Discourses on Nations and Identities Daniel Syrov, 2021-01-18 The third volume of the collected papers of the ICLA congress The Many Languages of Comparative Literature includes contributions that focus on the interplay between concepts of nation national languages and individual as well as collective identities Because all literary communication happens within different kinds of power structures linguistic economic political it often results in fascinating forms of hybridity In the first of four thematic chapters the papers investigate some of the ways in which discourses can establish modes of thinking or how discourses are in turn controlled by active linguistic interventions whether in the context of the patriarchy war colonialism or political factions The second thematic block is predominantly concerned with hybridity as an aspect of modern cultural identity and the cultural and linguistic dimensions of domestic life and in society at large Closely related a third series of papers focuses on writers and texts analysed from the vantage points of exile and exophony as well as theoretical contributions to issues of terminology and what it means to talk about transcultural phenomena Finally a group of papers sheds light on more overtly violent power structures mechanisms of exclusion Totalitarianism torture and censorship but also resistance to these forms of oppression In addition to these chapters the volume also collects a number of thematically related group sections from the ICLA congress preserving their original context     The Cumulative Book

Index , 1996 A world list of books in the English language     Real Sex Films John Tulloch, Belinda Middleweek, 2017 Real Sex Films explores one of the most controversial movements in international cinema through theories of globalization and embodiment     Never Forget Your Name Alwin Meyer, 2022-01-11 The children of Auschwitz this is the darkest spot in the ocean of suffering that was the Holocaust They were deported to the concentration camp with their families with most being murdered in the gas chambers upon their arrival or were born there under unimaginable circumstances While 232 000 children and juveniles were deported to Auschwitz only 750 were liberated in the death camp at the end of January 1945 Most of them were under 15 years of age Alwin Meyer's masterwork is the culmination of decades of research and interviews with the children and their descendants sensitively reconstructing their stories before during and after Auschwitz The camp would remain with them throughout their lives on their forearms as a tattooed number and in their minds in the memory of heart rending separation from parents and siblings medical experiments abject confusion ceaseless hunger and a perpetual longing for home and security Once the purported liberation came there was no blueprint for piecing together personal biographies after the unthinkable had happened Many of the children often orphaned had forgotten their names or ages and had only fragmented understandings of where they came from While some struggled to reconnect to the parents from whom they had been separated others had known nothing other than the camp Some children grew up without the ability to trust and to play Survival is not yet life it is an in between stage which requires individuals to learn how to live The liberated children had to learn how to be young again in order to grow into adults like others did This remarkable book tells the stories of the most vulnerable victims of the Nazis systematic attempt to extinguish innocent lives and rescues their voices from historical oblivion It is a unique testimony to the horrific suffering endured by millions in humanity's darkest hour
