Faith In Action Religion Race And Democratic Organizing In America:

Faith in Action Richard L. Wood, 2002-09-15 Over the past fifteen years associations throughout the U S have organized citizens around issues of equality and social justice often through local churches But in contrast to President Bush s vision of faith based activism in which groups deliver social services to the needy these associations do something greater Drawing on institutions of faith they reshape public policies that neglect the disadvantaged To find out how this faith based form of community organizing succeeds Richard L Wood spent several years working with two local groups in Oakland California the faith based Pacific Institute for Community Organization and the race based Center for Third World Organizing Comparing their activist techniques and achievements Wood argues that the alternative cultures and strategies of these two groups give them radically different access to community ties and social capital Creative and insightful Faith in Action shows how community activism and religious organizations can help build a more just and democratic future for all Americans Faith in Action Richard Lawrence Wood, 2004 Gay on God's Campus Jonathan S. Coley, 2018-02-02 Although the LGBT movement has made rapid gains in the United States LGBT people continue to face discrimination in faith communities In this book sociologist Jonathan S Coley documents why and how student activists mobilize for greater inclusion at Christian colleges and universities Drawing on interviews with student activists at a range of Christian institutions of higher learning Coley shows that students initially drawn to activism because of their own political religious or LGBT identities are forming direct action groups that transform university policies educational groups that open up campus dialogue and solidarity groups that facilitate their members personal growth He also shows how these LGBT activists apply their skills and values after graduation in subsequent political campaigns careers and family lives potentially serving as change agents in their faith communities for years to come Coley s findings shed light on a new frontier of LGBT activism and challenge prevailing wisdom about the characteristics of activists the purpose of activist groups and ultimately the nature of activism itself For more information about this project s research methodology and theoretical grounding please visit <http://jonathancoley.com> book Journal of Moral Theology, Volume 13, Special Issue 2 Anna Rowlands, Alexis Artuad de la Ferriere, 2024-12-05

A Vision of Justice Susan Crawford Sullivan, Ron Pagnucco, 2014-04-28 A Vision of Justice Engaging Catholic Social Teaching on the College Campus draws together the insights of social scientists historians and theologians in order to introduce readers to central topics in Catholic Social Teaching and to provide concrete examples of how it is being put into action by colleges and college students The authors bring their disciplinary backgrounds and knowledge of Catholic Social Teaching to the exploration of the issues making the book suitable for use in a wide range of courses and settings Discussion questions at the end of each chapter help readers to think about issues raised in the essays and to think creatively about Catholic Social Teaching in an ever changing world The authors invite readers to join them in engaging contemporary thought and experience in the light of Catholic Social Teaching and the college campus Behind Closed Doors Laura Stark,2024-05-31 Although the subject of federally mandated Institutional Review Boards IRBs has been extensively debated we actually do not know much about what takes place when they convene The story of how IRBs work today is a story about their past as well as their present and Behind Closed Doors is the first book to meld firsthand observations of IRB meetings with the history of how rules for the treatment of human subjects were formalized in the United States in the decades after World War II Drawing on extensive archival sources Laura Stark reconstructs the daily lives of scientists lawyers administrators and research subjects working and warring on the campus of the National Institutes of Health where they first wrote the rules for the treatment of human subjects Stark argues that the model of group deliberation that gradually crystallized during this period reflected contemporary legal and medical conceptions of what it meant to be human what political rights human subjects deserved and which stakeholders were best suited to decide She then explains how the historical contingencies that shaped rules for the treatment of human subjects in the postwar era guide decision making today within hospitals universities health departments and other institutions in the United States and across the globe Meticulously researched and gracefully argued Behind Closed Doors will be essential reading for sociologists and historians of science and medicine as well as policy makers and IRB administrators Willful Defiance Mark R. Warren,2022 The story of how Black and Brown parents students and members of low income communities of color organized to dismantle the school to prison pipeline in their local schools and built a movement that spread across the country In Willful Defiance Mark R Warren documents how Black and Brown parents students and low income communities of color organized to dismantle the school to prison pipeline in their local schools and built an intersectional movement that spread across the country Examining organizing processes in Mississippi Los Angeles Chicago and other localities he shows how relatively small groups of community members built the power to win policy changes to reduce suspensions and expulsions by combining deep local organizing with resources from the national movement As a result over the course of twenty years the movement to combat the school to prison pipeline resulted in falling suspension rates across the country and began to make gains in reducing police presence in schools especially in places where there have been sustained organizing and advocacy efforts In documenting the struggle organizers waged to build national alliances led by community groups and people most impacted by injustice rather than Washington based professional advocates Warren offers a new model for movements that operate simultaneously at local state and national levels while primarily oriented to support and spread local organizing In doing so he argues for the need to rethink national social justice movements as interconnected local struggles whose victories are lifted and spread In the end the book highlights lessons from the school to prison pipeline movement for organizers educators policymakers and a broader public seeking to transform deep seated and systemic racism in public schools and the broader society

To Care for Creation Stephen Ellingson, 2016-08-26 Controversial megachurch pastor Mark Driscoll proclaimed from a conference stage in 2013 I know who made the environment and he s coming back and going to burn it all up So yes I drive an SUV The comment which Driscoll later explained away as a joke highlights what has been a long history of religious anti environmentalism Given how firmly entrenched this sentiment has been surprising inroads have been made by a new movement with few financial resources which is deeply committed to promoting green religious traditions and creating a new environmental ethic To Care for Creation chronicles this movement and explains how it has emerged despite institutional and cultural barriers as well as the hurdles posed by logic and practices that set religious environmental organizations apart from the secular movement Ellingson takes a deep dive into the ways entrepreneurial activists tap into and improvise on a variety of theological ethical and symbolic traditions in order to issue a compelling call to arms that mobilizes religious audiences Drawing on interviews with the leaders of more than sixty of these organizations Ellingson deftly illustrates how activists borrow and rework resources from various traditions to create new meanings for religion nature and the religious person s duty to the natural world

Latino Religions and Civic Activism in the United States Gastón Espinosa, Virgilio P. Elizondo, Jesse Miranda, 2005 Presenting 16 new essays addressing important issues movements and personalities in Latino religions in America this book aims to overthrow the stereotype that Latinos are politically passive and that their churches have supported the status quo failing to engage in or support the struggle for civil rights and social justice

Investing in Democracy Carmen Sirianni, 2010-10-01 The health of American democracy ultimately depends on our willingness and ability to work together as citizens and stakeholders in our republic Government policies often fail to promote such collaboration But if designed properly they can do much to strengthen civic engagement That is the central message of Carmen Sirianni s eloquent new book Rather than encourage citizens to engage in civic activity government often puts obstacles in their way Many agencies treat citizens as passive clients rather than as community members overlooking their ability to mobilize assets and networks to solve problems Many citizen initiatives run up against rigid rules and bureaucratic silos causing all but the most dedicated activists to lose heart The unfortunate and unnecessary result is a palpable decline in the quality of civic life Fortunately growing numbers of policymakers across the country are figuring out how government can serve as a partner and catalyst for collaborative problem solving Investing in Democracy details three such success stories neighborhood planning in Seattle youth civic engagement programs in Hampton Virginia and efforts to develop civic environmentalism at the U S Environmental Protection Agency The book explains what measures were taken and why they succeeded It distills eight core design principles that characterize effective collaborative governance and concludes with concrete recommendations for federal policy

A Compilation of Selected Papers from the Employment and Training

Administration's 2003 Biennial National Research Conference Joshua Riley, 2003 Disrupting Homelessness Laura Stivers, 2011-04-01 Disrupting Homelessness unmask the futile assumptions of our present approaches to homelessness and suggests ways in which Christians and Christian communities can create a prophetic social movement to end poverty and homelessness Some Christian organizations focus on fixing the person and the behaviors that contribute toward homelessness Others promote home ownership for low income households Stivers criticizes both approaches and assesses to what extent these approaches buy into our culture's dominant ideologies on housing and homelessness and whether they promote justice and liberation for the least well off She then outlines an advocacy approach for churches to address the multiple causes of homelessness and prophetically to aim to make a home for all in God's just and compassionate community
