Faded Dreams The Politics And Economics Of Race In America:

Faded Dreams Martin Carnoy, 1994-11-25 Faded Dreams paints a new and challenging picture of how racial inequality has evolved in America Martin Carnoy shows that three dominant views of economic differences between blacks and whites that blacks are individually responsible for not taking advantage of market opportunities that the world economy has changed in ways that puts blacks at a tremendous disadvantage compared to whites and that pervasive racism is holding blacks down do not adequately explain why blacks made such large gains in the past and stopped making them in the 1980s and 1990s Using a systematic analysis of fifty years of data on income education and the variety of jobs that both blacks and whites have held Faded Dreams offers a powerful argument for active government intervention to improve the education and living conditions of disadvantaged black children

Black and Multiracial Politics in America Yvette Marie Alex-Assensoh, Lawrence J. Hanks, 2000-11-01 America is currently in the midst of a major racial and ethnic demographic shift By the twenty first century the population of Hispanics and Asians will increase significantly while the black population is expected to remain relatively stable Non Hispanic Whites will decrease to just over half of the nation's population How will the changing ethnic and racial composition of American society affect the long struggle for black political power and inclusion To what extent will these racial and ethnic shifts affect the already tenuous nature of racial politics in American society Using the literature on black politics as an analytical springboard Black and Multiracial Politics in America brings together a broad demography of scholars from various racial and ethnic groups to assess how urban political institutions political coalitions group identity media portrayal of minorities racial consciousness support for affirmative action policy political behavior partisanship and other crucial issues are impacted by America's multiracial landscape Contributors include Dianne Pinderhughes M Margaret Conway Pei te Lein Susan Howell Mack Jones Brigitte L Nacos Natasha Hritzuk Marion Orr Michael Jones Correa A B Assensoh Joseph McCormick Sekou Franklin Jose Cruz Erroll Henderson Mamie Locke Reuel Rogers James Endersby Charles Menifield and Lawrence J Hanks

The Myth of Human Races Alain F. Corcos, 2016-08-15 The idea that human races exist is a socially constructed myth that has no grounding in science Regardless of skin hair or eye color stature or physiognomy we are all of one race Nonetheless scientists social scientists and pseudoscientists have for three centuries tried vainly to prove that distinctive and separate races of humanity exist These protagonists of race theory have based their flawed research on one or more of five specious assumptions humanity can be classified into groups using identifiable physical characteristics human characteristics are transmitted through the blood distinct human physical characteristics are inherited together physical features can be linked to human behavior human groups or races are by their very nature unequal and therefore they can be ranked in order of intellectual moral and cultural superiority The Myth of Human Races systematically dispels these fallacies and unravels the web of flawed research that has been woven to demonstrate the superiority of one group of people over another

Handbook of Law and Economics,

Volume 2 A. Mitchell Polinsky, Steven Shavell, 2007 Law can be viewed as a body of rules and legal sanctions that channel behavior in socially desirable directions for example by encouraging individuals to take proper precautions to prevent accidents or by discouraging competitors from colluding to raise prices The incentives created by the legal system are thus a natural subject of study by economists Moreover given the importance of law to the welfare of societies the economic analysis of law merits prominent treatment as a subdiscipline of economics This two volume Handbook is intended to foster the study of the legal system by economists The two volumes form a comprehensive and accessible survey of the current state of the field Chapters prepared by leading specialists of the area Summarizes received results as well as new developments Source inconneue Devolution and Black State Legislators Tyson King-Meadows, Thomas F. Schaller, 2012-02-01 Devolution and Black State Legislators examines whether black state legislators can produce qualitative gains in the substantive representation of black interests Once a battle cry by southern conservatives new federalism has shifted power from Washington to the respective state governments and ironically has done so as black state legislators grow in number Tyson King Meadows and Thomas F Schaller look at the debates surrounding black political incorporation the tradeoffs between substantive and descriptive representation racial redistricting and the impact of black legislators on state budgetary politics They situate contemporary constraints on black state elites as the union of macro and micro level forces which allows for a reconsideration of how the idiosyncrasies of political economic and geographic culture converge with the internal dynamics of state legislative processes to produce particular environments Interviews with black legislators provide valuable insights into how such idiosyncrasies may deprive institutional advancement committee assignments chairmanships and party leadership positions of the influence it once afforded The Color Bind Lydia Chávez, 1998-04-17 The author narrates the complex underlying motivations and manoeuvring of the people organizations and political parties involved in the campaign to end affirmative action in California Encyclopedia of Education Economics and Finance Dominic J. West Indian Pentecostals Janice A. McLean-Farrell, 2016-02-11 This is a significant in depth study that explores the cultural context of the religious experience of West Indian immigrant communities Whereas most studies to date have focussed on how immigrants settle in their new home contexts Janice A McLean Farrell argues for a more comprehensive perspective that takes into account the importance of religion and the role of both home and the host contexts in shaping immigrant lives in the Diaspora West Indian Pentecostals Living Their Faith in New York and London explores how these three elements religion the home and host contexts influence the ethnic religious identification processes of generations of West Indian immigrants Using case studies from the cities of New York and London the book offers a critical cross national comparison into the complex and indirect ways the historical socio economic and political realities in diaspora contribute to both the identification processes and the missional practices of immigrants Its focus on Pentecostalism also provides a unique opportunity to test existing theories and concepts on the interface of religion and immigration and makes important contributions to the study of Pentecostalism

The Color of Wealth Meizhu Lui,2006 The Color of Wealth lays bare a dirty secret for centuries people of color have been barred by laws and by discrimination from participating in government wealth building programs that benefit white Americans

The Confiscation of American Prosperity M. Perelman,2007-10-01 This book argues that the right wing revolution in the United States has created deepening inequality and will lead to economic catastrophe The author makes the case that over the past three decades the rich have confiscated wealth and income from the poor and middle class to a far greater extent than many realize and he explores in detail important but commonly unmeasured dimensions of inequality He also takes aim at the economics profession criticising the analytical blinders that leave economists incapable of seeing the coming crisis

The New Immigrants and American Schools Marcelo M. Suárez-Orozco,Carola Suárez-Orozco,Desirée Qin-Hilliard,2022-01-26 This six volume set focuses on Latin American Caribbean and Asian immigration which accounts for nearly 80 percent of all new immigration to the United States The volumes contain the essential scholarship of the last decade and present key contributions reflecting the major theoretical empirical and policy debates about the new immigration The material addresses vital issues of race gender and socioeconomic status as they intersect with the contemporary immigration experience Organized by theme each volume stands as an independent contribution to immigration studies with seminal journal articles and book chapters from hard to find sources comprising the most important literature on the subject The individual volumes include a brief preface presenting the major themes that emerge in the materials and a bibliography of further recommended readings In its coverage of the most influential scholarship on the social economic educational and civil rights issues revolving around new immigration this collection provides an invaluable resource for students and researchers in a wide range of fields including contemporary American history public policy education sociology political science demographics immigration law ESL linguistics and more

Prismatic Metropolis Lawrence D. Bobo,Melvin L. Oliver,Jr. James H. Johnson,Abel, Jr. Valenzuela,2000-11-02 This book cuts through the powerful mythology surrounding Los Angeles to reveal the causes of inequality in a city that has weathered rapid population change economic restructuring and fractious ethnic relations The sources of disadvantage and the means of getting ahead differ greatly among the city s myriad ethnic groups The demand for unskilled labor is stronger here than in other cities allowing Los Angeles's large population of immigrant workers with little education to find work in light manufacturing and low paid service jobs. A less beneficial result of this trend is the increased marginalization of the city's low skilled black workers who do not enjoy the extended ethnic networks of many of the new immigrant groups and who must contend with persistent negative racial stereotypes. Patterns of residential segregation are also more diffuse in Los Angeles with many once black neighborhoods now split evenly between blacks, Hispanics, Asians and other minorities. Inequality in Los Angeles cannot be reduced to a simple black white divide. Nonetheless in this thoroughly multicultural city race remains a crucial factor shaping economic fortunes.

Inequality Asset Building & Community Development Gary Paul Green, Anna Haines, 2015-04-01 A comprehensive approach focused on sustainable change. Asset Building and Community Development Fourth Edition examines the promise and limits of community development by showing students and practitioners how asset based developments can improve the sustainability and quality of life. Authors Gary Paul Green and Anna Haines provide an engaging thought provoking and comprehensive approach to asset building by focusing on the role of different forms of community capital in the development process. Updated throughout this edition explores how communities are building on their key assets: physical, human, social, financial, environmental, political and cultural capital to generate positive change. With a focus on community outcomes the authors illustrate how development controlled by community based organizations provides a better match between assets and the needs of the community.

America in Black and White Stephan Thernstrom, Abigail Thernstrom, 2009-07-14 In a book destined to become a classic Stephan and Abigail Thernstrom present important new information about the positive changes that have been achieved and the measurable improvement in the lives of the majority of African Americans.

Supporting their conclusions with statistics on education, earnings and housing they argue that the perception of serious racial divisions in this country is outdated and dangerous.

Inequality in the United States John Brueggemann, 2020-11-25 For courses in Inequality, Social Stratification and Social Problems. A thoughtful compilation of readings on inequality in the United States. The main objective of this text is to introduce students to the subject of social stratification as it has developed in sociology. The central focus is on domestic inequality in the United States with some attention to the broader international context. The primary goal of the text is to offer an understanding of the history and context of debates about inequality and a secondary goal is to give some indication as to what issues are likely to arise in the future.

Ethnic Conflicts and Civil Society Andreas Klinke, Ortwin Renn, Jean-Paul Lehnert, 2018-10-26 Published in 1997. After the collapse of the communist system the political systems in Eastern Europe were unable to cope with increasing tensions between ethnic majorities and minorities. These tensions led to violent ethnic conflicts and civil wars in particular in former Yugoslavia. In this phase of transition and nation re building ethnic groups strove for more political autonomy and even territorial secession. The newly independent states lacked democratic structures and traditions as well as civil manners that could be used for regulating ethnic conflicts The idea of Civil Society provides both basic democratic mechanisms for a lasting co existence in an ethnically plural society The theoretical part of this book discusses the issues of conflict anatomy causes for conflict and democratic conflict resolution The empirical part describes experiences of ethnic conflicts in former Yugoslavia especially Slovenia Croatia and Serbia in Ukraine and Romania Experiences from Switzerland and the United States demonstrate successful examples of ethnic conflict management and illustrations of the political culture within a Civil Society
