M. Bauer, 1995 This book analyzes in terms of branching the pervasive reorganization of Latin syntactic and morphological structures in the development from Latin to French a shift can be observed from the archaic left branching structures which Latin inherited from Proto Indo European to modern right branching equivalents Brigitte L M Bauer presents a detailed analysis of this development based on the theoretical discussion and definition of branching and head Subsequently she relates the diachronic shift to psycholinguistic evidence arguing that the difficulty of left branching complex structures as reflected in their painstaking and delayed acquisition accounts for the extensive typological shift from left to right branching that took place in Latin French and the other Indo European languages The author uses data from child language acquisition studies to support her thought provoking claim

Market for French Modernist Art David Challis, 2021-08-04 Foreign Currency Volatility and the Market for French Modernist Art examines how the collapse of the French franc in the decades following the First World War activated powerful push and pull economic forces that compelled French art collectors to monetise their collections while simultaneously elevating the purchasing power of international art collectors These factors are shown to have played a significant and previously under recognised role in the large scale translocation of French modernist art that radically accelerated its commercial and critical reception across the globe and positioned it at the apex of the newly established hierarchy of modern art Medical Imperialism in French North Africa Richard C. Parks, 2017-10 French colonial Tunisia in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries witnessed shifting concepts of identity including varying theories of ethnic essentialism a drive toward modernization and imperialist interpretations of science and medicine As French colonizers worked to realize ideas of a modern city and empire they undertook a program to significantly alter the physical and social realities by which the people of Tunisia lived often in ways that continue to influence life today Medical Imperialism in French North Africa demonstrates the ways in which diverse members of the Jewish community of Tunis received rejected or reworked myriad imperial projects devised to foster the social corporeal and moral regeneration of their community Buttressed by the authority of science and medicine regenerationist schemes such as urban renewal projects and public health reforms were deployed to destroy and recast the cultural social and political lives of Jewish colonial subjects Richard C Parks expands on earlier scholarship to examine how notions of race class modernity and otherness shaped these efforts Looking at such issues as the plasticity of identity the collaboration and contention between French and Tunisian Jewish communities Jewish women s negotiation of social power relationships in Tunis and the razing of the city s Jewish quarter Parks fills the gap in current literature by focusing on the broader transnational context of French actions in colonial Tunisia

Leonard, 2019-12-26 Conceived as both a vehicle to national prestige and as a civilizing mission the second French colonial empire 1830 1962 challenged soldiers scholars and administrators to understand societies radically different from their own The resultant networks of anthropological inquiry however did not have this effect Rather they opened pathways to political and intellectual independence framed in the language of social science and in the process upended the colonial political system and reshaped the nature of human inquiry in France While still unequal French colonial rule in Africa revealed the durability and strength of non European modes of thought In this influential new study historian Douglas W Leonard examines the political and intellectual repercussions of French efforts to understand and to dominate colonial Africa through the use of anthropology From General Louis Faidherbe in the 1840s to politician Jacques Soustelle and sociologist Pierre Bourdieu in the 1950s these French thinkers sowed the seeds of colonial destruction Report of the Commissioner of Education United States. The Routledge Companion to the French Revolution in World History Alan Forrest, Matthias Middell, 2015-09-16 The Routledge Companion to the French Revolution in World History engages with some of the most recent trends in French revolutionary scholarship by considering the Revolution in its global context Across seventeen chapters an international team of contributors examine the impact of the Revolution not only on its European neighbours but on Latin America North America and Africa assess how far events there impacted on the Revolution in France and suggest something of the Revolution's enduring legacy in the modern world The Companion views the French Revolution through a deliberately wide lens The first section deals with its global repercussions from the Mediterranean to the Caribbean and includes a discussion of major insurrections such as those in Haiti and Venezuela Three chapters then dissect the often complex and entangled relations with other revolutionary movements in seventeenth century Britain the American colonies and Meiji Japan The focus then switches to international involvement in the events of 1789 and the circulation of ideas people goods and capital In a final section contributors throw light on how the Revolution was and is still remembered across the globe with chapters on Russia China and Australasia An introduction by the editors places the Revolution in its political historical and historiographical context The Routledge Companion to the French Revolution in World History is a timely and important contribution to scholarship of the French Revolution Museum of painting and sculpture or collection of the principal pictures, statues and bas-reliefs Jean Duchesne, Space in Diachrony Silvia Luraghi, Tatiana Nikitina, Chiara Zanchi, 2017-08-14 Space is a fundamental dimension of human life and is pervasive in human experience Research on space has highlighted the possible asymmetrical nature of spatial relations Differences in the encoding of goals and sources of motion are a case in point and cross linguistic coding tendencies show that path is less frequently flagged by a dedicated case than goal source origin and static location locative Interestingly such asymmetries may correlate with certain types of landmark as in the case of toponyms or of animate entities Even though these issues have been focused upon both in typological and psycholinguistic research they remain largely open The papers in this collection aim to show that a diachronic approach may shed light on the way in which asymmetries in the space domain come about over time thus contributing to the clarification of synchronically puzzling facts
