Factory Women In Taiwan Studies In Cultural Anthropology:

Factory Women in Taiwan Lydia Kung,1983 An important study of Taiwan s first generation of working women documenting their and their families views of their employment and the effects that wage earning has on the status and lives of these women

Women and Labour in Late Colonial India Samita Sen,1999-05-06 Samita Sen s history of labouring women in Calcutta in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries considers how social constructions of gender shaped their lives Dr Sen demonstrates how in contrast to the experience of their male counterparts the long term trends in the Indian economy devalued women s labour establishing patterns of urban migration and changing gender equations within the family She relates these trends to the spread of dowry enforced widowhood and child marriage The book provides insight into the lives of poor urban women who were often perceived as prostitutes or social pariahs Even trade unions refused to address their problems and they remained on the margins of organized political protest The study will make a significant contribution to the understanding of the social and economic history of colonial India and to notions of gender construction

Women Workers in Industrialising Asia A. Kaur,2016-01-13 This collection contributes to key theoretical debates about women workers in Asia and breaks new ground by focussing on issues that have been little documented in other studies in the area It provides new information and insights into labour systems associated with labour intensive export manufactures and state labour relations in a comparative context The contributors present a range of unique and varied perspectives from which they consider aspects of the increasing integration of Asian economies exploring implications for their labour markets

Factory Women in Taiwan Lydia Kung,1994 An important study of Taiwan s first generation of working women documenting their and their families views of their employment and the effects that wage earning has on the status and lives of these women

Women in the New Taiwan Catherine Farris, Lee Anru, Murray A. Rubinstein, An East Gate Book,2020-08-26 Taiwan s rapid socio economic and political transformation has given rise to a gender conscious middle class that is attempting to redefine the roles of women in society to restructure relationship patterns and to organize in groups outside the family unit This book examines internal psychological processes and external societal processes as the feminist movement in Taiwan expands and new gender roles are explored The contributors represent a cross section of different disciplines history anthropology and sociology and different generations of China Taiwan scholars They place the issues facing Taiwan s women s movement in social political and economic contexts The book examines gender relations the role of women in Chinese society and issues related to women in China throughout history Feminism and gender relations are also viewed from the context of film and literature The authors look at the contemporary roles that women play in Taiwan s work force today how the sexes perceive each other in the workplace and more

Gender at Work in Economic Life Gracia Clark,2003 This new volume from SEA illuminates the importance of gender as a frame of reference in the study of economic life The contributors are economic anthropologists who consider the role of gender and work in a cross cultural context examining issues of historical change the construction of globalization household authority and entitlement and entrepreneurship and autonomy The book will be a valuable resource for researchers in anthropology and in the related fields of economics sociology of work gender studies women s studies and economic development Published in cooperation with the Society for Economic Anthropology Visit their web page Chinatown Min Zhou, 2010 Ethnic enclaves as an alternative means of incorporation into the larger society Demography As an Interdiscipline J. Mayone Stycos, This volume draws together some of the pioneer figures in the social science arena who have been working at the margins of demography and other social sciences These articles show the willingness of the new demography to venture into a variety of other disciplines to better appreciate its own special contributions to the world of interdisciplinary research Social Change and the Family in Taiwan Arland Thornton, Hui-Sheng Lin, 1994 Until the 1940s social life in Taiwan was generally organized through the family marriages were arranged by parents for example and senior males held authority In the following years as Taiwan evolved rapidly from an agrarian to an industrialized society individual decisions became less dependent on the family and more influenced by outside forces Social Change and the Family in Taiwan provides an in depth analysis of the complex changes in family relations in a society undergoing revolutionary social and economic transformation This interdisciplinary study explores the patterns and causes of change in education work income leisure time marriage living arrangements and interactions among extended kin Theoretical chapters enunciate a theory of family and social change centered on the life course and modes of social organization Other chapters look at the shift from arranged marriages toward love matches as well as changes in dating practices premarital sex fertility and divorce Contributions to the book are made by Jui Shan Chang Ming Cheng Chang Deborah S Freedman Ronald Freedman Thomas E Fricke Albert Hermalin Mei Lin Lee Paul K C Liu Hui Sheng Lin Te Hsiung Sun Arland Thornton Maxine Weinstein and Li Shou Yang Re-Drawing Boundaries Barbara Entwistle, Gail Henderson, 2000-11-07 The essays in this volume explore various aspects of work in China including the nature of work gender inequalities in work gender and work in the context of migration and the reciprocal influences of households and work organization Urban Anthropology and Studies of Cultural Systems and World Economic Development, 1993 Publications University of Michigan. Institute for Social Research, 1986 Taiwan Studies Revisited Dafydd Fell, Hsin-Huang Michael Hsiao, 2019-08-28 This book examines and reviews some of the key figures in Taiwan Studies to plot the development of the field by revisiting their earlier influential books and bodies of work Often autobiographical in detail each chapter asks the author to discuss the origins of their research and how their engagement with the field has developed since The contributors then discuss their methodologies fieldwork and arguments as well as how their work was received at the time They also go on to reflect on their chosen methods and core findings assessing whether they have stood the test of time Reflecting the diversity of the Taiwan Studies field subjects covered in this volume include sociology musicology linguistics comparative politics international relations and anthropology As such this comprehensive overview adopts a distinctly interdisciplinary approach to understanding Taiwan Painting a picture of the changing state of international Taiwan Studies through the work of leading scholars this book will be invaluable to students and scholars of Taiwan Studies Chinese Studies and Asian politics culture and society Gender in the Third World Sarah A. Radcliffe, Janet G. Townsend, 1988 Bibliography contains over 1300 items books articles pamphlets and working papers Merely publications from 1983 to 1987 The bibliography is divided by geographical area and within these areas by topic f e agricultural production rural change households and demographic data feminism and theory The Changing Family in Comparative Perspective East-West Center, 1998 This volume compares recent family patterns in Japan South Korea Taiwan and other Asian countries with those found in the United States Written by distinguished social scientists from Asia and the U S the essays in this volume use new surveys and censuses to compare Asian and American patterns of marriage divorce women s roles men s contributions to housework well being in marriage and patterns of contact and exchange between adults and their parents The volume s results suggest that patterns of family formation and dissolution in Asia are converging with those in the United States in many respects but that intergenerational relationships remain distinct Looking Through Taiwan Keelung Hong, Stephen O. Murray, 2005-01-01 This analysis of a troubling chapter in American anthropology reveals what happens when anthropologists fail to make fundamental ethic and political distinctions in their work The authors examine how Taiwanese realities have been represented and misrepresented in American social science literature Reproducing Chinese Culture in Diaspora Shu-min Huang, 2010-01-01 Reproducing Chinese Culture in Diaspora describes how a group of anti communist Chinese nationals managed to establish a farming community in Thailand s northern hills after voluntary exile from communist China in 1949 Though successful from an agricultural sustainability standpoint this community of Chinese exiles has rigidly maintained its cultural ideals driving away younger generations and ultimately threatening to derail the community s continued existence The Women, Gender and Development Reader Nalini Visvanathan, Lynn Duggan, Nan Wiegersma, Laurie Nisonoff, 2011-07-07 The Women Gender and Development Reader is the definitive volume of literature dedicated to women in the development process Now in a fully revised second edition the editors expertly present the impacts of social political and economic change by reviewing such topical issues as migration persistent structural discrimination the global recession and climate change Approached from a multidisciplinary perspective the theoretical debates are vividly illustrated by an array of global case studies This now classic book has been designed as a comprehensive reader presenting the best of the now vast body of literature The book is divided into five parts incorporating readings from the leading experts and authorities in each field The result is a unique and extensive discussion a guide to the evolution of the field and a vital point of reference for those studying or with a keen interest in women in the development process The Politics of Culture in the Shadow of Capital Lisa Lowe, David Lloyd, 1997-11-17 Global in scope but refusing a familiar totalizing theoretical framework the essays in The Politics of Culture in the Shadow of Capital demonstrate how localized and resistant social practices including anticolonial and feminist struggles peasant revolts labor organizing and various cultural movements challenge contemporary capitalism as a highly differentiated mode of production Reworking Marxist critique these essays on Asia Latin America the Caribbean North America and Europe advance a new understanding of cultural politics within the context of transnational neocolonial capitalism This perspective contributes to an overall critique of traditional approaches to modernity development and linear liberal narratives of culture history and democratic institutions It also frames a set of alternative social practices that allows for connections to be made between feminist politics among immigrant women in Britain women of color in the United States and Muslim women in Iran Egypt Pakistan and Canada the work of subaltern studies in India the Philippines and Mexico and antiracist social movements in North and South America the Caribbean and Europe These connections displace modes of opposition traditionally defined in relation to the modern state and enable a rethinking of political practice in the era of global capitalism Contributors Tani E Barlow Nandi Bhatia Dipesh Chakrabarty Chungmoo Choi Clara Connolly Angela Davis Arturo Escobar Grant Farred Homa Hoodfar Reynaldo C Iletto George Lipsitz David Lloyd Lisa Lowe Martin F Manalansan IV Aihwa Ong Pragna Patel Jos Rabasa Maria Josefina Salda a Portillo Jaqueline Urla

The Seam Line Israel Drori, 2000 Many Arab communities in Israel's Galilee region are home to export oriented textile factories owned by multinational corporations whose Jewish managers employ local Arab and Druse women as seamstresses and low level work supervisors Based on five years of ethnographic research this book explores how these managers and workers negotiate the terms and meanings of factory work integrating work culture with the norms and values of the host towns in order for employment arrangements to succeed The entrance of industrial corporations into developing areas of the world particularly in those industries employing primarily women has generated tension between traditional familial and social roles and the demands of industrial working life In Israel these tensions are further complicated by the social and political dynamics of Arab Jewish conflict as well as the strictly demarcated roles of women and men in traditional Arab society The resolution of these tensions on the shop floor shapes the social relations of production the factories management systems family life in the industrial towns and individual status and autonomy The negotiation involves unequal power relations manifested in a dual patriarchal structure the Arab cultural practice of male domination of women as well as the formal management system of the textile concern which dictates the nature of relationships between Jewish managers and Arab women workers To meet their business goals the managers must cooperate with the community that provides their workforce adapting its norms and appropriating its worldview The managers are constrained by the strict social rules of Arab and Druse society and respond by attempting to harness and manipulate local family values to foster personal commitment furthering production goals through paternal control The consequence of this paternalism is a workforce that relates to the organization as family identifies with its goals and internalizes feelings of loyalty However the workforce also uses the plant as the arena for developing self awareness and enhancing personal independence and status within the family The seamstresses emerge as active shapers of the organizational culture forcing the managers to adapt to and comply with their personal needs and perceptions of work
