Equity And Efficiency In Economic Development Essays In Honour Of Benjamin Higgins:

Equity and Efficiency in Economic Development Donald J. Savoie, Irving Brecher, 1992-10-16 The ideological foundations of the contributors range from personalized neo Marxism through extreme centre neo Keynesianism to hard line neoclassical mathematical economics Despite this diversity there is a surprising degree of consensus No contributor advocates centralized planning and none expects a free market to cure all economic ills Opinions vary as to how well the market actually works but all agree that equity and efficiency are essential goals which most consider to be complementary rather than mutually exclusive In the concluding chapter it is suggested that current economic problems are caused not so much by government intervention as by the nature of that intervention The authors believe that the recent ideological convergence may lead to a new paradigm a theory of the optimal blend of market and management that will be flexible enough to deal with the varying conditions of diverse societies thus simplifying the task of creating a smooth running global economy The contributors are Irma Adelman Mark Blaug Kenneth Boulding Irving Brecher Albert Breton John S Chipman Andr Gunder Frank Martha Fuentes Frank Niles Hansen Murray C Kemp Robin Marris Richard Musgrave Walt Rostow Donald J Savoie Nicholas Spulber and Paul Streeten Higgins himself contributes a chapter on basic concepts and collaborates with Donald Savoie on the final chapter

Equity and Efficiency in Economic Development Benjamin Howard Higgins, 1992 Argues that the collapse of Eastern European socialism may favour ideological convergence between divergent economic systems and lead to blend of market and planned systems capable to deal with the varying conditions of diverse societies

Visiting Grandchildren Donald J. Savoie, 2006-01-01 Visiting Grandchildren looks to history accidents of geography and to the workings of national political and administrative institutions to explain the relative underdevelopment of the Maritime provinces

A New Driver of Regional Sustainability in Japan Akihiro Otsuka, 2021-09-17 This book highlights the roles of inter regional networks in regional economies to explore the drivers of sustained regional economic growth Many industrialized countries are currently undergoing a period of population decline To enhance sustainability in the regional economy it is necessary to increase productivity and improve energy efficiency This book provides new approaches to describing the economic effects of inter regional networks which are key to enhancing regional economic growth using productivity analysis In addition it also furnishes considerable evidence on the formation of high speed transportation infrastructure Traditional studies on agglomeration economies have focused on external economies that occur in spatially limited areas and have not considered agglomeration economies from a broader perspective i e from the perspective of inter regional networks In particular recent studies have identified that the actual spatial range that would benefit from agglomeration economies is broader than that covered by conventional studies This volume explains the phenomenon using Alonso s concept of borrowed size This is the first book to show the impact of inter regional networks on Japan s regional economy using the concept of the borrowed size effect Based on empirical evidence the roles of inter regional networks are determined in the context of the regional economy that faces population decline and environmental constraints A deeper consideration of the analytical methods and understanding the results of detailed analyses will make it possible to propose desirable regional economic policies in the face of population decline This book thus provides valuable insights into the regional economic development of Japan which is particularly pertinent to other countries with similar land structures

Inclusive Growth And Development In The 21st Century: A Structural And Institutional Analysis Of China And India Dilip Dutta, 2014-03-10 Using case studies of both China and India this book reinforces the fact that the processes of economic growth and development are dynamic and organic in the sense that structural and institutional elements are not only interrelated but also constantly changing in their patterns of interactions more so during the transitional period of both countries Inclusiveness or its lack in some specific socio economic sector context geographical region state or economy as a whole is critically analysed using recent data on both the countries from different sources

Regional Development Theories and Their Application Benjamin Higgins, 2017-07-12 Throughout the world today former nation states as disparate as Yugoslavia Somalia and Canada have either disintegrated or threaten to splinter into regions The conflicts are economic social ethnic linguistic religious political and cultural Higgins and Savoie analyze the reasons for these conflicts and show why attempts to eliminate regional disparities within nations have been largely unsuccessful This volume is a highly readable comprehensive survey of the literature and current debates in the fields of regional economics development policy and planning

Fire and the Full Moon David Webster, 2010-01-01 The history of Canada's postwar foreign policy is dominated by Cold War narratives the Gouzenko Affair UN peacekeeping missions and the Cuban Missile Crisis By contrast the story of Canada's response to decolonization in the Global South is less well known Fire and the Full Moon explores Canadian Indonesian relations to determine whether Canada's postwar foreign policy was guided by an overarching set of principles Canada a loyal member of the Western alliance wanted developing countries to follow a non revolutionary model of decolonization and paid little attention to violations of human rights Webster's reassessment of Canada's foreign policy objectives in Indonesia and of its own national image will appeal to students of diplomatic history interested in Asia and the developing world

Regional Economic Development Benjamin Higgins, Donald J.

Savoie, 2017-09-05 Originally published in 1988 Leading international researchers in regional economic development have contributed an integrated set of chapters reviewing the whole field and taking stock of current thinking The book is in honour of François Perroux the father of regional development theory whose contributions to two important concepts in economics time and space have been substantial The book comprises five parts Part one covers Perroux's work in general and on growth poles in particular Part two deals with the politics of place population and regional development techniques for regional policy analysis and a neoclassical approach to regional economics In part three the Canadian scene is reviewed at national and regional levels In part four chapters on urban development small and medium size cities and capital grants deal with the experiences of other countries Part five concludes the book with a chapter on growth poles optimal size of cities and regional disparities and government intervention Concise Biographical Companion to Index Islamicus Wolfgang Behn, 2006-03-01

This second of the three volume Who's Who in Islamic Studies presents the scholarly world at long last with its own biographical encyclopaedia Taking as a starting point the inventory of authors from the renowned Index Islamicus the author Wolfgang Behn Berlin has systematically collected numerous data on the lives and works of the tens of thousands of authors listed in the Index Islamicus from 1665 to 1980 This Biographical Companion will be an indispensable reference tool for the serious student and scholar of Islamic Studies It enables the user to quickly gain knowledge on the life work and professional background of almost every major and minor author and thus to place each author in his/her proper perspective A tremendous achievement and a true must for every library Higher Education, Public Good and Markets Jandhyala B. G. Tilak, 2017-10-16 This book critically examines some of the major trends in the development of higher education It demonstrates how in the context of liberalisation globalisation and marketisation the crisis in higher education has assumed different dimensions in all advanced and emerging societies The author shows how the state tends to slowly withdraw from the responsibility of higher education including in the arena of policy making or simply adopts a policy of laissez faire of non involvement which helps in the rapid unbridled growth of private sector in higher education The notion of higher education as a public good is under serious contestation in current times The book argues for the need to resurrect the compelling nature of higher education along with its several implications for public policy and planning while providing a broad portrayal of global developments comparative perspectives and key lessons The volume will be of interest to scholars and researchers of education political science public policy and administration governance development studies economics and those working in the higher education sectors think tanks policymakers as well as NGOs

Spatial Analysis in Health Geography Pavlos Kanaroglou, Eric Delmelle, 2016-03-09 Presenting current research on spatial epidemiology this book covers topics such as exposure chronic disease infectious disease accessibility to health care settings and new methods in Geographical Information Science and Systems For epidemiologists and for the management and administration of health care settings it is critical to understand the spatial dynamics of disease For instance it is crucial that hospital administrators develop an understanding of the flow of patients over time especially during an outbreak of a particular disease so they can plan for appropriate levels of staffing and to carry out adaptive prevention measures Furthermore understanding where and why a disease occurs at a certain geographic location is vital for decision makers to formulate policy to increase the accessibility to health services either by prevention or adding new facilities Spatial epidemiology relies increasingly on new methodologies such as clustering algorithms visualization and space time modelling the domain of Geographic Information Science Implementation of those techniques appears at an increasing pace in commercial Geographic Information Systems alongside more traditional techniques that are already part of such systems This book provides the latest methods in GI Science and their use in health related problems

Marketizing Education and Health in Developing Countries Christopher Colclough, 1997 This book draws on evidence from a large number of developing countries to assess the impact of market reforms on the provision of education and health services The contributors show that approaches that seek merely to pass more of their costs to consumers perform less well than is often claimed and that improved cost effectiveness of health and education systems requires far more than changes in the sources and mechanisms of obtaining finance

Sharing Higher Education's Promise beyond the Few in Sub-Saharan Africa Peter Darvas, Shang Gao, Yijun Shen, Bilal Bawany, 2017-11-15 Despite a spectacular expansion of the higher education sector in Sub Saharan Africa the supply of tertiary education has generally failed to keep pace with demand and the region continues to lag all other regions in terms of access to tertiary education This is in part a consequence of deeply entrenched patterns of inequitable access to higher education and the perpetuation of what researchers refer to as elite systems To date access to tertiary education in Sub Saharan Africa has unduly benefitted students drawn from the region s wealthiest households and overall enrollment remains disproportionately male and metropolitan These factors stifle the catalytic potential of higher education corroding its potential for driving economic growth and sustaining poverty reduction Instead patterns of access to tertiary education have generally reinforced and reproduced social inequality instead of eroding its pernicious social and economic effects This report aims to inform an improved understanding of equity in tertiary enrollment in Sub Saharan African countries and to examine the extent to which inequity functions as a bottleneck inhibiting the ability of African universities to effectively drive improvements in overall quality of life and economic competitiveness In our survey of the evidence we also aim to identify which policies most effectively address the challenge of promoting equity of access in SSA tertiary education systems In order to achieve these objectives the report collects generates and analyzes empirical evidence on patterns of equity examines the underlying causes of inequity and evaluates government policies for addressing inequity The Practice of Global History Matthias Middell, 2019-08-22 Over recent decades almost every area of historical study has seen its global turn from consumption to finance from politics to migration from social order to cultural patterns This volume reflects the vibrant state of global history scholarship in Europe and examines to what extent global history is practiced and conceptualised distinctively within Europe Drawing together contributions from scholars from France Germany Hungary the Netherlands Switzerland and the UK the book offers a sweeping overview of the state of the field In particular the contributors look at histories of colonialism and imperial expansion knowledge circulation and mobility across borders This book reflects the diversity of current scholarship on global and transnational history and will offer important insights for anyone interested in understanding the cutting edge of research in this area Mitigating Drought Impacts in Drylands

Federica Carfagna, Raffaello Cervigni, Pierre Fallavier, 2018-04-13 Drylands account for three quarters of Sub Saharan Africa s cropland two thirds of cereal production and four fifths of livestock holdings Today frequent and severe shocks especially droughts limit the livelihood opportunities available to millions of households and undermine efforts to eradicate poverty in the drylands Prospects for sustainable development of drylands are assessed in this book through the lens of resilience understood here to mean the ability of people to withstand and respond to droughts and other shocks An original model was developed expressly to consistently and coherently evaluate different type of interventions on the ground which provided a common framework to anticipate the scale of the challenges likely to arise in drylands as well as to generate insights into opportunities for addressing those challenges Such modeling framework consisted in a estimating the baseline vulnerability profiles of people living in drylands 2010 b estimate the evolution of vulnerability by 2030 under a range of assumptions c calculated the number of people affected by drought in the different administrative units of each country and d evaluate different types of interventions in agriculture and livestock for mitigating drought impact by calculating the potential for reducing the number of people affected for each scenario and conducting a simplified benefit cost B C analysis for each type of intervention For livestock simulation models were used to estimate the impacts of feed balances livestock production and household income resilience interventions under different climate scenarios For agriculture the DSSAT Decision Support System for Agrotechnology Transfer framework was used to assess the potential impact on yields likely to result from adoption of five crop farming technologies 1 drought tolerant varieties 2 heat tolerant varieties 3 additional fertilizer 4 agroforestry practices 5 irrigation 6 water harvesting techniques and selected combinations thereof

Beyond the Big Ditch Ashley Carse, 2014-10-24 A historical and ethnographic study of the conflict between global transportation and rural development as the two intersect at the Panama Canal In this innovative book Ashley Carse traces the water that flows into and out from the Panama Canal to explain how global shipping is entangled with Panama's cultural and physical landscapes By following container ships as they travel downstream along maritime routes and tracing rivers upstream across the populated watershed that feeds the canal he explores the politics of environmental management around a waterway that links faraway ports and markets to nearby farms forests cities and rural communities Carse draws on a wide range of ethnographic and archival material to show the social and ecological implications of transportation across Panama The Canal moves ships over an aquatic staircase of locks that demand an enormous amount of fresh water from the surrounding region Each passing ship drains 52 million gallons out to sea a volume comparable to the daily water use of half a million Panamanians Infrastructures like the Panama Canal Carse argues do not simply conquer nature they rework ecologies in ways that serve specific political and economic priorities Interweaving histories that range from the depopulation of the U S Canal Zone a century ago to road construction conflicts and water hyacinth invasions in canal waters the book illuminates the human and nonhuman actors that have come together at the margins of the famous trade route 2014 marks the 100th anniversary of the Panama Canal Beyond the Big Ditch calls us to consider how infrastructures are materially embedded in place producing environments with winners and losers

Trade and Development V. Balasubramanyam, David Greenaway, 1997-01-12 All of the papers included in this volume were presented at a conference held at Lancaster University and were subsequently revised in the light of the comments received from Professor Bhagwati and others The material in the essays is easily accessible to both professional economists and policy makers This volume brings together ten essays on topical issues in international economics Written by experts in the relevant fields each of the essays reviews the current debate on chosen issues and provides a basis for further research Each of the essays relate to policy issues on which Professor Bhagwati has written extensively

Effective and Efficient Organisations? Iris A. Hauswirth, 2007-05-22 This book develops a conceptual framework for the relationship between organisation and output and applies it to the analysis of German and British export support services These findings help to explain why one organisation may be different from another but equally effective and efficient and why no panacea for effective and efficient organisation has been found They also suggest angles from which existing organisations and blueprints of better organisations can be examined
