Economic and Environmental Effects of Accelerated Tariff Liberalization in the Forest Products Sector David J. Brooks, 2001 Economic and Environmental Effects of Accelerated Tariff Liberalization in the Forest Products Sector David J. Brooks, 2001-02-01 A study by the Office of the U S Trade Representative USTR and the White House Council on Environmental Quality It assesses the incremental economic and environmental impacts resulting from changes in the timing and scope of forest products tariff reductions as proposed in the Accelerated Tariff Liberalization ATL initiative in forest products This initiative was proposed for agreement among member countries of the World Trade Organization WTO The analysis of environmental effects focuses on possible changes in timber harvest in the U S and worldwide and rests directly on an analysis of the economic trade production and consumption effects of the initiative Economic and environmental effects of Accelerated Tariff Liberalization in the forest products sector a study by the Office of the United States Trade Representative and the White House Council on Environmental Quality ,2001

Economic and Environmental Effects of Accelerated Tariff Liberalization in the Forest Products Sector ,2001 Global Effects of Accelerated Tariff Liberalization in the Forest Products Sector to 2010 Shushuai Zhu, 2002 General Technical Report PNW-GTR ,2001 107-1 Hearing: President Bush's Trade Agenda, Serial No. 107-2, March 7, 2001 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Ways and Means, 2001 President Bush's Trade Agenda United States. Congress. House. Committee on Ways and Means, 2001 Forest Economics Research at the Pacific Northwest Research Station to 2000 Donald F. Flora, 2003 The contributions for over 80 years by scientists at the Pacific Northwest Research Station to developments in economic theory economic tools policies and economic issues are summarized This is a story of progressive accomplishments set against a constantly changing background of economic and social events The Global Forest Products Model Joseph Buongiorno, 2003-02-24 The Global Forest Products Model GFPM book provides a complete introduction to this widely applied computer model The GFPM is a dynamic economic equilibrium model that is used to predict production consumption trade and prices of 14 major forest products in 180 interacting countries The book thoroughly documents the methods data and computer software of the model and demonstrates the model s usefulness in addressing international economic and environmental issues The Global Forest Products Model is written by an international multi disciplinary team and is ideal for graduate students and professionals in forestry natural resource economics and related fields It explains trends in world forest industries in the simplest terms by explaining the economic theory underlying the model It describes six applications of the GFPM three of which were commissioned by the Food Agriculture of the United Nations the USDA Forest Service and New Zealand Research The authors show how to apply the model to real issues such as the effects of the Asian economic crisis on the forest sector the effects of eliminating tariffs on international trade and production and the international effects of national environmental policies They provide complete explanations on how to use the GFPM software prepare the data make the forecasts and summarize the results with tables and graphs Comprehensive and rigorous description of the world forestry sector Written by an international multi disciplinary team Thorough description of data and methods In depth applications to modern economic and policy issues Detailed documentation of the computer software Suitable for students researchers and decision makers Vanishing Borders Hilary French, 2016-06-11 The world is shrinking faster than ever Goods money microbes pollution people and ideas are crossing boundaries ever more frequently The implications for our future and for the health of the planet are profound Vanishing Borders outlines the ecological challenges posed and then goes on to define the necessary strategies for tackling them Presently national governments are singularly ill equipped for tackling transitional environmental problems from ozone depletion to soaring trade in commodities such as timber problems which are climbing ever higher on the international political agenda Industrial and developing countries are on a collision course over climate change and water shortages are creating tensions in several parts of the world The author argues that only a worldwide commitment to strengthening treaties and institutions needed to integrate ecological considerations into the rules of global commerce holds out hope Over 200 international environmental treaties exist but most need more stringent conditions and enforcement and continuing support from NGO and business communities Significantly the digital revolution integral in itself to processes to globalization offers channels through which powerful coalitions can effect change The book provides a compelling and accessible analysis and a clear plan of action in pursuit of environmental stability Originally published in 2000 An Analysis of the Timber Situation in the United States: 1952 to 2050 Richard W. Haynes, 2003 The 2005 RPA Timber Assessment Update, 2007 Trade Liberalization and APEC Jiro Okamoto, 2004-02-26 Trade liberalization has swept over developing countries over the past few decades and its results have been argued about for the last few years This important new book presents useful insights into the experience of APEC countries that have gone through numerous liberalizing reforms in recent times Students researchers and readers generally interested in APEC economies will find this book a good addition to their bookshelves Institutions, Sustainability, and Natural Resources Shashi Kant, R. Albert Berry, 2006-01-17 A new economic theory rather than a new public policy based on old theory is needed to guide humanity toward sustainability Institutions are a critical dimension of sustainability and sustainable forest management and economic analysis of institutional dimension requires an inclusionist rather than an exclusionist approach This book provides a systematic critique of neoclassical economic approaches and their limitations with respect to sustainability Leading institutional economists discuss theoretical perspectives about appropriate institutions for sustainable forest management markets for environmental services deforestation and specialization and some country experiences about Kyoto Protocol international trade biodiversity conservation and sustainable forest management in general The book includes the ideas from old as well as new institutional economics and discusses the main features of Post Newtonian economics This book follows a companion book Economics Sustainability and Natural Resources Economics of

Sustainable Forest Management volume 1 of the series Toward a US-Indonesia Free Trade Agreement Gary Clyde Hufbauer, Samsu Rahardja, 2007 Indonesia is the largest Muslim country in the world Would a free trade agreement FTA with the country be beneficial both economically and politically to the United States What kind of benefit could Indonesia expect This book presents a case for improved trade relations between Indonesia and the United States and recommends advancing exploratory talks toward a US Indonesia FTA The authors present a detailed study of the stakes involved in the various areas of the proposed negotiation and estimate the FTA's potential for trade creation trade diversion and welfare under different scenarios

Handbook of Forest Resource Economics Shashi Kant, Janaki Alavalapati, 2014-04-03 It is increasingly recognized that the economic value of forests is not merely the production of timber Forests provide other key ecosystem services such as being sinks for greenhouse gases hotspots of biodiversity tourism and recreation They are also vitally important in preventing soil erosion and controlling water supplies as well as providing non timber forest products and supporting the livelihoods of many local people This handbook provides a detailed comprehensive and broad coverage of forest economics including traditional forest economics of timber production economics of environmental role of forests and recent developments in forest economics The chapters are grouped into six parts fundamental topics in forest resource economics economics of forest ecosystems economics of forests climate change and bioenergy economics of risk uncertainty and natural disturbances economics of forest property rights and certification and emerging issues and developments Written by leading environmental forest and natural resource economists the book represents a definitive reference volume for students of economics environment forestry and natural resource economics and management United States Negotiating Objectives for the WTO Seattle Ministerial Meeting United States. Legal, Institutional, and Economic Indicators of Forest Conservation and Sustainable Management, 2005 This review looks at the Nation's legal institutional and economic capacity to promote forest conservation and sustainable resource management It focuses on 20 indicators of Criterion Seven of the so called Montreal Process and involves an extensive search and synthesis of information from a variety of sources It identifies ways to fill information gaps and improve the usefulness of several indicators It concludes that there is substantial information about the application of such capacities although that application is widely dispersed among agencies and private interests which in turn has led to differing interpretations of the indicators Individual chapters identify a need to further develop the conceptual foundation on which many of the indicators are predicated While many uncertainties in the type and accuracy of information are brought to light the review clearly indicates that legal institutional and economic capacities to promote sustainability are large and widely available in both the public and private sectors P vi Federal Register, 1999-06-24
