Ross,S Black,1991 Gives key information about the geography economy and outstanding features of each state      American Almanac and Treasury of Facts Statistical, Financial and Political ,1878      Facing Facts Neale,2001-11 Facing Facts is a powerful original examination of attempts to dislodge a cornerstone of modern philosophy the idea that our thoughts and utterances are representations of slices of reality Representations that are accurate are usually said to be true to correspond to the facts this is the foundation of correspondence theories of truth A number of prominent philosophers have tried to undermine the idea that propositions facts and correspondence can play any useful role in philosophy and formal arguments have been advanced to demonstrate that under seemingly uncontroversial conditions such entities collapse into an undifferentiated unity The demise of individual facts is meant to herald the dawn of a new era in philosophy in which debates about scepticism realism subjectivity representational and computational theories of mind possible worlds and divergent conceptual schemes that represent reality in different ways to different persons periods or cultures evaporate through lack of subject matter By carefully untangling a host of intersecting metaphysical epistemological semantic and logical issues and providing rich and original analyses of key aspects of the work of Frege Russell G del and Davidson Stephen Neale demonstrates that arguments for the collapse of facts are considerably more complex and interesting than either friend or foe ever imagined A number of deep semantic facts emerge along with a powerful proof while it is technically possible to avoid the collapse of facts rescue the idea of representations of reality and thereby face anew the problems raised by the sceptic or the relativist doing so requires making some tough semantic decisions about predicates and descriptions It is simply impossible Neale shows to invoke representations facts states or propositions without making hard choices choices that may send many philosophers scurrying back to the drawing board Facing Facts will be crucial to future work in metaphysics the philosophy of language and mind and logic and will have profound implications far beyond reasons not to embrace the cultural Zeitgeist or go with the philosophical flow reasons to regard truth as a substantive and socially significant idea This book explains why First it argues that propositional truth is only one kind of truth an important kind but not all important Then it shows how propositional truth belongs to the more comprehensive process of truth as a whole This process is a dynamic correlation between human fidelity to societal principles and a life giving disclosure of society The correlation comes to expression in distinct social domains of truth where either propositional or nonpropositional truth is primary The final chapters lay out five such domains science politics art religion and philosophy Anyone who cares about the future of truth in society will want to read this pathbreaking book      United States Supreme Court Reports United States.
