Picturing Men and Women in the Dutch Golden Age Muizelaar Klaske, Klaske Muizelaar, Derek L. Phillips, 2003-01-01 Taking as their premiss the subjective experience of art the authors look at how paintings by Rembrandt Vermeer other masters were displayed comprehended in the 17th century Dutch Paintings in the Metropolitan Museum of Art Walter A. Liedtke, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 2007 Presents a catalog that surveys the Dutch paintings found in the Metropolitan Museum of Art Portraiture and Critical Reflections on Being Euripides Altintzoglou, 2018-05-11 This book analyzes the philosophical origins of dualism in portraiture in Western culture during the Classical period through to contemporary modes of portraiture Dualism the separation of mind from body plays a central part in portraiture given that it supplies the fundamental framework for portraiture's determining problem and justification the visual construction of the subjectivity of the sitter which is invariably accounted for as ineffable entity or spirit that the artist magically captures Every artist that has engaged with portraiture has had to deal with these issues and therefore with the question of being and identity The Ashgate Research Companion to Dutch Art of the Seventeenth Century Wayne Franits, 2017-07-05 Despite the tremendous number of studies produced annually in the field of Dutch art over the last 30 years or so and the strong contemporary market for works by Dutch masters of the period as well as the public's ongoing fascination with some of its most beloved painters until now there has been no comprehensive study assessing the state of research in the field. As the first study of its kind, this book is a useful resource for scholars and advanced students of seventeenth-century Dutch art and also serves as a springboard for further research. Its 19 chapters, divided into three sections and written by a team of internationally renowned art historians, address a wide variety of topics ranging from those that might be considered traditional to others that have only drawn scholarly attention comparatively recently.

From prehistoric stone tools to machines to computers, things have traveled a long road along with human beings. Changing with the times, places, and methods of their production, emerging from diverse histories and enveloped in multiple layers of meaning, things embody ideas, emotions, and symbols of which we are often unaware. The meaning of thing is richer than that of object, which is something that is manipulated with indifference or according to impersonal technical procedures. Things also differ from merchandise objects that can be sold or exchanged or seen as status symbols. Things in the philosophical sense are nodes of relationships with the life of others, chains of continuity among generations, bridges that connect individual and collective histories, junctions between human civilizations and nature. Things incite us to listen to reality, to make them part of ourselves, giving fresh life to an otherwise suffocating interiority. Things also reveal the hidden aspect of a subject in its most secret and least explored side. Things are the repositories of ideas, emotions, and symbols whose meaning we often do not understand. In an unexpected but coherent journey that includes the visions of classic philosophers from Aristotle to Husserl and from Hegel to Heidegger, along with the analysis of works of art, Bodei addresses issues such as fetishism, the memory of things, the emergence of department stores, consumerism, nostalgia for the past, the self-portraits of Rembrandt, and Dutch still lifes of the seventeenth century. The more we are able to recover objects in their wealth of meanings and integrate them into our mental and emotional horizons, he argues, the broader and deeper our world becomes.

Sir Peter Lely (1618-1680): Dutch Classicist, English Portraitist, and Collector Brandon Henderson, 2008-07-24

The Dutch-born English Baroque portrait painter Sir Peter Lely (1618-1680) is chiefly known for his drowsy, sensual beauties and bewigged courtiers associated with the Restoration court of Charles II. He is often seen as merely successor or imitator of Sir Anthony Van Dyck (1599-1641), with a common resemblance in all his sitters and an inability to capture a true likeness, as well as an absence of any personal characterization or psychological interest. Alternately, this dissertation aims to reveal Lely's genius of superb draughtsmanship, fine color, and lively composition, as well as to examine and reinstate the artist's impact and deep impress on British painting. Lely's early style owes much to his Dutch origin and training with the pioneers of Dutch classicism, and the distinctive qualities of his early work and the change in his traditions and techniques are examined. The development of Lely's portrait style is examined from his arrival in England in the early 1640s through his years as leading aristocratic and society portraitist and Principal Painter to the King in the 1660s to his mature work in the 1670s, when his work is characterized by a restricted palette and cool restraint. And finally, Lely as collector is examined He assembled one of the largest and most impressive private collections of art in seventeenth century Europe and his acquisitions and their influences benefits and effects are considered Upon Lely's death his highly important collection was dispersed by auction in a series of four well publicized sales in 1681 1682 1688 and 1694 respectively These sales brought many important works to the London art market and were some of the most important sales to date in England as well as the most spectacular of the modern auction world Although Lely initially emulated the style and techniques of Van Dyck he juxtaposed his profound Dutch qualities of rich color dramatic illumination and romantic landscapes and ultimately imbued a sensuality languor and luxurious negligence into the traditions and continuity of Van Dyck's grand Baroque style of English portraiture Subsequently together later with Sir Godfrey Kneller 1646-1723 Sir Peter Lely completely dominated British portraiture from the death of Van Dyck in 1641 until William Hogarth 1697-1764 challenged his style in the first half of the eighteenth century Due to large file size some images within this ebook do not appear in high resolution John
