Geography emphasizes key aspects that are fundamental to ensuring an efficient rural urban transformation. Critical among these are land as the most important resource and well functioning land markets. Regardless of the stage of urbanization, flexible and forward looking institutions that help the efficient functioning of land markets are the bedrock of successful urbanization strategies. In particular, institutional arrangements for allocating land rights and for managing and regulating land use have significant implications for how cities deliver agglomeration economies and improve the welfare of their residents. Property rights, well functioning land markets and the management and servicing of land required to accommodate urban expansion and provide trunk infrastructure are all topics that arise as regions progress from incipient urbanization to medium and high density. Proceedings of the 1993 Northeastern Recreation Research Symposium Gail A.
