Black Women Writers of Louisiana: Telling Their Stories Ann B. Dobie, 2022-01-03 Louisiana has been home by birth or adoption to numerous literary greats But among that talent there's an under celebrated cohort Black women Due to lack of education and opportunity their record is fairly brief but over the past century they have been responsible for a flowering of literature that portrays the Black experience through poetry fiction plays essays and journalism The writers profiled here have not gone wholly unrecognized though far from it Some have been honored with prestigious awards and have found a readership large enough to put them at the forefront of the national literary scene Beginning with Alice Ruth Dunbar Nelson a fiery activist columnist and storyteller in the late nineteenth century the work extends to Fatima Shaik named 2021 Louisiana Writer of the Year Join Ann B Dobie on this celebration of Louisiana literary talent

The Virginia Quarterly Review ,2000 Encyclopedia of African American Women Writers Yolanda Williams Page, 2007-01-30 African American women writers published extensively during the Harlem Renaissance and have been extraordinarily prolific since the 1970s This book surveys the world of African American women writers Included are alphabetically arranged entries on more than 150 novelists poets playwrights short fiction writers autobiographers essayists and influential scholars The Encyclopedia covers established contemporary authors such as Toni Morrison and Gloria Naylor along with a range of neglected and emerging figures Each entry is written by an expert contributor and provides a brief biography a discussion of major works a survey of the author's critical reception and primary and secondary bibliographies Literature students will value this book for its exploration of African American literature while social studies students will appreciate its examination of social issues through literature African American women writers have made an enormous contribution to our culture Many of these authors wrote during the Harlem Renaissance a particularly vital time in African American arts and letters while others have been especially active since the 1970s an era in which works by African American women are adapted into films and are widely read in book clubs Literature by African American women is important for its aesthetic qualities and it also illuminates the social issues which these authors have confronted This book conveniently surveys the lives and works of African American women writers Included are alphabetically arranged entries on more than 150 African American women novelists poets playwrights short fiction writers autobiographers essayists and influential scholars Some of these figures such as Toni Morrison and Gloria Naylor are among the most popular authors writing today while others have been largely neglected or are recently emerging Each entry provides a biography a discussion of major works a survey of the writer's critical reception and primary and secondary bibliographies The Encyclopedia closes with a selected general bibliography Students and general readers will welcome this guide to the rich achievement of African American women Literature students will value its exploration of the works of these writers while social studies students will appreciate its examination of the social issues these women confront in their works

Trouble the Water Jerry Washington Ward, 1997 The haunting refrain of the anonymous spiritual Were You Dere the classic rhymes of Frances Ellen Watkins Harper's Bury Me in a Free Land the jazz beat of Maya Angelou's Times Square Shoeshine Composition and the exquisite balance of Etheridge Knight's haikus the entire rich and varied tradition of African American poetry appears in this superb anthology unified throughout by the authenticity of experiences wrung straight from the soul Trouble the Water the first collection to cover close to 300 years of poetic achievement in 400 important works by African American writers features women as half the contributors and includes nearly 50 poems from the 1980s and 1990s

The Greenwood Encyclopedia of African American Literature: I-N Hans A. Ostrom, J. David Macey, 2005 Designed to meet the needs of high school students undergraduates and general readers this encyclopedia is the most comprehensive reference available on African American literature from its origins to the present Other works include many brief entries or offer extended biographical sketches of a limited selection of writers This encyclopedia surpasses existing references by offering full and current coverage of a vast range of authors and topics While most of the entries are on individual authors the encyclopedia gathers together information about the genres and geographical and cultural environments in which these writers have worked and the social political and aesthetic movements in which they have participated Thus the encyclopedia gives special attention to the historical and cultural forces that have shaped African American writing Publisher Arkansas Review, 2020
