INTRODUCTION Despite the historical tradition of academia as a male space Evans 1995 Abbott et al 2005 Stanley 1997 Letherby 2003 it is possible to argue that the expansion of higher education in the 1980s and 1990s benefited women more than it did men By 1995 there were two and a half times more women in the academy than in 1970 1 Abbott et al 2005 and in the decade to follow the numbers of women undergraduate students had overtaken men with a substantial minority of these being older non standard entrants Furthermore as Paula J Caplan 1997 3 argues Visions of the academic life draw us women toward it picturing an intellectual community whose members search with passion and integrity for Truth and Knowledge We imagine that in academia we shall find freedom from bias freedom from worldly struggles of power and wealth freedom to choose what to study and what to say and an environment characterized by tolerance and openness where everyone s energy is focused on the open exploration of ideas However whilst this may be the vision for some women it is important not to view this widening of female participation in higher education through rose tinted glasses Facts about Women in Higher Education Weal Fund,1977 Women in Higher Education Ana M. Struggle for Higher Education in Russia, 1855-1900 Christine Johanson, 1987-01-01 Unlike contemporary Soviet and Western accounts which emphasize the involvement of educated women in the revolutionary movement Christine Johanson investigates the relationship between developments in women's education and domestic politics of the post Crimean War era The author shows how the particular nature of autocratic rule under Alexander II facilitated the establishment of university level courses for women and demonstrates that Russian women who cooperated with the government in order to increase their educational opportunities far outnumbered the female revolutionists who sought to overthrow it And while acknowledging that Russian radicalism gave enormous encouragement to women's pursuit of university study this book shows that it was the support of progressive statesmen and academics which allowed the creation of higher educational facilities for women The attitudes aspirations and frustrations of women who enrolled in these educational facilities are also examined Considerable attention is given to the training and practice of female physicians and to the testing of their skills and commitment to social service in tradition bound peasant villages and the field hospitals of the Russo Turkish war The concluding chapter explored the conservative reaction following the assassination of Alexander II and the subsequent closure of women s advanced educational facilities
