Eritrea Images Of War And Peace:

War and Peace in Contemporary Eritrean Poetry Charles Cantalupo, 2009 War and Peace in Contemporary Eritrean Poetry focuses on Eritrean written poetry from roughly the last three decades of the twentieth century The poems appear in the anthology Who Needs a Story Contemporary Eritrean Poetry in Tigrinya Tigre and Arabic from which a selection is offered here in their original scripts of Ge'ez or Arabic and in English translation Who Needs a Story is the first anthology of contemporary poetry from Eritrea ever published and War and Peace in Contemporary Eritrean Poetry is the first book on the subject Therefore the groundbreaking effort of the former warrants a discussion of its means of cultural production All of the poets in Who Needs a Story participated in the Eritrean struggle for independence 1961-91 as freedom fighters and or as supporters in the Eritrean diaspora Thus contemporary Eritrean poetry divides itself between experiences of war and peace although one can contain the other as well War and Peace in Contemporary Eritrean Poetry also includes an extended analysis of one of Eritrea's most famous contemporary poets Reesom Haile as an example of the kind of extended analysis that many of the poets of Who Needs a Story should stimulate and last but not least a meditation on how the author a non native speaker personally becomes involved in Eritrean poetry translation

Child Soldiers as Agents of War and Peace Leonie Steinkl, 2017-08-19 This book deals with child soldiers involvement in crimes under international law Child soldiers are often victims of grave human rights abuses and yet in some cases they also participate actively in inflicting violence upon others Nonetheless the international discourse on child soldiers often tends to ignore the latter dimension of children's involvement in armed conflict and instead focuses exclusively on their role as victims. While it might seem as though the discourse is therefore beneficial for child soldiers as it protects them from blame and responsibility, it is important to realize that the so-called passive victim narrative entails various adverse consequences which can hinder the successful reintegration of child soldiers into their families, communities and societies. This book aims to address this dilemma. First, the available options for dealing with child soldiers' participation in crimes under international law such as transitional justice and criminal justice and their shortcomings are analyzed in depth. Subsequently, a new approach is developed towards achieving accountability in a child-appropriate way which is called restorative transitional justice. This book is in the first place aimed at researchers with an interest in child soldiers, children and armed conflict as well as international criminal law, transitional justice, juvenile justice, restorative justice, children's rights and international human rights law. Secondly, professionals working on issues of transitional justice, juvenile justice, international criminal law, children's rights and the reintegration of child soldiers will also find the subject matter of great relevance to their practice.

It contains a chronology, a list of acronyms and abbreviations, an introductory essay, a bibliography and cross-referenced dictionary entries on wars, conflicts, major political and military figures and topics such as child soldiers, mercenaries and blood diamonds. Communication and Culture in War and Peace Colleen Roach, 1993-02. By exploring the role of both culture and the mass media, this volume fills a gap in the literature on war and peace. Outstanding scholars provide an overview of critical mass media research and open up entirely new perspectives on the ongoing debate over communications issues in war and peace. The contributions bring together common themes including the military-industrial communications complex, cultural imperialism and transnational control of communications. Various perspectives are covered such as gender issues, language study and bureaucratization.

Narrating War and Peace in Africa Solimar Otero, 2010. Narrating War and Peace in Africa interrogates conventional representations of Africa and African culture mainly in the twentieth and early twenty-first centuries with an emphasis on portrayals of conflict and peace. While Africa has experienced political and social turbulence throughout its history, more recent conflicts seem to reinforce the myth of barbarism across the continent in Nigeria, Rwanda, Somalia, Sierra Leone, Uganda, Kenya, Mozambique, Chad, South Africa, Zimbabwe and Sudan. The essays in this volume address reductive and stereotypical assumptions of postcolonial violence as tribal in nature and offer instead various perspectives across disciplinary boundaries that foster a less fetishized, more contextualized understanding of African war, peace and memory Through their geographical historical and cultural scope and diversity the chapters in Narrating War and Peace in Africa aim to challenge negative stereotypes that abound in relation to Africa in general and to its wars and conflicts in particular encouraging a shift to more balanced and nuanced representations of the continent and its political and social climates Contributors Ann Albuyeh Zermarie Deacon Alicia C Decker Am na Mo nfar Kayode Omoniyi Ogunfolabi Sabrina Parent Susan Rasmussen Michael Sharp Cheryl Sterling Hetty ter Haar Melissa Tully Pamela Wadende Metasebia Woldemariam Jonathan Zilberg Toyin Falola is the Jacob and Frances Sanger Mossiker Chair in the Humanities and University Distinguished Teaching Professor at the University of Texas at Austin Hetty ter Haar is an independent researcher in England

Discourses of War and Peace Adam Hodges, 2013-06-18 Given the prevalence of war around the world it is vital to understand the way discourse contributes to the promotion and positioning of war as a natural or inevitable response to international problems In addition it is equally necessary to examine the way discourse impacts projects of peace which seek to displace discourses of war with alternative visions of the world This volume examines specific contexts around the world in which discourse operates in the service of war or to build alternative visions of peace Contributors who have backgrounds in linguistics anthropology rhetoric and communication studies draw upon discourse analytic and ethnographic methods to examine the discourse used by politicians and social actors in societies across the globe including the United States Canada the United Kingdom Morocco Ireland the Palestinian territories and Japan The book is divided into four sections that foreground the political effects of discourse on issues of war and peace including the way discourse is harnessed to justify war part I negotiate military deployment part II respond to armed conflict part III and promote peace part IV

African Research & Documentation, 2003 The Law of War and Peace Gina Heathcote, Sara Bertotti, Emily Jones, Sheri A. Labenski, 2021-01-28 The Law of War and Peace offers a cutting edge analysis of the relationship between law armed conflict gender and peace This book which is the first of two volumes focuses on the interplay between international law and gendered experiences of armed conflict It provides an in depth analysis of the key debates on collective security unilateral force the laws governing conflict terrorism and international criminal law While much of the current scholarship has centered on the UN Security Council's Resolutions on Women Peace and Security this two volume work seeks to move understandings beyond the framework established by WPS It does this through providing a critical and intersectional approach to gender and conflict which is mindful of transnational feminist and queer perspectives

Tigray: The Panarchy of War Mirjam Van Reisen, Munyaradzi Mawere, 2024-11-17 The Tigray War 2020 2022 left a deep and lasting impact not only on Tigray but also on the wider Horn of Africa In this second book in a three part series the authors examine the devastation wrought by the war on Tigray's cultural heritage and identity The deliberate destruction of ancient cultural sites and the assault on the Tigrayan people's identity have fueled a desire for greater autonomy among the people of Tigray to protect their future Through the lens of Panarchy this book explores how the war's effects extend far beyond Tigray reshaping the dynamics of the entire region. Crucially, it uncovers Eritrea's secret role in the conflict, which was deliberately concealed by Ethiopia. Eritrean forces were implicated not only in atrocities but also in the use of particularly cruel and inhumane sexual violence intended to break the spirit of the Tigrayan people and erase Tigray as an ethnic and cultural group. This ethnographic research, conducted in collaboration with universities inside and outside Ethiopia, reveals the profound transformations caused by the war, with consequences that will reverberate for years to come. It sheds light on the war's long-term impact and highlights the urgent need for international attention on the challenges faced by Tigray and the wider region.
