Faith & Family Joe Carrion, 2011-12-12 I am starting to write what could be called my memoirs in response to the urging of some of the members of my family I always believed an autobiography to be an ego trip and resisted all previous ideas about doing so for that reason Nevertheless they pointed out that details were needed to pass on to my grandchildren and to those that might follow so I was finally convinced I am determined to do all the writing so the content of the book and any observations and opinions should truly be mine I recognize however that I am going to need a lot of help in many aspects of this project I will try to be as accurate as possible and relate the salient facts as faithfully as I can I am however relying on my memory so I may have to ask my son and two daughters to help me with dates and chronology of events Most importantly I have not kept up with the many wondrous technological changes that we have experienced over the last few years and I will be forced to rely on them for the many things that have to be done to bring a project like this to completion Without their help I would not even attempt this undertaking So from the beginning I wish to acknowledge their contribution and support My plan is to relate the events that transpired in more or less chronological order I say more or less because different things might have been going on simultaneously at home and at work and for the sake of continuity I may have to jump ahead in one and fall back later to catch up in the other I am now eighty seven years old and it would probably take me another eighty seven years to put on paper everything that happened Nevertheless I will try to mention most of the salient facts in order to convey as complete a picture as possible

Faith, Family, and Children with Special Needs

David Rizzo, 2012-04-01 It's hard enough for today's parents to raise faith-filled children But for the parents of kids with special needs the challenges can be almost overwhelming these parents own spirituality may suffer amidst the daily obstacles of raising a child with disabilities and they may wonder how or even if their child can ever experience a meaningful spiritual life In Faith Family and Children with Special Needs David Rizzo whose 12 year old daughter has autism offers great hope for parents who want to grow in their own spirituality while helping their children with disabilities experience God in a deeper way Throughout the book Rizzo's abiding though sometimes tested Catholic faith is made clear as he thoughtfully explains everything from the practical such as how parents can maintain sanity during Mass when the child with special needs becomes disruptive to the profound such as how parents can understand God in a way that is relevant to their predicament At other times Rizzo's advice is intended to help the child grow in his or her own faith as when he explains how kids with special needs can participate meaningfully in the Eucharist By looking at big picture issues of faith while also providing specific tips to nurture spiritual growth in parents and in their children with disabilities Faith Family and Children with Special Needs will serve as a highly useful and inspiring resource for anyone in the community of faith who interacts with children with disabilities

Faith Foundations Brian Dembowczyk, 2025-10-21. Grow as a Family Together in Christ. Faith Foundations enables parents and children to dig into the essential truths of Christianity to deepen their understanding of theology and strengthen their love for Jesus. Through ninety-nine devotions for families to engage in together, this family resource introduces and explores the core areas of Christian doctrine: God the Father, Jesus the Holy Spirit, people, and sin; salvation; the Bible; Christian living; the church; and Last Things. Theology isn't just for scholars; it's for everyone, and Faith Foundations makes it accessible to your family through a simple approach. With clear connections to Jesus and practical steps for living like him, this resource helps you and your children deepen your understanding of key doctrines and apply them to daily life. Each devotion includes a short catechism, a key Scripture passage, devotional text, engaging family discussion questions, a prayer response, and a hands-on family activity. Through Faith Foundations, you and your family will gain a meaningful structure for family devotions, practical steps for parents and kids to live like Jesus in daily lives, fresh opportunities to learn about God and each other, a deeper appreciation and love for doctrine, a desire to learn even more about God and his ways, discipleship isn't meant to be done alone, and it definitely isn't just for grown-ups. Grow deep roots of faith as a family by exploring theology and living a life of faith together with Faith Foundations.

Unification Faith Parenting: 13 Best Practices Michael H. Kiely, Jennifer P. Tanabe, 2019-12-07. Six Unification families share their experiences and strategies raising second-generation children who have ultimately made their family's faith their own as young adults. Their testimonies about what did not work as well as what worked are fascinating, funny, heartbreaking, and very enlightening. Of course, the best part is that they adjusted what they did to something that can be called a Best Practice. Through their words, this book covers what not to do as well as what to do in faith parenting your kids.

Sharing the Easter Faith with Children Carolyn C. Brown, 2011-07-01. Sharing the Easter Faith with Children is theologically sound, biblically focused, educationally on target.

and developmentally appropriate Carolyn Brown writes clearly and helpfully with conviction and passion for what to share and how to share one's faith with children. It should be required reading for every parent, educator, and pastor who wants to communicate and celebrate the Easter faith with children. Brown packs a lot of practical suggestions, insights, and activities into this very readable resource. I am confident children will mature in their understanding and affirmation of the Easter faith when they have been nurtured in families and congregations that take seriously what Brown offers. Donald Griggs, author of Teaching Today's Teachers to Teach. It is easy to share the Christmas story and faith with children. The story is beautiful and lends itself well to pageants and other celebratory events for children. It is not so easy to share the Easter story and faith with children because the message and images are complex. Many parents have trouble articulating what Easter means to them personally, much less answering their children's questions. In many congregations, children are featured in palm parades on Palm Sunday, but they are not specifically planned for at other Holy Week services. When schools schedule an Easter break, many families go away and thus unintentionally bypass the whole Easter message for years. This book explores what the Easter message can mean to children as they grow up. The author helps congregations and families share the Easter message with their children and include the children meaningfully in Lent, Holy Week, and Easter observances. Included are materials for children from birth in the church nursery to age 12 and reproducible pages to create a booklet for parents. The first section of the book describes the particular parts of the Easter faith that are important to children at different ages and comments on the biblical Easter texts from a child's point of view. The second part of the book works through the Lenten season, describing ways congregations can include children and providing program and worship plans, including Lenten disciplines for children and their families, Ash Wednesday, Celebrating Palm Sunday, or looking ahead on Passion Sunday, Maundy Thursday, Recalling the Last Supper, Keeping Good Friday. The church sponsored Easter Egg Hunt, Easter Sunday Morning. Another part of the book offers help to leaders who want to share the content with teachers, parents, or committees. Also included is a comprehensive list of related resources. This carefully researched and well-grounded practical resource from a highly regarded Christian educator will strengthen your educational ministry with children and support parents as they shape the faith of their children.
