National Character in South African English Children's Literature Elwyn Jenkins, 2006-11-01 This is the first full length study of South African English youth literature to cover the entire period of its publication from the late nineteenth century to the early twenty first century Jenkins book focuses on what made the subsequent literature essentially South African and what aspects of the country and its society authors concentrated on What gives this book particular strength is its coverage of literature up to the 1960s which has until now received almost no scholarly attention Not only is this earlier literature a rewarding subject for study in itself but it also throws light on subsequent literary developments Another exceptional feature is that the book follows the author's previous work in placing children's literature in the context of adult South African literature and South African cultural history e.g. cinema. He also makes enlightening comparisons with American, Canadian and Australian children's literature. Folktales of Newfoundland Pbdirect J.D.A. Widdowson, Herbert Halpert, 2015-02-20. This collection of Newfoundland folk narratives first published in 1996 grew out of extensive fieldwork in folk culture in the province. The intention was to collect as broad a spectrum of traditional material as possible and Folktales of Newfoundland is notable not only for the number and quality of its narratives but also for the format in which they are presented. A special transcription system conveys to the reader the accents and rhythms of each performance and the endnote to each tale features an analysis of the narrator's language. In addition, Newfoundland has preserved many aspects of English and Irish folk tradition, some of which are no longer active in the countries of their origin. Working from the premise that traditions virtually unknown in England might still survive in active form in Newfoundland, the researchers set out to discover if this was in fact the case. Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal, 1910. Global London on screen Keith B. Wagner, Roland-François Lack, 2023-09-26. Global London on screen presents a range of films by directors from the Global South and North portraying everyday life to the more fantastical, odious or extraordinary in terms of circumstances as captured cinematically in this superdiverse city. This book portrays a segment of such superdiversity by historicising and theorising various cinematic reproductions of London by filmmakers coming to this megacity from abroad. As visitors, cosmopolitans or even migrant filmmakers, their treatment of London's zonal locations as both foreign and familiar is fascinating; their narratives and visualisations of London's spatial and architectural uniqueness is given a sojourner's touch while other foreign filmmakers showcase and sometimes problematise London's socio-cultural globality and locality as both British and a city open and sometimes closed off to the world.
