Golden Dreams And Waking Realities The Far Western Frontier Ser:

Golden Dreams and Waking Realities William Shaw, 1973 This rather uppity Britisher produced one of the finest narratives of the Gold Rush Kurutz Shaw an Englishman travelled to California from Australia on board the Mazeppa the first ship to leave South Australia for the gold diggings Shaw s descriptions of life in the mines are quite vivid as per Kurutz He witnessed a bloody battle between mining companies discrimination against foreign miners the horrible death of a fellow miner by an insect bite and poor medical practice He described in graphic detail the miners horrendous living conditions mining methods and the day to day struggle for survival As Shaw writes in his preface his work gives fresh evidences of the demoralizing effects of the California gold mania After his experiences in the mines he returned to San Francisco and worked for a time at Mission Dolores and provides an excellent description of the venerable mission Smith left San Francisco to return to Australia and stopped at Hawaii describing its business district markets and social life He attended a performance of Shakespeare s RICHARD III at which Kamehameha III was present and where several Sydney emigrants behaved in a rowdy manner San Francisco Memoirs, 1835-1851 ,1994 In July 1846 San Francisco was a tranquil settlement of about 150 inhabitants Three years later it was an international metropolis with more than 30 000 people thronging its streets Recalled in this intriguing collection of personal anecdotes from those tumultuous times are the days when San Francisco Bay extended inland to Montgomery Street Bears wolves and coyotes roamed the shore The arrival of 238 Mormons more than doubled the town s population Monographic Series Library of Congress, 1974 Eating History Andrew F. Smith, 2009 Offers an account of an eating history in America which focuses on a variety of topics ingredients and cooking styles Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1976 Chinese Immigrants, African Americans, and Racial Anxiety in the United States, 1848-82 Najia Aarim-Heriot, 2003 The first detailed examination of the link between the Chinese question and the Negro problem in nineteenth century America this work forcefully and convincingly demonstrates that the anti Chinese sentiment that led up to the passage of the Chinese Exclusion Act of 1882 is inseparable from the racial double standards applied by mainstream white society toward white and nonwhite groups during the same period Najia Aarim Heriot argues that previous studies on American Sinophobia have overemphasized the resentment labor organizations felt toward incoming Chinese workers This focus has caused crucial elements of the discussion to be overlooked especially the broader ways in which the growing nation sought to define and unify itself through the exclusion and oppression of nonwhite peoples This book highlights striking similarities in the ways the Chinese and African American populations were disenfranchised during the mid 1800s including nearly identical negative stereotypes shrill rhetoric and crippling exclusionary laws traditionally studied this book stands as a holistic examination of the causes and effects of American Sinophobia and the racialization of national immigration policies Books in Print ,1979 Library of Congress Catalog Library of Congress, 1973 Beginning with 1953 entries for Motion pictures and filmstrips Music and phonorecords
