diwanchand family home Will Gurmi and the ghost girls be able to avenge the evil that has taken place and prevent yet another unspeakable atrocity from occurring Funny yet sensitive and immensely powerful Faces in the Water is the story of lives lost to appease our society's insatiable hunger for male children and the price families pay for its sake Faces in the Water Phyllis Reynolds Naylor, 2002-02 Fifteen year old Dan Roberts continues his quest for an explanation to his family's threatening secret as well as the eerie occurrences that continue to haunt him Faces in the Water Raymond Brunell, 2025-09-13 When a tragic accident leaves Laurel Marek with prosopagnosia the inability to recognize faces she believes her artistic career is over But the mysterious lake near her inherited studio holds secrets that transform her neurological condition from curse to supernatural gift Every brushstroke awakens memories that aren't her own voices from the disappeared who speak through frequencies only her rewired neurons can decode As Laurel paints faces she's never seen but somehow knows she discovers that her father's disappearance twenty three years ago wasn't an accident it was a calling The lake preserves more than bodies it archives consciousness itself creating a living repository of everyone whose depths have ever claimed Now the thirty three year cycle is reaching its peak and Laurel must choose between the safety of ignorance and the terrible responsibility of becoming the lake's next Memory Keeper With forest ranger Caleb anchoring her to the living world Laurel ventures deeper into the lake's luminous depths where the boundary between memory and reality dissolves She'll paint portraits of the missing translate messages from the suspended and learn that some forms of love transcend the boundaries between life and death But the lake's gifts come with a price and accepting her inheritance means choosing between the ordinary life she's known and a destiny that will connect her to mysteries older than the town itself A haunting blend of literary magical realism and supernatural mystery Faces in the Water explores neurodivergent perception as a gateway to otherworldly truth This is a story about finding beauty in difference recognizing that what seems broken might be precisely what's needed to bridge the space between worlds Face in the Water Charles Sheehan-Miles, 2014-01-14 Jerusalem 1989 After his best friend dies of a drug overdose a Georgia Tech student walks away from his life eventually winding up in the ancient and narrow streets of Jerusalem during the first Palestinian Intifada At the crossroads of most of the world's major religions and conflicts Charles merely wants to submerge himself in work and discovery of a different culture but every step
