The Publishers Weekly ,1891 Melodramatic Voices: Understanding Music Drama Sarah Hibberd,2016-04-22 The genre of melodrama grand spectacle that emerged in the boulevard theatres of Paris in the 1790s and which was quickly exported abroad expressed the moral struggle between good and evil through a drama of heightened emotions Physical gesture mise en scene and music were as important in communicating meaning and passion as spoken dialogue The premise of this volume is the idea that the melodramatic aesthetic is central to our understanding of nineteenth century music drama broadly defined as spoken plays with music operas and other hybrid genres that combine music with text and or image This relationship is examined closely and its evolution in the twentieth century in selected operas musicals and films is understood as an extension of this nineteenth century aesthetic The book therefore develops our understanding of opera in the context of melodrama s broader influence on musical culture during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries This book will appeal to those interested in film studies drama theatre and modern languages as well as music and opera The Weekly Review

The history of Germany and the German speaking peoples is as complex and multifaceted as any in Europe It is also one of the most difficult to pinpoint conceptually and historically since every nation is a construct to some extent Language is certainly important and the German language is a unifying factor for any notion of a unified Germany yet even today many German speakers live outside the borders of modern Germany Shared customs and traditions gave Germans a common sense of identity to some extent but these were often local in origin Germans were also split between several versions of Christianity Nevertheless ideas of a German nation were present by the 19th century leading up to the official unification in 1871 Neil MacGregor a historian of modern Germany has explained that the two defining events leading to the rise of German nationalism and the movement toward unification were the Thirty Years War and the Napoleonic Wars 1 During the Thirty Years War more than 200 German states were part of the Holy Roman Empire s loose confederation and that war was predominantly fought in German states by foreign powers including France Sweden Denmark Austria and the Netherlands MacGregor noted that horrors were experienced across all Germany and were never forgotten to the extent that they were invoked during World War II 2 The religious basis of the Thirty Years War saw the split between Catholicism and Protestantism which was at the heart of the Reformation Some foreign leaders even invoked defending German freedoms for their invasion 3 From the German point of view the Thirty Years War was proof of their vulnerability to foreign aggression Atrocities such as the sacking of Magdeburg in 1631 where more than 30 000 people were killed were embedded in the German consciousness 4 All told 8 million people died during the Thirty Years War Likewise the Napoleonic Wars fought about 150 years later appeared to confirm these fears The French Revolution had terrified similar royal regimes in other European empires and as the revolution took on ever bloodier connotations other countries were drawn into conflict with the new French Republic with the Holy Roman Empire on the front line of the revolutionary wars Napoleon Bonaparte earned his reputation with a number of victories on the battlefield and rose to the pinnacle of power in France As the French emperor his reign was characterized by a more aggressive military strategy and the rapid annexation of much of Europe Modernism's Second Act: A Cultural Narrative I. Nadel, 2012-12-17

European modernism underwent a massive change from 1930 to 1960 as war altered the cultural landscape This account of artists and writers in France and England explores how modernism survived under authoritarianism whether Fascism National Socialism or Stalinism and how these artists endured by balancing complicity and resistance A Collection of Treaties Malabar (India), 1891
