Gold Gold Diary Of Claus Gronn A Dane On:

Gold! Gold! Claus Gronn, 1981 Nothing But Gold Robyn Annear, 1999-01-05 Gold was discovered in Australia in 1851 and within a year the infant colony was transformed from a sump for convicts to a Land of Opportunity Robyn Annear's lively history describes in detail life on the diggings the mud of winter and dust of summer the pluckiness of the women and children the grog shanties the flies the mania of mining the despair and the delirium and the much hated licensing system which was to culminate in the Eureka Stockade Robyn Annear tells the story of the 1852 gold rushes in imaginative detail she tells us how it felt to be there You find yourself worrying about the problems long ago resolved sharply aware of the gold diggers hopes and ordeals diverted by the high comedy of a chaotic life Like all good narratives it looks easy because it is so easily read and enjoyed She makes a mosaic out of small moments of experience The physical realities of the diggings are evoked with all the ingenious ways of managing tent space cooking guarding gold finding feed for horses keeping off wind and rain ants and mice Brenda Niall Robyn Annear was born in Melbourne in 1960 She spends her time writing and researching typing for other people and looking after her family She is also a part time bookseller and President of the Friends of the Castlemaine Library History from the inside wonderfully entertaining Age A welcome addition to Australian history pointing to badly needed ways in which history can be made more reader friendly Quadrant Engines of Influence Elizabeth Morrison, 2005 Engines of Influence is a fifty year history of Victoria's country newspapers beginning with James Harrison's Geelong Advertiser in 1840 and ending in December 1890 when 166 papers were being published in 122 country towns This significant book identifies all press sites and newspapers of the era whether long lasting or short lived and highlights the major part played by them in helping construct the machinery of government lay the foundations of party politics and foster a sense of rural Victorian identity The country press was an important agent of political change leading up to events such as the separation of the Port Phillip District from New South Wales in 1851 and the federation of the colony of Victoria with other British dependencies into a single nation at the end of the nineteenth century Engines of Influence shows how country newspapers also exercised cultural authority circulating ideas generated both within local communities and from the wider world Towards the end of the fifty years examined this rural press was becoming a close part of a unified political state linked through the metropolitan press and agencies to a technologically based global communications network S.T.
