Faith And The Other:

Being Amongst Others Eric Chelstrom, 2009-03-26 Our world can be a bewildering place The sense of awe and wonder at the states of affairs in which we find ourselves immersed give rise to philosophical questions Philosophical reflection is a critical attempt to come to grips with our place in the world and the various problems we encounter in respect to the complexities encountered in everyday life In the most basic terms phenomenology is the study of the structures and relations of phenomena Phenomenology begins from a descriptive analysis of our experiences of the world It grants precedent to the first person perspective how phenomena appear to consciousness There are any number of problems related to the plenitude of kinds of experiences which confront us through the course of our lives in addition to the structure of consciousness itself This volume presents a variety of views on a number of the phenomena of our everyday lives offering positions on such things from the nature of consciousness to the structures of religious or political experiences Its appeal however should not be limited to philosophers alone given that all persons can relate to the subject matter of the essays For instance one author asks what is friendship The present work may also be understood as a gesture toward bridging the division between the valuable insights of continental and analytic philosophical traditions The authors include a combination of established academics such as Jeffrey Wattles the best selling author of The Golden Rule and young scholars from varied philosophical backgrounds This collection is divided into four sections I Foundational Elements of Experience II The Experiencing Subject What is it to be a Subject III Amongst Others The Social World and IV Social Objects and Institutions Each section represents a level of experience from the most basic structures of experience to the subject's experience of the world and objects in it to experiences and interactions with others ending at the results of the codifications of certain social practices and beliefs The sections treat their respective topics principally even if they share material with other essays Our experiences of the life world the world of human praxis contain a multiplicity of elements the divisions of this work are meant to demarcate various types of phenomena not to offer any definitive thesis regarding a hierarchy or structure of relations

Food and Faith Norman Wirzba, 2018-11-29 This book provides a comprehensive theological framework for assessing the significance of eating Drawing on diverse theological philosophical and anthropological insights it offers fresh ways to evaluate food production and consumption practices as they are being worked out in today's industrial food economy Unlike books that focus primarily on vegetarianism and hunger related concerns this book broadens the scope of consideration to include the sacramental character of eating the deep significance of hospitality the meaning of death and sacrifice the Eucharist as the place of inspiration and orientation the importance of saying grace and the possibility of eating in heaven Throughout eating is presented as a way of enacting fidelity between persons between people and fellow creatures and between people and Earth Food and Faith demonstrates that eating is of profound economic moral and spiritual significance Revised throughout this edition includes a new introduction and two chapters as well as updated bibliography The additions add significantly to the core idea of creaturely membership and hospitality through discussion of the microbiome revolution in science and the daunting challenge of the Anthropocene Erotic Faith Mari Kim, 2022-03-24 The thought of contemporary North American theologian and ethicist Wendy Farley is an unflinching clarion call to justice and compassion Farley invites us to discover ways of embodying the deep compassion capable of resisting pernicious distortions and traumatizing injustices that harm and dehumanize us all This volume of essays embodies her invitation to awaken as beloved community And when we are overwhelmed by the magnitude of struggle and despair Farley reminds us that the powerful longing of hope at times against all evidence refuses to give up on seeking justice and wholeness Compassionate justice radical hospitality creative liberation and deep listening emerge as more than ethical values for Farley they are expressions of erotic faith a praxis of faithfulness born of divine desire These writings explore transformative perspectives and practices that have the capacity to help us recover and author our identity as the god bearers we are Erotic faith embodies the love seeking persistence of divine faithfulness necessary to transform us from within it meets the truth of human harm vulnerability and suffering by offering a complex struggling unscripted creativity capable of remaking us and our world until the beloved community is whole

Faith-based Organisations in Ethiopia Aklilu Dalelo, Till Stellmacher, 2012 As in other African countries the engagement of faith based organizations FBOs in the development sector in Ethiopia is tremendous and manifold FBOs are however still insufficiently integrated in the development discourse and often operate under the radar of international and multilateral donors This can be to a large extent reasoned by the fact that very little empirical research has hitherto been undertaken to assess the impact of FBO activities in Ethiopia Upon this background this study contributes to the debate among practitioners and researchers on the actual and potential contribution of FBOs to development in Ethiopia This is exemplified by the work of the Ethiopian Kale Heywet Church EKHC in rural areas of southern Ethiopia in the thematic fields of schooling ecological balance and food security Cross sectional and case study designs form the principal approaches used in the study both quantitative and qualitative methods were used On evangelical mysticism [and other sermons and essays] John Fletcher, 1836 A Public Faith Michael Cromartie, 2003 The essays in this volume take another look at the role of evangelicals in American civic life The prominent contributors examine evangelicals beliefs and activity on topics ranging from bioethics to race relations and welfare reform to international human rights Taken together the essays show that contrary to what critics have proclaimed the social commitment of evangelicals extends considerably beyond family related issues and that their activity in the public sphere makes an essential contribution to the public good Co published with the Ethics and Public Policy Center Faith at the Crossroads Dov Schwartz, 2002-01-01 The book exposes the theological foundations of religious Zionism Relying on a rigorous analysis of new primary sources Schwartz argues that this movement strove to build a new religious consciousness in light of the Jewish national renaissance in the twentieth century Faith and the Other Paul R. Groote,2012-01-27 For the last decade early modern studies have significantly been reshaped by raising new and different questions on the uses of religion This religious turn has generated new discussion of the social processes at work in early modern Europe and their cultural effects from the struggle over religious rites and doctrines to the persecution of secret adherents to forbidden practices The issue of religious pluralisation has been mostly debated in terms of dissent and escalation But confessional controversy did not always erupt into hostilities over how to symbolize and perform the sacred nor lead to a paralysis of social agency The order of the day may often have been to suspend confessional allegiances rather than enforce religious conflict suggesting a pragmatic rather than polemic handling of religious plurality This raises the urgent question of how normal transconfessional and even transreligious interaction was produced in a context of highly sharpened and always present reflexivity on religious differences Our volume takes up this question and explores it from an interdisciplinary and interconfessional perspective The title Forgetting Faith raises the question whether it was necessary or indeed possible to sidestep religious issues in specific contexts and for specific purposes This does not mean however to describe early modern culture as a process of secularization Rather the collection invites discussion of the specific ways available to deal with confessional conflict in an oblivional mode precisely because faith still mattered more than many other social paradigms emerging at that time such as nationhood ethnic origin or class defined through property Belonging But Not Believing

Labuschagne, 2009-03-16 Modern liberal democracies in the West living under the rule of law and protection of human rights cannot articulate the very values from which they derive their legitimacy These pre political and pre legal preconditions cannot be guaranteed let alone be enforced by the state but constitute nevertheless its moral and spiritual infrastructure Until recently a common background and horizon consisted in Christianity but due to secularisation and globalisation society has become increasingly multicultural and multireligious The question can and should be raised how religion relates to these sources of normative order in society how religion politics and law relate to each other and how social cohesion can be attained in society given the growing varieties of religious experiences In this book a philosophical account of this question is carried out on the one hand historically from Plato to the Enlightenment on the other hand systematically and practically

The cultural diversity characterizing international arbitration today is as much a source of enrichment as it is sometimes a source of practical difficulties affecting both the arbitration procedure and the application of substantive law Consequently it is becoming clearer that the critical project for international arbitration in the immediate future will be how to best answer the fundamental question of cultural pluralism This book presents an informative and well argued discussion on many aspects of international arbitration clarifying the main procedural and substantive similarities and differences between different legal systems around the world focusing not only on common and civil law traditions but also the role played by regional legal traditions including Islamic law and African perspectives With contributions from fifty arbitrators counsel and academics representing every region of the world where international arbitration has secured a foothold the volume consolidates and synthesizes a series of discussions sponsored by the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators that took place in Dubai Johannesburg and Paris in 2017 The essays identify and address the cultural distinctions that affect the key ever present factors which have forged the character of modern international arbitration such as the following the seat of the arbitration and the legal regime to which the arbitration is attached due process which has different and specific meanings in different national legal systems international standards such as international public policy illegality arbitrability and sanctions the immunity of international arbitrators form of presentation of evidence production of documents oral and written submissions and expert evidence the specific context of international investment arbitration disputes in specific industries or legal areas telecommunications construction mining intellectual property the role of national judges and the legal traditions they embrace throughout and after arbitration proceedings how to incorporate more conciliatory cultural traditions which are notably shared in many African and Asian countries and training and opportunities for the next generation in international arbitration The book is replete with tools and recommendations to ensure synergy and harmony between the different legal traditions that coexist in today's arbitral proceedings All users of arbitration whether the arbitrators themselves lawyers involved as counsel for parties or judges applying arbitration law will greatly appreciate this matchless elucidation of the different systems and alternative ways of presenting the divergent procedures and ways of conducting international arbitrations The book's immeasurable value to arbitration academics goes without saying
