Journal USA      Scripting Shame in African Literature Stephen L. Bishop, 2021-03-01 Shame is one of the most frequent underlying emotions expressed throughout sub Saharan African literature yet studies of such literature almost universally ignore the topic in favour of a focus on the struggle for independence and the postcolonial situation encompassing a search for individual national and ethnic identities and questions of corruption changing gender roles and conflicts between so called tradition and modernity Shame however is not antithetical to these investigations and in fact the persistent trope of shame undergirds many of them This book locates these expressions of shame in sub Saharan African literature and shows how its diverse literary representations underscore shame s function as a fulcrum in the mutual constitution of subject and community on the continent Though shame research is dominated by Western definitions and theories this study emphasizes the centrality of African conceptions of shame in ways that notions of Western subjectivity dismiss or cannot capture

The Changing Face of Cricket Dominic Malcolm, Jon Gemmell, Nalin Mehta, 2013-10-18 For cricket enthusiasts there is nothing to match the meaningful contests and excitement generated by the game s subtle shifts in play Conversely huge swathes of the world s population find cricket the most obscure and bafflingly impenetrable of sports The Changing Face of Cricket attempts to account for this paradox The Changing Face of Cricket provides an overview of the various ways in which social scientists have analyzed the game s cultural impact The book s international analysis encompasses Australia the Caribbean England India Ireland South Africa Sri Lanka and Zimbabwe Its interdisciplinary approach allies anthropology history literary criticism political studies and sociology with contributions from cricket administrators and journalists The collection addresses historical and contemporary issues such as gender equality global sports development the impact of cricket mega events and the growing influence of commercial and television interests culminating in the Twenty20 revolution Whether one loves or hates the game understands what turns square legs into fine legs or how mid offs become silly The Changing Face of

Cricket will enlighten the reader on the game's cultural contours and social impact and prove to be the essential reader in cricket studies. This book was published as a special issue of Sport in Society. African American Psychology Faye Z. Belgrave, Kevin W. Allison, 2009-07-15. This core textbook provides students with comprehensive coverage of African American psychology as a field. Each chapter integrates African and American influences on the psychology of African Americans, thereby illustrating how contemporary values, beliefs, and behaviors are derived from African culture translated by the cultural socialization experiences of African Americans in this country. The literature and research are referenced and discussed from the perspective of African culture, mostly West African, during the period of enslavement and other critical periods in this country, e.g., early 20th century civil rights era and through the present. Chapters provide a review of the research literature with a focus on applications for contemporary living. AF Press Clips United States Department of State. Bureau of African Affairs, 1980. Protecting Minority Rights in African Countries John M. Mbaku, 2018-01-26. In this enlightening book, John Mukum Mbaku analyses the main challenges of constitutional design and the construction of governance institutions in Africa today. He argues that the central issues are providing each country with a constitutional order that is capable of successfully managing sectarian conflict and enhancing peaceful coexistence, protecting the rights of citizens, including those of minorities, minimizing the monopolization of political space by the majority to the detriment of minorities, and effectively preventing government impunity. Mbaku offers a comprehensive analysis of various approaches to the management of diversity and shows how these approaches can inform Africa's struggle to promote peace and good governance. He explores in depth the existence of dysfunctional and anachronistic laws and institutions inherited from the colonial state and the process through which laws and institutions are formulated or constructed, adopted, and amended. A close look at the constitutional experiences of the American Republic provides important lessons for constitutional design and constitutionalism in Africa. Additionally, comparative politics and comparative constitutional law also provide important lessons for the management of diversity in African countries. Mbaku recommends state reconstruction through constitutional design as a way for each African country to provide itself with laws and institutions that reflect the realities of each country, including the necessary mechanisms and tools for the protection of the rights of minorities. From students and scholars to NGOs, lawyers, and policymakers, this unique and judicious book is an essential tool for all those seeking to understand and improve governance and development in Africa.
