Failed Imagination:

Failed Imagination? Andrew J. Williams, 1998 Francisco Gomez de Sandoval Duke of Lerma 1553-1625 is the last major unknown statesman in modern European history Patrick Williams brings him dramatically to life and challenges the assumptions that historians have made about him and about Spanish history at a time of profound crisis inviting a re-evaluation of the phenomenon of government by favourites in this seminal period of European history Lerma served Philip III as his favourite and first minister between 1598 and 1618 His power dazzled contemporaries one petitioner telling Philip that he had come to see him because I could not get an appointment with the Duke of Lerma Within a decade of assuming office Lerma had raised his family from humiliating poverty to great riches and was the greatest patron of the arts in Europe His use of power provoked intense debate about the nature of corruption in government Yet Lerma remained deeply ambivalent about his position Determined to follow family tradition and retire into religious life to secure the salvation of his soul he secured a cardinalate in 1617 ending his life as a prince of the Church Failed Imagination? Andrew Williams, 2013-01-18 The main purpose of this book is to explain how mainly American but also British and other Western policy makers have planned and largely managed to create an international order in their own image the so called New World Order It shows how this seismic shift in international relations has developed through the major global wars of the twentieth and twenty first centuries It uses a wide variety of historical archival material to give the background to the current and historical American obsession with creating the world order one that both reflects the American national interest but also can be said to have established the major security economic organisational and normative pillars of our epoch In addition it provides excellent background reading for the current debate about American foreign policy and the origins of neo conservatism in international relations This edition updates a very successful first edition of the title with additional material to take into account changes in the global order since 2001 and the beginning of the War on Terror Routledge International Handbook of Failure Adriana Mica, Miłojaj Pawlak, Anna Horolets, Paweł Kubicki, 2023-01-30 This Handbook examines the study of failure in social sciences its manifestations in the contemporary world and the modalities of dealing with it both in theory and in practice It draws together a comprehensive approach to failing and invisible forms of cancelling out and denial of future perspectives Underlining critical mechanisms for challenging and reimagining norms of success in contemporary society it allows readers to understand how contemporary regimes of failure are being formed and institutionalized in relation to policy and economic models such as neo liberalism While capturing the diversity of approaches in framing failure it assesses the confluences and shifts which have occurred in the study of failure over time Intended for scholars who research processes of inequality and invisibility this Handbook aims to formulate a critical manifesto and activism agenda for contemporary society Presenting an integrated view about failure the Handbook will be an essential reading for students in sociology social theory anthropology international relations and development research organization theory public policy

Rowe, 2024-12-15 The Cruel and Reparative Possibilities of Failure brings together a variety of scholars and research across disciplines with an emphasis on communication and gender studies to work toward reimagining the idea of failure Contributors consider failure as both a space for growth and repair and as a space from which hope can emerge The collection is divided into five parts investigating failure as consumption failure as media failure as pedagogy failure as narrative and finally failure as transformation Contributors spanning the fields of communication gender sexuality performance and media studies each employ unique disciplinary approaches to failure in their explorations of topics including queer counterpublics corporeal commodification misinformation abolitionist principles abuse and consent culture and everyday organizing among others Looking to the future the book takes these perspectives and experiences a step further to explore the reparative possibilities that may be found in failure Failure to Comply Cavar, 2024-08-06 How far would you go to have real freedom To have true autonomy of both mind and body The narrator of Failure to Comply wants self determination at all costs and they want you to know what it did in fact cost them Their story is just a little hard to convey as they re not entirely sure where or even when they are Set in a dystopian post apocalyptic future this literary sci fi novel presents a world where humans have been unshackled from disease and their basest desires thanks to the genetic engineering and societal supervision of RSCH an inscrutable entity with unimaginable power including the ability to literally shape reality In RSCH s march toward perfecting the species however there are deviants including LGBTQ people and people with disabilities who are fighting for a different vision of humanity But where can they find hope when horror abounds projected into their own bodies and minds by RSCH Badiou and the Political Condition Marios Constantinou, 2014-02-12 The essays in this volume including a new piece by Badiou himself reflect the formative traditions that shape the background of his political thought They intervene critically and evaluate the present state of Badiou s work while also breaking new gro Conflict and Development Roger Mac Ginty, Andrew Williams, 2009-03-24 Over the past decade a new awareness of the relationship between conflicts and development has grown Developmental factors can act as a trigger for violence as well as for ending violence and for triggering post conflict reconstruction This book explores the complexity of the links between violent conflict usually civil wars and development under development and uneven development It emphasizes the connections between stable developed economies and civil wars in other parts of the world and examines how structural factors such as the organization of the global economy virtually condemn some regions to conflict and under development This valuable introductory text explains reviews and critically evaluates this complex relationship It focuses on intra state conflicts and complex political emergencies that combine transnational and internal characteristics Attention is also given to inter state conflicts Chapters emphasize how the relationship between conflict and development traverses many scales macro meso and micro and dimensions economic political and cultural Furthermore it explains how different developmental challenges and opportunities emerge along the full life cycle of conflict. Specifically, the role of poverty, state, market, civil society, globalization, humanitarian aid, refugees, gender, and health within conflict dynamics are examined. The book also investigates specific developmental issues emerging during conflict management and post-conflict reconstruction. Both authors have a background in conducting research in deeply divided societies and argue that many of the processes connected with war and peace making deliberately write people out of the equation. This book attempts to write people in. By drawing on contemporary theoretical debates and examining current policies and events, the text unpacks the difficult and complex aspects of the relationships between armed conflict and development and makes them accessible, interesting, and policy relevant. It considers how peace making, peace building, and post-war reconstruction are usually more sustainable and successful if politicians, policy makers, entrepreneurs, and those working for international NGOs take on board local opinion and capacity. Written in an accessible style, the book considers the main contemporary theories and arguments on conflict, development, and the interactions between the two. The text is illuminated throughout with case studies drawn from Africa, the Balkans, Asia, and the Middle East.

Muting White Noise James H. Cox, 2012-11-19. Native American fiction writers have confronted Euro American narratives about Indians and the colonial world; those narratives help create them. These Native authors offer stories in which Indians remake this colonial world by resisting conquest and assimilation, sustaining their cultures and communities, and surviving. In Muting White Noise, James H. Cox considers how Native authors have liberated our imaginations from colonial narratives. Cox takes his title from Sherman Alexie, for whom the white noise of a television set represents the white mass-produced culture that mutes American Indian voices. Cox foregrounds the work of Native intellectuals in his readings of the American Indian novel tradition. He thereby develops a critical perspective from which to re-see the role played by the Euro American novel tradition in justifying and enabling colonialism. By examining novels by Native authors, especially Thomas King, Gerald Vizenor, and Alexie, Cox shows how these writers challenge and revise colonizers' tales about Indians. He then offers new readings of some revered Euro American novels, including Herman Melville's Moby Dick, and shows that until quite recently even those non-Native storytellers who sympathized with Indians could imagine only their vanishing by story's end. Muting White Noise breaks new ground in literary criticism. It stands with Native authors in their struggle to reclaim their own narrative space and tell stories that empower and nurture rather than undermine and erase American Indians and their communities.

The Becoming of God Roland Faber, 2017-04-06. How should we believe in God today? If we look beyond our little lives to the vast cosmos, we may even ask: Why all that? And even if we spiritually feel the universe, why believe any religion? After all, there are many, and haven't they contributed to the predicament of humanity? Process theology gives provocative answers to these questions: how we are bound by the organic cycles of this world, but how in this web of life God shines even in the least and forgotten event, as the Eros of its becoming, and as its mirror of greatness: why anything exists because it is from beauty, for harmony, and intensity and through a consciousness of peace rising from our deepest intuitions of existence We can change not only in our thoughts and lives but even in the way we experience this world This book introduces such a new way of experiencing thinking and living Based on the fascinating work on cosmology religion and civilization of Alfred North Whitehead this book develops the main theses of process theology and elucidates it as a theopoetics of mutual care for the unexpected the excluded the forgotten and a future society of peace
