performance and silence The book considers a wide range of literary and theoretical texts including those of Blanchot and Bakhtin Kazuo Ishiguro Vikram Seth David Malouf and J M Coetzee The musical forms discussed range from opera to the string quartet together with individual works by Elgar Strauss and Michael Berkeley As such Literary Music offers an informed interdisciplinary approach to the study of literature and music that participates in the lively theoretical debate on the status of meaning in music

Eternity's Ennui M.B. Pranger,2010-10-05 This book examines the nature of Augustinian time as the unfathomable yet permanent focus of the present What are the implications for Augustine's confessional discourse How to reconcile the brevity of time's focus with eternity's longueur and the rhetoric of digression

Studies in Postcolonial Literature M. Q. Khan,Bijay Kumar Das,2007 Studies In Postcolonial Literature Contains Twenty Three Papers And Two Interviews With Two Eminent Writers On Different Genres Poetry Fiction Short Fiction And Drama Of Postcolonial Literature It Deals With Literatures In English Outside The Anglo American Tradition The Book Focuses On How Postcolonial Literature Assumes An Identity Of Its Own In Spite Of The Writers Drawn From Different Countries With Distinct National Identities This Is A Very Useful Book For The Students As Well As The Teachers Who Intend To Do An Extensive Study Of Postcolonial Literature

The Contemporary Literature-Music Relationship Hazel Smith,2016-04-20 This book explores the relationship between words and music in contemporary texts examining in particular the way that new technologies are changing the literature music relationship It brings an eclectic and novel range of interdisciplinary theories to the area of musico literary studies drawing from the fields of semiotics disability studies musicology psychoanalysis music psychology emotion and affect theory new media cosmopolitanism globalization ethnicity and biraciality Chapters range from critical analyses of the representation of music and the musical profession in contemporary novels to examination of the forms and cultural meanings of contemporary intermedia and multimedia works The book argues that conjunctions between words and music create emergent structures and meanings that can facilitate culturally transgressive and boundary interrogating effects In particular it conceptualises ways in which word music relationships can facilitate cross cultural exchange as musico literary miscegenation using interracial sexual relationships as a metaphor Smith also inspects the dynamics of improvisation and composition and the different ways they intersect with performance Furthermore the book explores the huge changes that computer based real time algorithmic text and music generation are making to the literature music nexus This volume provides fascinating insight into the relationship between literature and music and will be of interest to those fields as well as New Media and Performance Studies

Postcolonial Readings of Music in World Literature Cameron Fae Bushnell,2013 This book reads representations of Western music in literary texts to reveal the ways in which artifacts of imperial culture function within contemporary world literature Bushnell argues that Western music's conventions for performance composition and listening established during the colonial period persist in postcolonial thought and practice Music from the Baroque Classical and Romantic periods Bach through Brahms coincides with the rise of colonialism and

Western music contains imperial attitudes and values embedded within its conventions standards and rules The book focuses on the culture of classical music as reflected in the worlds of characters and texts and contends that its effects outlast the historical significance of the real composers pieces styles and forms Through examples by authors such as McEwan Vikram Seth Bernard MacLaverty Chang rae Lee and J M Coetzee the book demonstrates how Western music enters narrative as both acts of history and as structures of analogy that suggest subject positions human relations and political activity that in turn describes a postcolonial condition The uses to which Western music is put in each literary text reveals how European art music of the seventeenth through the nineteenth centuries is read and misread by postcolonial generations exposing mostly hidden cultural structures that influence our contemporary understandings of social relations and hierarchies norms for resolution and for assigning significance and standards of propriety The book presents strategies for thinking anew about the persistence of cultural imperialism reading Western music simultaneously as representative of imperial cultural dominance and as suggestive of resistant structures forms and practices that challenge the imperial hegemony ThirdWay ,1999-07 Monthly current affairs magazine from a Christian perspective with a focus on politics society economics and culture

Johnson,2024-08-06 Holistic Musical Thinking presents a comprehensive view of how people engage with music from a hands on and heart felt perspective This approach embraces the teaching and learning processes as a multi dimensional amalgamation of knowing doing and feeling through musical experiences The result is a five dimensional model that synthesizes cognitive affective and psychomotor learning with curricular integration With pedagogical applications Holistic Musical Thinking offers a multi faceted perspective that benefits both music teachers and their students This innovative approach uses established research for a new model of musical thinking and taxonomy of musical engagement Complete with classroom vignettes and pedagogical strategies this book reframes musical thinking as a new direction in music education Written for music teachers teacher educators and their students this book provides practical applications of the multi dimensional Model of Holistic Musical Thinking for K 12 music education and beyond Vikram Seth's Poetics of Pastiche Mélanie Heydari,2024-09-21 Vikram Seth is a critical enigma He is recognized as one of the most important Indian Anglophone authors of his generation his individual works have been widely reviewed yet his work has rarely been approached as a whole and remains surprisingly understudied Perhaps the chief reason for the paucity of critical response to the full compass of Seth's work is his disregard for intellectual fashion. Indeed, Seth is at once very popular and deliberately unfashionable. His literary affiliations are conservative; seemingly uninterested in any revisionary narrative, he is equally unconcerned by the interpenetration of cultures in our globalized world, representing assimilation rather than cultural difference. He defies the expectations of both postcolonial and world literature, therefore, to discuss his critical neglect is to shed light on the limitations of these labels. As the most thorough attempt to map a general poetics in Seth's work, this study, the first of its kind on this writer, develops a new critical methodology to capture the nuances of Seth's literary strategies. It provides scholars and students insight into the key features of Seth's work and uncovers a consistent authorial strategy running through his seemingly disconnected body of work, namely a systematic use of intertextual practices. Reflections on Indian English Fiction Ed. M.R. Verma & A.K. Sharma, 2004. The book presents a collection of papers that are wide-ranging, not only in the choice of authors—two of the Big Trio, R.K. Narayan and Raja Rao, on the one hand, and the recent ones like Upamanyu Chatterjee and Manju Kapur, on the other—but also in the different angles from which these novelists have been discussed. It includes a much-talked-about author like Arundhati Roy as well as a remarkable but less-discussed writer like Ruskin Bond. It consists of feminist study as well as semiotic study and postmodern reading.

Adorno and the Architects of Late Style in India Tania Roy, 2021-03-11. In the postcolonial world, the claim to an emancipated national culture was bound to its aesthetic correlate: the unfolding time and experiments of the twentieth-century novel. Today, the constructs of both novel and a progressivist national project function in all their closures within global scales of economic disparity and violent exclusion. What is the fate of a literary canon when it is no longer capable of delineating a future or otherwise is bound to reproduce the failures of the past within its own inscriptions? How do we experience our current globalist moment when lived inequities of gender, labour, and ethnicity emerge in a text's inability to speak on time? When does artistic or literary failure become the measure of a work's accomplishment? And what sort of liberation is envisioned by works that refuse the imperatives of progress and independence, which embrace the appearance of obsolescence by rejecting values of artistic freedom, originality, and innovation? These are some of the provocations that arise from T.W. Adorno's idea of late style for our own conjuncture, a properly postcolonial context in which every conceptual or expressive engagement is articulated through an awareness of eroded national promise. Examining works by Rabindranath Tagore, Mulk Raj Anand, Vikram Seth, and the photography of Dayanita Singh, Tania Roy examines the delayed claims of literary and artistic modernity in India through Adorno's category of late style. In striking readings of Adorno and his interlocutors, the book extends a poetics of lateness toward a speculative history of the twentieth-century novel in India. Comprised of critically neglected selections from the oeuvres of canonical writers, Adorno and the Architects of Late Style in India proposes that under conditions of advanced capitalism, logics of redundancy overtake the novel's foundational reference point in the nation to produce altered frames of thought and sensibility, and therein a reader who might encounter anew the
