French Cities In The Nineteenth Century:

French Cities in the Nineteenth Century John M. Merriman, 1981 This book brings together some of the most significant and influential recent work in French urban history The trend of historical thinking and research today typified by such books as Montaignou is to focus on the surviving demographic and socio economic documentation of a given period or society as indicators of the changes undergone by the people of that time or place Such is the direction of this important new study of the urban experience of France in the nineteenth century Miraculously the society and the era have survived almost intact in the wealth of extant demographic and socio economic data census figures police and other official documents urban surveys marketing records maps first hand accounts and diaries genre paintings photographs and contemporary periodicals The contributors are a group of noted scholars and each of their essays assesses a different aspect of the relations between urbanisation structural change politics and the lives of ordinary men and women Routledge Revivals: French Cities in the Nineteenth Century (1981) John Merriman, 2018-02-01 Originally published in 1981 French Cities in the Nineteenth Century analyses large scale processes of social change and looks at how this affected the growth of towns and cities of nineteenth century France The book addresses how this change affected the politics of life in France during the nineteenth century as well as how the city was organised Urbanization created new uses of space and new concerns for the people that lived among them and the book looks at how social change was a collective experience for the people of France and how this transformed the societies in which they lived The Growth of Cities in the Nineteenth Century Adna Ferrin Weber, 1899 French Cities in the Nineteenth Century 1981 John Merriman, 2020-03-08 Originally published in 1981 French Cities in the Nineteenth Century analyses large scale processes of social change and how this affected the growth of towns and cities of nineteenth century France The book looks at how this change affected the politics life of France during this period and looks in depth at how the city was organised and how it worked Urbanization created new uses of space and new concerns for the people that lived among them The book looks at social change as a collective experience for the people of France and how this transformed the societies in which they lived France and Women, 1789-1914 James McMillan, Professor James F Mcmillan, 2002-01-08 France and Women 1789 1914 is the first book to offer an authoritative account of women s history throughout the nineteenth century James McMillan author of the seminal work Housewife or Harlot offers a major reinterpretation of the French past in relation to gender throughout these tumultuous decades of revolution and war This book provides a challenging discussion of the factors which made French political culture so profoundly sexist and in particular it shows that many of the myths about progress and emancipation associated with modernisation and the coming of mass politics do not stand up to close scrutiny It also reveals the conservative nature of the republican left and of the ingrained belief throughout french society that women should remain within the domestic sphere James McMillan considers the role played by French men and women in the politics culture and society of their country throughout the 1800s The

Cambridge Illustrated History of France Colin Jones, 1999-05-28 Combining superb illustration with authoritative text this is a major political and social history of France from earliest times to the eve of the new millennium Colin Jones offers not only an expert's account of political social and cultural developments but also a fresh and full interpretation of French history The Cambridge Illustrated History of France places an innovative emphasis on the importance of issues of regionalism class gender and race in the French heritage Ranging across social political geographical and cultural lines from prehistoric menhirs to the Pompidou Centre from Louis XIV's Versailles to twentieth century high rises from Marie Antoinette to Marie Claire the author provides a host of lively and penetrating new insights into the shaping of the modern nation Europe

1850-1914 Jonathan Sperber, 2014-01-14 This innovative survey of European history from the middle of the nineteenth century to the outbreak of the First World War tells the story of an era of outward tranquillity that was also a period of economic growth social transformation political contention and scientific and artistic innovation During these years the foundations of our present urban industrial society were laid the five Great Powers vied in peaceful and violent fashion for dominance in Europe and throughout the world and the darker forces that were to dominate the twentieth century violent nationalism totalitarianism racism ethnic cleansing began to make themselves felt Jonathan Sperber sets out developments in this period across the entire European continent from the Atlantic to the Urals from the Baltic to the Mediterranean To help students of European history grasp the main dynamics of the period he divides the book into three overlapping sections covering the periods from 1850 to 1871 1871 to 1890 and 1890 to 1914 In each period he identifies developments and tendencies that were common in varying degrees to the whole of Europe while also pointing the unique qualities of specific regions and individual countries Throughout his argument is supported by illustrative material tables charts case studies and other explanatory features and there is a detailed bibliography to help students to explore further in those areas that interest them

Cities in the Modern Era, 1850-1914 Friedrich Lenger, 2012-08-17 In European Cities in the Modern Era 1850-1914 Friedrich Lenger offers an account of Europe's major cities in a period crucial for the development of much of their present shape and infrastructure Cities and the Making of Modern Europe, 1750-1914 Andrew Lees, Lynn Hollen

Lees, 2007-12-13 A survey of urbanization and the making of modern Europe from the mid eighteenth century to the First World War The Decline of Infant and Child Mortality Carlo A. Corsini, Pier Paolo Viazzo, 2023-12-11 Of the many changes that have taken place in Western society during the past two centuries few have been more significant than the steep fall in infant and child mortality However the timing and causes of the decline are still poorly understood While some scholars attribute it to general improvements in living standards others emphasize the role of social intervention and public health reforms Written by specialists from several disciplinary fields the twelve essays in this book break entirely new ground by providing a long term perspective that challenges some deep rooted ideas about the European experience of mortality decline and may help explain the forces and causal relationships behind the still tragic incidence of preventable infant and child deaths in many parts of the world today This book will become a standard work for students and researchers in demography social and economic history population geography and the history of medicine and it will be of interest to anyone concerned with current debates on the policies to be adopted to curb infant and child mortality in both developed and developing countries

The Margins of City Life John M. Merriman, 1991-04-18 The Margins of Urban Life brings to life the floating worlds of the periphery in nineteenth century French cities the world of beggars the most miserable prostitutes ragpickers casual labor and unwanted people the location of slaughterhouses gas factories tanneries and increasingly even executions The men and women of the suburbs and faubourgs were long identified by urban elites and government officials with the turbulent dangerous classes who might one day fall upon the wealthy quarters of the center Merriman analyzes and evokes the social class neighborhood cultural and political solidarities the shared sense of not belonging that made the marginal people in peripheral places emerge as contenders for political power His investigation explores the world of the Catalan agricultural laborers the textile workers of the high town of Reims the bitter rivalry between Catholic and Protestant workers in the faubourge of Nimes the haven for under and unemployed proletarians in Ingouville above Le Havre and France's strange frontier town Napoléon Vendée

Bourgeois Europe, 1850-1914 Jonathan Sperber, 2022-07-19 Now in its second edition Bourgeois Europe 1850-1914 is a general history of Europe from the middle of the nineteenth century to the outbreak of the First World War a successor to Revolutionary Europe 1780-1850 also available from Routledge The book offers wide geographic coverage of the European continent from the Arctic Circle to the Mediterranean and from the Atlantic to the Urals Topical coverage is equally broad including major trends and events in international relations and domestic politics in social and gender structures in the economy and in the natural and social sciences the humanities religion and the arts For this second edition the text has been completely revised the latest directions in historical research considered the further reading brought up to date and special attention has been paid to Europe's global interactions with the rest of the world and the structures and norms of gender relations Tables charts maps and other explanatory features help students explore further in the areas that interest them Written in sprightly jargon free clear prose the book is ideal for use as a text in secondary school or university courses as well as for general readers wishing to gain an overview of a crucial era of modern European history

Nobility and patrimony in modern France Elizabeth C. Macknight, 2018-03-30 This study of tangible and intangible cultural heritage explains the significance of nobles' conservationist traditions for public engagement with the history of France During the French Revolution nobles property was seized destroyed or sold off by the nation State intervention during the nineteenth century meant historic monuments became protected under law in the public interest The Journ es du Patrimoine created in 1984 by the French Ministry for Culture became a Europe wide calendar event in 1991 Each year millions of French and international visitors enter residences and museums to admire France s aristocratic cultural heritage Drawing on archival evidence from across the country the book presents a compelling account of power interest and emotion in family dynamics and nobles relations with rural and urban communities The Red City John M. Merriman,1985-09-05 This imaginative study recaptures 100 years in the life of Limoges France s first socialist city at a time when Limoges rode high on the crest of every wave of social political and industrial change The story of this single city is the story of urban transformation and political radicalism in 19th century France of the struggle between tradition and modernity in French society and politics that took place not only within cities but also between cities and the countryside Here Merriman offers vivid portraits of particular social groups neighborhoods and events in 19th century Limoges to describe and analyze the impact of large scale industrialization the social bases of political conflict and the eventual emergence of a powerful working class The central characters of Merriman s study are the very ordinary denizens of this extraordinary city its butchers porcelain workers laundresses priests through whom one sees the effects of urbanization and industrialization on their quarters work religion culture and political life The close of the 19th century marked the end of one of France s last truly revolutionary situations concludes Merriman as growing centralization dampened revolutionary zeal and the 20th century ushered in a combination of industrial capitalism and a powerful state that was seemingly invulnerable to revolutionary challenges from the working class France From 1851 to the Present R. Célestin,E. DalMolin,2016-09-23 Bringing together history literature and popular culture this book provides a cultural history of France from a period of dominance in the mid 19th century to one of decline or crisis in the first few years of the third millennium Contains both chronological narrative and a selection of primary documents in translation French Literature in/and the City ,2023-11-27 Since 1974 the French Literature Series publishes essays in conjunction with the theme of the bi annual French Literature Conference sponsored by the Department of Languages Literatures and Cultures of the University of South Carolina Columbia South Carolina USA In addition to the scholarly papers selected for publication by the Editorial Board it also accepts notes on the conference topic Contributors should note that FLS does not publish conference proceedings Rather submissions must be revised for publication and undergo blind peer review All communications concerning the French Literature Series should be addressed to the Editor Jeanne Garane garanejmailbox sc edu The French Literature Series is published by BRILL Rodopi For communications concerning standing orders or back volumes please check the series website at www.brill.com/fls This series has been closed in 2020 The Nineteenth Century and After ,1923 Population and Society in Western European Port Cities, C.1650-1939 Richard Lawton,W. Robert Lee,2002-01-01 This volume brings together ten original papers on the population dynamics and development of Western European port cities In a substantial overview chapter Lawton and Lee examine Port Development and the Demographic Dynamics of European Urbanisation setting in context the individual case studies that follow These studies of Bremen Cork Genoa Glasgow Hamburg Liverpool Malm Nantes Portsmouth and Trieste provide an important enhancement of our understanding of the particular socio economic and demographic characteristics of port cities and point to the existence of a particular port demographic regime They emphasize the central importance of the high proportion of unskilled and casual labor the susceptibility of cyclical employment the inflated risk of epidemic infection and other demographic and economic factors specific to port cities

The Riviera, Exposed Stephen L. Harp, 2022-05-15 A sweeping social and environmental history The Riviera Exposed illuminates the profound changes to the physical space that we know as the quintessential European tourist destination Stephen L Harp uncovers the behind the scenes impact of tourism following World War II both on the environment and on the people living and working on the Riviera particularly North African laborers who not only did much of the literal rebuilding of the Riviera but also suffered in that process Outside of Paris the Riviera has been the most visited region in France depending almost exclusively on tourism as its economic lifeline Until recently we knew a great deal about the tourists but much less about the social and environmental impacts of their activities or about the life stories of the North African workers upon whom the Riviera s prosperity rests The technologies embedded in roads airports hotels water lines sewers beaches and marinas all required human intervention and travelers were encouraged to disregard this intervention Harp s sharp analysis explores the impacts of massive construction and public works projects revealing the invisible infrastructure of tourism its environmental effects and the immigrants who built the Riviera The Riviera Exposed unearths a gritty history one of human labor and ecological degradation that forms the true foundation of the glamorous Riviera of tourist mythology
