Education and Thinking in Continental Philosophy Itay Snir, 2020-09-28 This book draws on five philosophers from the continental tradition Theodor Adorno Hannah Arendt Gilles Deleuze Jacques Derrida and Jacques Rancière in order to think about thinking and offer new and surprising answers to the question How can we educate students to think creatively and critically Despite their differences all of these philosophers challenge the modern understanding of thinking and offer original radical perspectives on it In very different ways each rejects the modern approach to thinking as well as the reduction of proper thought to rationality situating thinking in sociohistorical reality and relating it to political action Thinking they argue is not a natural automatic activity and the need to think has become all the more important as political reality seems to exhibit less thinking or to even celebrate thoughtlessness Bringing these continental conceptions of thinking to bear on the urgent need to educate young people to think against the current this book makes a significant contribution to educational theory and political philosophy one that is particularly relevant in today's anti intellectual climate

Confucian Philosophy for Contemporary Education Charlene Tan, 2020-05-28 Most people would not associate Confucian philosophy with contemporary education After all the former is an ancient Chinese tradition and the latter is a modern phenomenon But this book shows otherwise by explaining how millennia old Confucian ideas and practices can inform inspire and improve school administration teaching and learning today Drawing upon major Confucian texts such as the Analects and Mencius as well as influential thinkers such as Confucius Zhu Xi and Empress Xu the various chapters address current educational issues and challenges such as the following What roles do schools play in fighting the coronavirus pandemic How can humanity resolve the climate emergency What more should school leaders do to promote education for girls Is there more to lifelong learning than just skills upgrading What is missing in the existing frameworks on 21st century competencies What new initiatives are needed to champion sustainable development Confucian Philosophy for Contemporary Education answers the above questions and more by presenting a Confucian model of education The author proposes a Confucian school where Dao a shared vision of human excellence is realised through a mindful learning centred action oriented and ultimately humanising form of education This book is a useful resource for academic researchers educators students and general readers on Confucian philosophy and its continual relevance for present day education

Liberalism Jan Narveson, Susan Dimock, 2013-03-09 No theory is more passionately and widely defined or decried than is liberalism in contemporary Anglo American philosophy But what is this theory on which so much ink is spilled This collection of original essays by leading specialists in political philosophy legal theory and economics offers answers to that question by exploring the theoretical commitments of liberals and some of the practical implications of their view Among the topics explored is the distinction between liberalism and conservatism and the degree to which liberals must be committed to neutrality individualism equality freedom and a contractarian theory of justification The practical implications of liberalism are further examined by considerations of the proper role of the liberal state in undertaking egalitarian redistribution the provision of public goods and retributive punishment The papers assembled by Narveson and Dimock will be of benefit to anyone working in the areas of political philosophy political theory or political economics

Social Equality Carina Fourie, Fabian Schuppert, Ivo Wallimann-Helmer, 2015 Is equality valuable This question dominates many discussions of social justice which tend to center on whether certain forms of distributive equality are valuable such as the equal distribution of primary social goods But these discussions often neglect what is known as social or relational equality Social equality suggests that equality is foremost about relationships and interactions between people rather than being primarily about distribution A number of philosophers have written about the significance of social equality and it has also played an important role in real life egalitarian movements such as feminism and civil rights movements However as it has been relatively neglected in comparison to the debates about distributive equality it requires much more theoretical attention This volume brings together a collection of ten original essays which present new analyses of social and relational equality in philosophy and political theory The essays analyze the nature of social equality as well as its relationship to justice and politics

Resemblance and Reality in Greek Thought Arum Park,2016-09-13 Resemblance and Reality in Greek Thought follows the construction of reality from Homer into the Hellenistic era and beyond Not only in didactic poetry or philosophical works but in practically all genres from the time of Homer onwards Greek literature has shown an awareness of the relationship between verbal art and the social historical or cultural reality that produces it an awareness that this relationship is an approximate one at best and a distorting one at worst This central theme of resemblance and its relationship to reality draws together essays on a range of Greek authors and shows how they are unified or allied in posing similar questions to classical literature

Rethinking Environmental Justice in Sustainable Cities Heather E. Campbell,Yushim Kim,Adam M. Eckerd,2015-05-15 As the study of environmental policy and justice becomes increasingly significant in today s global climate standard statistical approaches to gathering data have become less helpful at generating new insights and possibilities None of the conventional frameworks easily allow for the empirical modeling of the interactions of all the actors involved or for the emergence of outcomes unintended by the actors The existing frameworks account for the what but not for the why Heather E Campbell Yushim Kim and Adam Eckerd bring an innovative perspective to environmental justice research Their approach adjusts the narrower questions often asked in the study of environmental justice expanding to broader investigations of how and why environmental inequities occur Using agent based modeling ABM they study the interactions and interdependencies among different agents such as firms residents and government institutions Through simulation the authors test underlying assumptions in environmental justice and discover ways to modify existing theories to better explain why environmental injustice occurs Furthermore they use ABM to generate empirically testable hypotheses which they employ to check if their simulated findings are supported in the real world using real data The pioneering research on environmental justice in this text will have effects on the field of environmental policy as a whole For social science and policy researchers this book explores how to employ new and experimental methods of inquiry on challenging social problems and for the field of environmental justice the authors demonstrate how ABM helps illuminate the complex social and policy interactions that lead to both environmental justice and injustice

The Trouble With Passion Cheryl Hall,2013-01-22 Political theorists have long argued that passion has no place in the political realm where reason reigns supreme But is this dichotomy between reason and passion sustainable Does it underestimate the indispensable role of passion in a fully democratic society Drawing upon Plato Rousseau and contemporary feminist theorists Cheryl Hall argues that passion is an essential component of a just political community and that the need to educate passion together with reason is paramount Trouble with Passion provides a compelling defense of the crucial place of passion in politics

Confucian Ren and Feminist Ethics of Care Lijun

Yuan,2019-05-28 The rehabilitation of Confucian tradition raised new challenges to Chinese feminist thinkers Can a Confucian ideal of reciprocity help women realize their equality What is the hope for Chinese women seeking a social ideal of equality given the growing gender gap in the current economic development of China Yuan argues Confucianism cannot help unless it is integrated with feminism In this book Yuan explores why gendered stratifications perpetuated so deeply in today s China through the influences of Confucian cultural tradition but reading early Confucian texts as a cosmological vision of Ren with Dao and ontological oneness as a whole that is the unity of heaven earth and humanism we might reclaim Confucian egalitarian aspects to develop its openness for gender equity with integration of feminist critical care ethics Throughout the book Yuan provides multiple perspectives of comparison relational self vs power differentials gender roles differences vs political demand for equality and individual reciprocity vs connection based reciprocity etc to embrace inclusive methodology and caring democracy We see a great hope to break through stereotypes of binary thinking of Minben people oriented and Minzhu autonomous democracy gender division of labor reason and emotion etc Yuan argues we should integrate feminist critical thoughts of global justice care with early Confucianism since both traditions emphasize caring relationships in humanity and interdependency between social individuals within and beyond their communities in a global scale Importantly the integration enlarges our philosophical visions of how cultural traditions can be undeniable sources for strengthening contemporary social ideas of humanity democracy equality and freedom for all
