Facing The Truth South African Faith Communities Truth :

Facing the Truth James R. Cochrane, John W. De Gruchy, Stephen Martin, 1999 The unique desire of South Africa's Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC to turn its back on revenge and to create a space where deeper processes of forgiveness confession repentance reparation and reconciliation can take place reflects the spirit of some churches and faith communities in South Africa Facing the Truth South African Faith Communities and the Truth and Reconciliation Commission published in North America by Ohio University Press on November 1 1999 is a candid study of the historical notes that formed that difficult process which continues to be a struggle of theological and philosophical importance within faith communities This book contains extracts of faith communities testimonies before the TRC and individual writers in Facing the Truth bring their unique voices to bear on the complex matter of healing wounds The writers tell powerful stories such as of meeting former torturers face to face He asked me to forgive him It was one of the most difficult requests perhaps the single most difficult ever made to me No matter how much I wanted to I could not tell him that I could forgive him All I could say was that I would try

Truth and Reconciliation in South Africa Lyn S. Graybill, 2002 Graybill mind and human interaction U of Virginia provides students not only the facts about the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission but also the broader context in which it operated She asks whether it led to reconciliation and healing what criteria were used to decide whether to pardon or punish whether politics necessitated the compromise and other questions Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Religion & Reconciliation in South Africa Audrey R. Chapman, Bernard Spong, 2003-04 Postapartheid South Africa's efforts to come to terms with its past particularly its Truth and Reconciliation Commission's emphasis on forgiveness and reconciliation is of special interest to many in the world community The Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC led by Archbishop Desmond Tutu was mandated to go beyond truth finding and to promote national unity and reconciliation in a spirit of understanding which transcends the conflict and divisions of the past In contrast with other truth commissions the TRC was led by clerics rather than lawyers and judge and the TRC's approach to reconciliation was shaped by and imbued with religious content The TRC submitted its final report to the Mandela administration in October 1998 Over the next two years the Rev Bernard Spong former communications director of the South African Council of Churches conducted a series of in depth interviews about the TRC with thirty three key religious figures In this volume they discuss and evaluate the following issues How should we understand the concept of national or political reconciliation and its requirements What are the differences and similarities between religious and political approaches to reconciliation Does national or political reconciliation require forgiveness between former victims and perpetrators What is the appropriate role of religious representatives in a truth commission process And is it recommended that other countries emulate the South African model How do religious leaders assess the contributions and limitations of the TRC What kind of initiatives are contemporary religious communities taking to promote reconciliation among their members and in the wider society The conversations presented in this volume and the essays interpreting them seek to illuminate issues and questions raised by the TRC model including how to conceptualize reconciliation and the differences between political and religious approaches

Faith Negotiating Loyalties Stephen W. Martin, 2008 Faith Negotiating Loyalties draws readers into the world of Christian faith in South Africa and the question of loyalties in the new post apartheid state It carries out its investigation in two parts Part one examines Christian faith and loyalty during the first nation building exercise following the South African War positioning the creation and contestation of three Christianities corresponding to three nationalisms each of which imagined South Africa in a particular way shaping faith accordingly The idea of an undifferentiated South African Christianity gives way to contesting and contested Christianities nationalism gives way to nationalisms and faith emerges in tension with and in criticism of these loyalties Part two discusses the American theologian H Richard Niebuhr in South Africa Three kinds of faith in his writings are set forth social faith racial faith and reconstructing faith Contextualized within the South African story Niebuhr's ideas suggest self and society as constituted by hybridities and suspended in a web of loyalties Faith Negotiating Loyalties suggests the message for faith in a post apartheid South Africa is the importance of negotiating covenants which allow for crossings hybridities and contestations

Opting for the Margins Jeorg Rieger, 2003-09-11 Ideas like the preferential option for the poor arguing that people marginalized by the economy have a claim to special consideration have been among the most significant insights in twentieth century Christian theology Arising out of various theologies of liberation options for the poor and for people at the margins of society have provided major new impulses for biblical studies systematic theology church history ecclesial practice and the academic study of religion Opting for the margins continues to be an important issue at a time when the gap between rich and poor is growing at an alarming rate both in the United States and in many other parts of the world and when other gaps based for example on differences in gender or race continue to linger Recently however options for the margins have been challenged by postmodern shifts in intellectual social political and economic realities that often replace preferential options with other emphases such as general concerns for pluralism otherness and difference Options for the margins are therefore at best reduced to the special interests of certain minority groups or at worst rejected as antiquated and irrelevant for the twenty first century The essays in this volume show how some forms of postmodern thought and theology can mask patterns of oppression and provide an excuse for deafness to voices from the margins The authors writing from a wide variety of national ethnic and theological perspectives seek to revive the preferential option for the poor for the postmodern world showing how options for the margins can engage postmodernity in new ways and break new ground in religious theological and ethical as well as social political and economic thinking The essays connect philosophical and theological arguments to the concrete realities of the postmodern world and to uncover new sources of energy in the life and death struggles of people across the globe

Legal Institutions and Collective Memories Susanne Karstedt, 2009-08-03 In recent decades the debate among scholars lawyers politicians and others about how societies deal with their past has been constant and intensive Legal Institutions and Collective Memories situates the processes of transitional justice at the intersection between legal procedures and the production of collective and shared meanings of the past Building upon the work of Maurice Halbwachs this collection of essays emphasises the extended role and active involvement of contemporary law and legal institutions in public discourse about the past and explores their impact on the shape that collective memories take in the course of time The authors uncover a complex pattern of searching for truth negotiating the past and cultivating the art of forgetting Their contributions explore the ambiguous and intricate links between the production of justice truth and memory The essays cover a broad range of legal institutions countries and topics These include transitional trials as monumental spectacles as well as constitutional courts and the restitution of property rights in Central and Eastern Europe and Australia The authors explore the biographies of victims and how their voices were repressed as in the case of Korean Comfort Women They explore the role of law and legal institutions in linking individual and collective memories in the transitional period through processes of lustration and they analyse divided memories about the past and their impact on future reconciliation in South Africa The collection offers a genuinely comparative approach allied to cutting edge theory

Recentering Africa in International Relations Marta Iñiguez de Heredia, Zubairu Wai, 2018-02-22 This innovative book responds to an existing demand for taking Africa out of a place of exception and marginality and placing it at the center of international relations and world politics Bringing together a number of scholars from various disciplinary backgrounds to stage a critical intervention into the problematic ways Africa is accounted for in the dominant discourses of international relations and global politics it challenges the structural and epistemic biases of IR that render the contributions of the continent invisible and situates the continent as a global region that exists beyond notions of lack disorder and failure Through these interventions the volume contributes to a rethinking of IR and the conditions of possibility for imagining a world otherwise beyond frames that fetishize Africa paradoxically as transparent and invisible

Protestants Alec Ryrie, 2018-04-03 On the 500th anniversary of Luther s theses a landmark history of the revolutionary faith that shaped the modern world Ryrie writes that his aim is to persuade you that we cannot understand the modern age without understanding the dynamic history of Protestant Christianity To which I reply Mission accomplished Jon Meacham author of American Lion and Thomas Jefferson Five hundred years ago a stubborn German monk challenged the Pope with a radical vision of what Christianity could be The revolution he set in motion toppled governments upended social norms and transformed millions of people s understanding of their relationship with God In this dazzling history Alec Ryrie makes the case that we owe many of the rights and freedoms we have cause to take for granted from free speech to limited government to our Protestant roots Fired up by their faith Protestants have embarked on courageous journeys into the unknown like many rebels and refugees who made their way to our shores Protestants created America and defined its special brand of entrepreneurial diligence Some turned to their bibles to justify bold acts of political opposition others to spurn orthodoxies and insight on their God given rights Above all Protestants have fought for their beliefs establishing a tradition of principled opposition and civil disobedience that is as alive today as it was 500 years ago In this engrossing and magisterial work Alec Ryrie makes the case that whether or not you are yourself a Protestant you live in a world shaped by Protestants

Homo Florens? Nadia

Marais,2023-10-09 What does it mean to flourish Human flourishing lies at the heart of the good news of the gospel and yet contemporary theologies know not only one way of speaking about what it means to flourish If we embed our theological grammars of flourishing in the doctrine of salvation as the doctrine in which theological flourishing talk is arguably rooted and from which rich fruit may be borne there is not one but various ways in which to speak about what it means to flourish Yet what governs our speaking Why do we speak of flourishing as we do The various conceptions of human flourishing that are outlined in this book piety joy and comfort being fully alive healing and dignity grace happiness and blessing represent a collection of attempts not only to imagine human flourishing but also to imagine ways of speaking about human flourishing Perhaps what theology could offer to the vibrant and robust conversations on human flourishing lies exactly in the reminder to take care about how we speak about that which is truly and deeply human our longing to flourish Ecological
