June 1940, Great Britain and the First Attempt to Build a European Union Andrea Bosco, 2016-06-22 June 2016 represents a significant moment in British history The decision to leave the European Union at the most critical period since its existence could bring unpredictable and far reaching consequences both for the United Kingdom and the Union itself June 1940 was also a turning point in British history On the afternoon of 16 June a few hours before the French Government opted for the capitulation Churchill made on behalf of the British Government an offer of indissoluble union When a sceptical Churchill put forward to the British Cabinet the text of the declaration drafted by Jean Monnet Sir Arthur Salter and Robert Vansittart he was surprised at the amount of support it received The Cabinet adopted the document with some minor amendments and de Gaulle who saw it as a means of keeping France in the war telephoned Reynaud with the proposal for an indissoluble union with joint organs of defence foreign financial and economic policies a common citizenship and a single War Cabinet The proposal however never reached the table of the French Government The spirit of capitulation embodied in Weygand and P tain prevailed and France submitted herself to the German will for the second time in seventy years After the Munich crisis Great Britain had to face the danger of another European war with the inevitable loss of the Empire and it was at this point that the country first began to favour the application of the federalist principle to Anglo French relations In this conversion to federalism a fundamental role was played by the Federal Union the first federalist movement organised on a popular basis The contribution of Federal Union to the development of the federal idea in Great Britain and Europe was to express and organise the beginning of a new political militancy and it represented the first step of a historical process the overcoming of the nation State the modern political formula which institutionalises the political division of mankind This study principally examines the first eighteen months of the Federal Union during which time it was able to raise itself to the attention of the general public and the political class as the heir of the League of Nations Union The research is based on extensive unpublished archival material found across the globe from London Oxford Brighton and Edinburgh to Washington Paris and Geneva

The US, the UN and the Korean War Robert Barnes, 2014-02-28 Military social and economic historians have long appreciated the significance of the conflict in Korea in shaping the post war world The policy of containment was formed China was established as an important military power and the US increased its military expenditure fourfold as a result of a conflict which killed over 33 000 Americans What has been less appreciated is the role played by the United Nations and the British Commonwealth in influencing US strategy at this time of crisis the Truman administration invested time and effort into gaining UN approval for the conflict in Korea and the course of the war was adapted to keep UN allies often holding crucial strategic positions in other Cold War theatres in tow Robert Barnes develops a fresh perspective on these fluctuating relationships the tensions between Washington and its British Commonwealth allies and their impact on the direction of the conflict in order to challenge the common view that the United States was able to use its dominant position within the UN to pursue its Cold War ambitions with impunity This important new interpretation is supported by evidence from a wealth of sources from official government records to private papers and memoirs written by the most important American and Commonwealth personalities directly involved in shaping the UN's response to the conflict This study presents a thorough deconstruction of the decision making process behind US handling of the Korean War from the outbreak of conflict in 1950 to the Geneva Conference of 1954 This will be essential reading for students of International Relations Cold War Studies and modern History

The English-Speaking Alliance Ritchie Ovendale, 2024-11-01 As with appeasement myths and legends have proliferated about the origins of the Cold War It has often been treated as largely a European affair with the responses to the Russian threat being led by the Americans Before 1951 however the Cold War was almost global in scale extending across Europe and Asia penetrating the Middle East and Africa It was the British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin who was the principal architect of the Western alliance formed to counter the perceived menace Bevin organized Europe in preparation for the Marshall Plan initiated the Western Union and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization but his vision was wider Like Neville Chamberlain in the late 1930s Bevin outlined a plan for an English speaking defence alliance The French were defeatist and it was politically impossible to propose reliance on Germany for defence What was needed was a bond between Britain the United States and the old white Dominions First published in 1985 The English Speaking Alliance is the story of how the post war Labour governments sustained the image of Britain as a world power and laid the foundations of the West's Cold War foreign policy It is told from sources in the British American and Australian archives some of which have been used for the first time By laying bare the mechanics of the process of alliance building Ritchie Ovendale offers many new insights which challenge the orthodox view of this crucial period of international politics As such it will appeal to anyone with an interest in world politics and a desire to know more about how the current superpower regime developed
