West Country Households, 1500-1700 John Allan,Nathaniel Warren Alcock,David Dawson,2015 Essays on the development of the post medieval house its contents and decoration During the last forty years South West England has been the focus of some of the most significant work on the early modern house and household in Britain Its remarkable wealth of vernacular buildings has been the object of much attention while the area has also seen productive excavations of early modern household goods shedding new light on domestic history This collection of papers written by many of the leading specialists in these fields presents a number of essays summarizing the overall understanding of particular themes and places alongside case studies which publish some of the most remarkable discoveries. They include the extraordinary survival of wall hangings in a South Devon farm, the discovery of painted rooms in an Elizabethan town house and a study of a table setting mirrored on its ceiling. Also considered are forms of decoration which seem specific to particular areas of the West Country houses. Taken together, the papers offer a holistic view of the household in the early modern period. John Allan is Consultant Archaeologist to the Dean Nat Alcock, is Emeritus Reader in the Department of Chemistry, University of Warwick. David Dawson is an independent archaeologist and museum and heritage consultant. Portuguese Palissy Ware Marshall P. Katz, 1999. The great French 16th century potter Bernard Palissy created a genre of rustic ceramic ware reproducing three dimensional still lifes of natural objects, flora and fauna of all types including lizards and fish rendered in high relief and natural colors. His work influenced a school of artists that flourished in the Portuguese town of Caldas da Rainha, 65 miles north of Lisbon, between 1853 and 1920. This volume surveys the work of the most important artists of the Portuguese Palissy revival including Mafra and Pinheiro.

Applied and Decorative Arts Donald L. Ehresmann, 1993. This reference work covers general works, ornament, folk art, arms and armour, ceramics, clocks and automata, costumes, enamels, furniture, glass, leather, metalwork, musical instruments, textiles, dolls and more. Essentially a new work rather than a revision, this annotated bibliography on the history of applied and decorative arts includes over 3000 descriptive entries on books written in western European languages. More than 1000 of these entries are new to the second edition and approximately half are titles published since 1977. The remainder represent a significant expansion in breadth and depth of the bibliography with the addition of nearly 500 titles of exhibition and museum catalogues and price guides.

Asia in the Making of Europe, Volume II Donald F. Lach, 2010-01-15. This is the second volume in a series that traces century by century the role of Asia in the making of Europe. The rise to world dominance of the Western nations in modern times and the rapid industrial growth of the West which outpaced the East in technical and military achievements have led to a historical eclipse of the ancient and brilliant cultures of Asia. Historian Donald F. Lach in his influential scholarly work Asia in the Making of Europe points out that an eclipse is never permanent, that this one was never total and that there was a period in early modern times when Asia and Europe were close rivals in brilliance and mutual influence.
