Nonviolence in the Mahabharata Alf Hiltebeitel, 2016-03-22 In Indian mythological texts like the Mah bh rata and R m ya a there are recurrent tales about gleaners The practice of gleaning in India had more to do with the house less forest life than with residential village or urban life or with gathering residual post harvest grains from cultivated fields Gleaning can be seen a metaphor for the Mah bh rata poets art an art that could have included their manner of gleaning what they made the leftovers what they found useful from many preexistent texts into Vy sa s entire thought including oral texts and possibly written ones such as philosophical debates and stories This book explores the notion of non violence in the epic Mah bh rata In examining gleaning as an ecological and spiritual philosophy nurtured as much by hospitality codes as by eating practices the author analyses the merits and limitations of the 9th century Kashmiri aesthetician Anandavardhana that the dominant aesthetic sentiment or rasa of the Mahabharata is shanta peace Mahatma Gandhi's non violent reading of the Mahabharata via the Bhagavad Gita are also studied This book by one of the leaders in Mahabharata studies is of interest to scholars of South Asian Literary Studies Religious Studies as well as Peace Studies South Asian Anthropology and History     Debating 'Conversion' in Hinduism and Christianity Ankur Barua, 2015-03-27 Hindu and Christian debates over the meanings motivations and modalities of conversion provide the central connecting theme running through this book It focuses on the reasons offered by both sides to defend or oppose the possibility of these cross border movements and shows how these reasons form part of a wider constellation of ideas concepts and practices of the Christian and the Hindu worlds The book draws upon several historical case studies of Christian missionaries and of Hindus who encountered these missionaries By analysing some of the complex negotiations intersections and conflicts between Hindus and Christians over the question of conversion it demonstrates that these encounters revolve around three main contested themes Firstly who can properly speak for the convert Secondly how is tolerating the religious other connected to an appraisal of the other's viewpoints which may be held to be incorrect inadequate or incomplete Finally what is in fact the true Religion The book demonstrates that it is necessary to wrestle with these questions for an adequate understanding of the Hindu and Christian debates over conversion Questioning what conversion precisely is and why it has been such a volatile issue on India's political legal landscape the book will be a useful contribution to studies of Hinduism Christianity and Asian Religion and Philosophy
