

The background of the cover is a photograph. In the foreground, a large, intricate, and somewhat chaotic wire mesh structure, resembling a giant's foot or a complex sculpture, dominates the left side and extends towards the center. It is made of dark, thin rods. In the background, a long, multi-story prison building with many windows is visible under a blue sky with scattered white clouds.

The Torture and Prisoner Abuse Debate Laura L. Finley,2008-07-30 Revelations about U S torture and prisoner abuse in blatant violation of the long established and universally recognized Geneva Conventions have horrified most Americans Nevertheless it has been argued that the high stakes of the War on Terror have made the protections offered by the Conventions obsolete or that the abuses are the work of a few rogue soldiers and officers This book reaches past the headlines into the historical record to document POW torture and also domestic prisoner abuse dating well back in our history as well as government and military knowledge of and collusion in such ostensibly illegal and reprehensible acts Is torture and prisoner abuse justified in the name of some greater good As a society we shall have to decide The historical record presented here can contribute much to an informed national discussion

Jail Sentences Andrew Sobanet, 2008-01-01 A long list of canonical writers in Western literature have experienced incarceration and have subsequently written celebrated works about the imprisoned and the condemned. The French tradition is no exception: writers who produced noteworthy texts while incarcerated or who later wrote about their experiences in prison are found on the literary historical landscape from the medieval era through the twentieth century. Prison writing by inmates, former guards, chaplains, teachers, and doctors is firmly established as part of the fabric of popular culture and has long attracted the attention of culture critics and scholars. Nevertheless, scant analysis exists of the prison novel, a literary genre that, as Andrew Sobanet argues in Jail Sentences, uses fiction as a documentary tool. Its narrative peculiarities, which are the main subjects of Sobanet's study, include the use of autobiographical and testimonial techniques to critique the penitentiary system. Jail Sentences is the definitive study of the legacy of the Western tradition of prison writing in twentieth-century French literature. Although Sobanet focuses primarily on French writers, Victor Segalen, Jean Genet, Albertine Sarrazin, and François Bon, his keen sense of literary dialogue pulls into the orbit of his study an international corpus of work from Dostoyevsky to Malcolm X. Jail Sentences arrives at a coherent definition of the genre whose unique conventions stem from the innermost regions of our understanding of stories, truth, fiction, and belief.
