Erikson Childhood Society Rev Cloth:

Selvages & Biases Michael G. Kammen, 1987 Winner of the 1973 Pulitzer Prize for history Kammen addresses three themes concerning the state of historical inquiry in America Beginning with how history as a professional discipline has changed over the past century the book treats the relationship of the historian's craft to American nationalism the value of historical knowledge and the shifting attitudes of historians toward society Kammen appraises the significance of historiography as a measure of cultural change and shows how the past has been manipulated for social and ideological reasons and how memories of the national and regional past have conflicted with the realities of historical experience He also explains how traditional modes of interpreting the past have lost their cohesive force and why historians should pursue new approaches to the cultural history ISBN 0 8014 1924 7 24 95 Psycho-Analytic Explorations Donald W.

Winnicott, 2018-05-08 This volume contains ninety two works by this renowned writer theoretician and clinician Includes critiques of Melanie Klein's ideas and insights into the works of other leading psychoanalysts and thoughts on such concepts as play in the analytic situation the fate of the transitional object regression in psychoanalysis and the use of silence in psychotherapy Identity's Architect Lawrence Jacob Friedman, 2000 Drawing on private materials and extensive interviews historian Lawrence J Friedman illuminates the relationship between Erik Erikson's personal life and his notion of the life cycle and the identity crisis From publisher's description Sexual Maturity Richard Frederick Hettlinger, 1970 The End of Forgetting Kate Eichhorn, 2019-07-09 Thanks to Facebook and Instagram our childhoods have been captured and preserved online never to go away But what happens when we can't leave our most embarrassing moments behind Until recently the awkward moments of growing up could be forgotten But today we may be on the verge of losing the ability to leave our pasts behind In The End of Forgetting Kate Eichhorn explores what happens when images of our younger selves persist often remaining just a click away For today's teenagers many of whom spend hours each day posting on social media platforms efforts to move beyond moments they regret face new and seemingly insurmountable obstacles Unlike a high school yearbook or a shoebox full of old photos the information that accumulates on social media is here to stay What was once fleeting is now documented and tagged always ready to surface and interrupt our future lives Moreover new innovations such as automated facial recognition also mean that the reappearance of our past is increasingly out of our control Historically growing up has been about moving on achieving a safe distance from painful events that typically mark childhood and adolescence But what happens when one remains tethered to the past From the earliest days of the internet critics have been concerned that it would endanger the innocence of childhood The greater danger Eichhorn warns may ultimately be what happens when young adults find they are unable to distance themselves from their pasts Rather than a childhood cut short by a premature loss of innocence the real crisis of the digital age may be the specter of a childhood that can never be forgotten Quarterly Check-list of Ethnology & Sociology, 1962 An international index of current books monographs brochures separates A General Theory of Emotions and Social Life Warren D. TenHouten, 2006-11-22

 Founded upon the psychoevolutionary theories of Darwin Plutchik and Izard a general socioevolutionary theory of the emotions affect spectrum theory classifies a wide spectrum of the emotions and analyzes them on the sociological psychological and neurobiological levels This neurocognitive sociology of the emotions supersedes the major theoretical perspectives developed in the sociology of emotions by showing primary emotions to be adaptive reactions to fundamental problems of life which have evolved into elementary social relationships and which can predict occurrences of the entire spectrum of primary complex secondary and tertiary emotions Written by leading social theorist Warren D TenHouten this book presents an encyclopaedic classification of the emotions describing forty six emotions in detail and presenting a general multilevel theory of emotions and social life The scope of coverage of this key work is highly topical and comprehensive and includes the development of emotions in childhood symbolic elaboration of complex emotions emotions management violence and cultural and gender differences While primary emotions have clearly defined valences this theory shows that complex emotions obey no algebraic law and that all emotions have both creative and destructive potentialities What Should Political Theory Be Now? John S. Nelson, 1984-06-30 Confronted with the alienation of political theory from the practice of politics prominent theorists respond in this book to the growing question What should political theory be now New and original contributions by such thinkers as Charles Anderson John Gunnell Terence Ball Paul Kress Ira Strauber and William Connolly analyze the current malaise in the field and offer remedies for it Each contribution is at once an argument about what is to be done in political theory and an exemplar of how to do it Spurred by the Shambaugh Conference on Political Theory this cross disciplinary effort addresses two major issues What is the proper stance for theorizing about politics What are the priority projects for current political theory The contributions encompass many of the major themes concerning political theorists today including criticism as a project for current political theory dangers in the latter day disengagement of political theory from politics theorists perplexity within and about history issues of reason and the relationships among science theory and politics The viewpoints presented are diverse yet the contributors to this volume are typical of political theorists generally Almost all share inklings of actual or incipient disasters reaching from politics into theory and vice versa

The Psychohistory Review ,1978 The Voice of the Past Paul Thompson, 2017-02-24 Oral history gives history back to the people in their own words And in giving a past it also helps them towards a future of their own making Oral history and life stories help to create a truer picture of the past and the changing present documenting the lives and feelings of all kinds of people many otherwise hidden from history It explores personal and family relationships and uncovers the secret cultures of work It connects public and private experience and it highlights the experiences of migrating between cultures At the same time it can bring courage to the old meaning to communities and contact between generations Sometimes it can offer a path for healing divided communities and those with traumatic memories Without it the history and sociology of our time would be poor and narrow In this fourth edition of his pioneering work fully revised with Joanna Bornat Paul Thompson challenges the accepted myths of historical scholarship He discusses the reliability of oral evidence in comparison with other sources and considers the social context of its development He looks at the relationship between memory the self and identity He traces oral history through its own past and weighs up the recent achievements of a movement which has become international with notably strong developments in North America Europe Australia Latin America South Africa and the Far East despite resistance from more conservative academics This new edition combines the classic text of The Voice of the Past with many new sections including especially the worldwide development of different forms of oral history and the parallel memory boom as well as discussions of theory in oral history and of memory trauma and reconciliation It offers a deep social and historical interpretation along with succinct practical advice on designing and carrying out a project The Voice of the Past remains an invaluable tool for anyone setting out to use oral history and life stories to construct a more authentic and balanced record of the past and the present

Designing the Creative Child Amy F. Ogata, 2013-04-21 The postwar American stereotypes of suburban sameness traditional gender roles and educational conservatism have masked an alternate self image tailor made for the Cold War The creative child an idealized future citizen was the darling of baby boom parents psychologists marketers and designers who saw in the next generation promise that appeared to answer the most pressing worries of the age Designing the Creative Child reveals how a postwar cult of childhood creativity developed and continues to this day Exploring how the idea of children as imaginative and naturally creative was constructed disseminated and consumed in the United States after World War II Amy F Ogata argues that educational toys playgrounds small middle class houses new schools and children s museums were designed to cultivate imagination in a growing cohort of baby boom children Enthusiasm for encouraging creativity in children countered Cold War fears of failing competitiveness and the postwar critique of social conformity making creativity an emblem of national revitalization Ogata describes how a historically rooted belief in children s capacity for independent thinking was transformed from an elite concern of the interwar years to a fully consumable and aspirational ideal that persists today From building blocks to Gumby playhouses to Playskool trains Creative Playthings to the Eames House of Cards Crayola fingerpaint to children s museums material goods and spaces shaped a popular understanding of creativity and Designing the Creative Child demonstrates how this notion has been woven into the fabric of American culture

Smallest Circles First Mindy R. Carter,2022-04-27 Drawing from studies with pre and in service teachers in Quebec Smallest Circles First looks at how teacher agency engages with the educational calls to action from Canada s Truth and Reconciliation Commission Using drama education and theatre Smallest Circles First explores how the classroom can be used as a liminal educational site to participate in reconciliatory praxis Smallest Circles First presents several arts based educational research examples that illustrate how the arts provide a space for students teachers and communities to explore and learn about reconciliation praxis and responsibilities By implementing arts based counter narratives set against settler Canadian history and geography Smallest Circles First considers the implications of systemic racism colonization and political social and economic ramifications of governmental policies Tangible examples from the book showcase how teachers and students can use the arts to learn specifically about their responsibilities in engaging with Canada s Truth and Reconciliation Commission in addition to how this work can still meet curricular learning outcomes Adolescence and
