Elements of Shona (Zezuru Dialect) George Fortune, 1957      Social Motivations for Codeswitching Carol Myers-Scotton, 1993 Codeswitching may be broadly defined as the use of two or more linguistic varieties in the same conversation Using data from multilingual African context Carol Myers Scotton advances a theoretical argument which aims at a general explanation of the motivations underlying the phenomenon She treats codeswitching as a type of skilled performance not as the alternative strategy of a person who cannot carry on a conversation in the language in which it began Speakers exploit the socio psychological values associated with different linguistic varieties in a particular speech community by switching codes speakers negotiate a change in social distance between themselves and other participants in a conversation Switching between languages has much in common with making stylistic choices within the same language it is as if bilingual and multilingual speakers have an additional style at their command when they engage in codeswitching _

Vowel Epenthesis in Loanword Adaptation Christian Uffmann, 2012-02-14 While it is commonly assumed that languages epenthesize context free default vowels this book shows that in loanword adaptation several strategies are found which interact intricately Large loanword corpora in Shona Sranan Samoan and Kinyarwanda are analyzed statistically and the patterns are modeled in a version of Optimality Theory which introduces constraints on autosegmental representations The focus of this book is on English loans in Shona providing an in depth empirical and formal analysis of epenthesis in this language The analysis of additional languages allows for solid typological generalizations In addition a diachronic study of epenthesis in Sranan provides insight into how insertion patterns develop historically In all languages analyzed default epenthesis exists alongside vowel harmony and spreading from adjacent consonants While different languages prefer different strategies these strategies are subject to the same set of constraints however In spreading feature markedness plays an important role alongside sonority We suggest universal markedness scales which combine with constraints on autosegmental configurations to model the patterns found in individual languages and at the same time to constrain the range of possible crosslinguistic variation tribes The volume deploys Pauline key symbols Christ the Cross of Christ Ambassador New Creation and Baptism as epistemological lenses in promoting identity tags that go beyond ethnicity For these symbols to be effective the author proposes setting up of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC refraining from using ethnic offensive language introduction of Ndebele and Shona languages in schools substituting ethnic provincial names with neutral ones substituting ethnic registration system of people with a neutral one and the devolution of power
