Falaki-I-Shirwani Hadi Hasan, 2001-10-30 This anthology examines Love's Labours Lost from a variety of perspectives and through a wide range of materials. Selections discuss the play in terms of historical context, dating and sources, character analysis, comic elements and verbal conceits, evidence of authorship, performance analysis and feminist interpretations. Alongside theater reviews, production photographs and critical commentary, the volume also includes essays written by practicing theater artists who have worked on the play. An index by name, literary work and concept rounds out this valuable resource.

History of Iranian Literature J. Rypka, 2013-11-11 Some justification seems to be necessary for the addition of yet another History of Iranian Literature to the number of those already in existence. Such a work must obviously contain as many novel features as possible so that a short explanation of what my collaborators and I had in mind when planning the book is perhaps not superfluous. In the first place, our object was to present a short summary of the material in all its aspects and secondly to review the subject from the chronological, geographical and substantial standpoints all within the compass of a single volume. Such a scheme precludes a formal and complete enumeration of names and phenomena and renders all the greater the obligation to accord most prominence to matters deemed to be of greatest importance, supplementing these with such figures and forms as will enable an impression to be gained of the period in question, all this is far as possible in the light of the most recent discoveries. A glance at the table of contents will suffice to give an idea of the multifarious approach that has been our aim. We begin at the very first traces of evidence bearing on our subject and continue the narrative up to the present day. Geographically, the book embraces Iran and its neighbouring countries, while it should be remarked that Iranian literature in its fullest sense also includes Indo-Persian and Judeo-Persian works.

Persian Poetry at the Indian Frontier Sunil Sharma, 2000 One of the earliest Persian poets in India, Masud Sad, remains an important and influential poet across India, Pakistan and Iran. In this first substantial critical study of the poet's life and works, the author weaves a rich tapestry that includes literary anecdotes, history and poetry.

Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain & Ireland, 1981 Has appendices Asiatica, 1928 General Report on Public Instruction United Provinces of Agra and Oudh (India). Education Dept, 1926

A Two-Colored Brocade Annemarie Schimmel, 2014-02-01 Annemarie Schimmel, one of the world's foremost authorities on Persian literature, provides a comprehensive introduction to the complicated and highly sophisticated system of rhetoric and imagery used by the poets of Iran, Ottoman Turkey and Muslim India. She shows that these images have been used and refined over the centuries and reflect the changing conditions in the Muslim world. According to Schimmel, Persian poetry does not aim to be spontaneous in spirit or highly personal in form. Instead, it is rooted in conventions and rules of prosody, rhymes and verbal instrumentation. Ideally, every verse should be like a precious stone.

perfectly formed and multifaceted and convey the dynamic relationship between everyday reality and the transcendental Persian poetry Schimmel explains is more similar to medieval European verse than Western poetry as it has been written since the Romantic period The characteristic verse form is the ghazal a set of rhyming couplets which serves as a vehicle for shrouding in conventional tropes the poet's real intentions Because Persian poetry is neither narrative nor dramatic in its overall form its strength lies in an architectonic design each precisely expressed image is carefully fitted into a pattern of linked figures of speech Schimmel shows that at its heart Persian poetry transforms the world into a web of symbols embedded in Islamic culture
