Liberating Intimacy Peter D. Hershock, 1996-01-01 Liberating Intimacy dramatically reevaluates the teachings and practice of Chan Buddhism Considering Buddha's insight that everything is empty or absent of a permanent and independent self nature Herschok argues that not only is suffering without any essence and so dependent on time and place so is end of suffering or enlightenment He shows that the tradition need not entail a quietistic withdrawal from social life Far from being something privately attained and experienced Chan enlightenment is best seen as the opening of a virtuosic intimacy through which we are continually liberated from the arrogance of both self and other That is enlightenment in Chan must be understood as irreducibly social it can never be merely mine or yours but is only realized as ours Including new translations from the teachings of Ma tzu Pai chang Huang po and Lin chi Liberating Intimacy reconciles the almost fierce individualism that characterizes the mastery of Chan and its unwavering embrace of the ideal of compassionately saving all beings American Bookseller ,1981 Gale Environmental Sourcebook ,1994 National Union Catalog ,1983
