Stump,1996 Is science unified or disunified Over the last century the question has raised the interest and hackles of scientists philosophers historians and sociologists of science for at stake is how science and society fit together Recent years have seen a turn largely against the rhetoric of unity ranging from the praise of condensed matter physicists for disciplinary autonomy all the way to discussions in the humanities and social sciences that involve local history feminism multiculturalism postmodernism scientific relativism and realism and social constructivism Many of these varied aspects of the debate over the disunity of science are reflected in this volume which brings together a number of scholars studying science who otherwise have had little to say to each other feminist theorists philosophers of science sociologists of science How does the context of discovery shape knowledge What are the philosophical consequences of a disunified science Does for example an antirealism a realism or an arealism become defensible within a picture of local scientific knowledge What politics lies behind and follows from a picture of the world of science more like a quilt than a pyramid Who gains and loses if representation of science has standards that vary from place to place field to field and practitioner to practitioner Know the Risk Romney Duffey,John Saull,2002-11-22 We live in a technological world exposed to many risks and errors and the fear of death Know the Risk shows us how we can learn from the many errors and tragic accidents which have plagued our developing technological world This breakthrough volume presents a new concept and theory that shows how errors can and should be analyzed so that learning and experience are accounted for The authors show that by using a universal learning curve errors can be tracked and managed so that they are reduced to the smallest number possible The authors have devoted a number of years to gathering data analyzing theories relating to error reduction design improvement management of errors and assignment of cause The analyzed data relates to millions of errors They find a common thread between all technology related accidents and link all of these errors from the headline stories to the everyday accidents They challenge the reader to take a different look at the stream of threats risks dangers statistics and errors by presenting a new perspective The book makes use of detailed illustrations and explores many headline accidents which highlight human weaknesses in harnessing and exploiting the technology we have developed from the Titanic to Chernobyl Bhopal to Concorde the Mary Rose to the Paddington rail crash and examine errors over which we have little or no control By analyzing the vast data society has collected the authors show how the famous accidents and our everyday risks are related The authors prove the strength of their observations by comparing their findings to the recorded history of tragedies disasters accidents and incidents in chemical airline shipping rail automobile nuclear medical industrial and manufacturing technologies They also address the management of Quality and losses in production the search for zero defects and the avoidance of personal risk and danger Stresses the importance of a learning environment for safety improvement Places both quality and safety management in the same learning context Learn how to track and manage errors to reduce as quickly as possible
