

The book cover features a complex collage. On the right side, there is a large, textured, brownish face with a beard, looking slightly to the left. To the left of the face, there is a bright blue sky with a white mushroom cloud rising from a horizon. The background is composed of various green and blue shapes, possibly representing foliage or a landscape. Overlaid on the entire scene are several dark, angular, geometric shapes that create a sense of depth and structure.

Eglise et société, 1980* Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1980-02 The Future of Reason, Science and Faith J. Andrew Kirk, 2016-12-05

Focusing on the history of ideas this book explores important questions concerning knowledge in relation to philosophy science ethics and Christian faith Kirk contributes to the current debate about the intellectual basis and integrity of Western culture exploring controversial issues concerning the notions of modernity and post modernity Repositioning the Christian faith as a valid dialogue partner with contemporary secular movements in philosophy and ethics Kirk seeks to show that in post Christian Europe the Christian faith still possesses intellectual resources worthy to be reckoned with This book s principal argument is that contemporary Western society faces a cultural crisis It explores what appears to be an historical enigma namely the question of why Western intellectual endeavours in philosophy and science seem to have abandoned the search for a source of knowledge able to draw together disparate pieces of information provided by different disciplines Kirk draws conclusions particularly in the area of ethical decision making from this apparent failure and invites readers to consider Christian theism afresh as a means for the renewal of culture and society

ThirdWay, 1979-07 Monthly current affairs magazine from a Christian perspective with a focus on politics society economics and culture Science and Religion J.W. Fennema, Paul Iain, 2012-12-06 The world is increasingly becoming one It is at the same time one endangered ecosystem and one thriving market place with material and spiritual goods on competitive display And the good and evil things of life cannot easily be sorted out The world is becoming one also in the sense that it is better understood today than it was in earlier times that the material good and the spiritual good though seemingly belonging to different realms of fact defined by their respective modes of existence together constitute effectively one and the same reality the modern world of science technology computerized administration and power that calls upon humankind to struggle for a just participatory and sustainable society and to strive for a society of the future that will be the world over both long lived and worth living The Second European Conference on Science and Religion held on 10-13th March 1988 on the campus of the Universiteit Twente Enschede The Netherlands was meant to be a modest market place a forum where standpoints and opinions could be presented and criticized It was meant to offer an opportunity to meet and to make acquaintances in the expectation that the exchange of thoughts would lead to new conceptual horizons that would challenge what so far had been considered as hard fact or what until now had been looked upon as a distinctive feature of a well established view either of the kingdom of the sciences or of the realm of religion
