

Value versus Facts:

- Values are things we feel “should”, “ought”, or “are supposed to” influence our lives.

VALUE: All people should be active in a specific religion.

VALUE: The best time to buy clothing is when the price is discounted.

- A value is a statement of one's personal beliefs.

- Facts simply state what actually are. It is easy to confuse values with facts.

FACT: Many people are active in a specific religion.

FACT: The most economical time to buy clothing is when the seasons change and the price is reduced.

- A fact is established by observation and measurement.
