Storytime Lawrence R. Sipe, 2008 Presents a comprehensive theoretically grounded model of children's understanding of picture storybooks the first to focus specifically on young children Relevant to contemporary young children from a wide variety of ethnic racial and socioeconomic backgrounds this dynamic volume includes a wealth of examples of children's responses to literature and how teachers scaffold their interpretation of stories The highest recommendation I can make is that I learned so much You will too From the Foreword by P David Pearson University of California Berkeley The single most important book on this topic since Applebee's The Child's Concept of Story it is also a pleasure to read Lee Galda University of Minnesota Sipe provides a comprehensive theory of literary understanding specific to contemporary young children's interactions with picture books Storytime is grounded in well documented research and in depth knowledge of literary theory and enlivened by insightful commentary Glenna Sloan Professor Emerita Queens College of the City University of New York As a working illustrator who spends most days drawing or painting or dreaming about children's picturebooks I sometimes wonder Is there really any point to all of this In this book Larry Sipe shows me clearly wittily and thoroughly that there is Chris Raschka Caldecott Medal winning children's book author and illustrator Those of us who work with children picturebooks and teachers could have no more insightful guide to their interactions than Larry Sipe himself Nancy L Roser University of Texas Austin

Transforming Preschool Storytime Betsy Diamant-Cohen, Melanie A. Hetrick, 2013-06-18 According to recent research the best way to make new connections in a child's brain is by building on something already known A child who loves a book will listen to it repeatedly maintaining interest Using a selected book in a number of consecutive preschool storytimes but presenting it differently each time can help children learn new skill sets This book presents a new approach to storytime one that employs repetition with variety to create an experience which helps children connect and engage with the story on a higher level Diamant Cohen recently awarded the 2013 ASCLA Leadership and Professional Achievement Award and Hetrick offer a year's worth of activities specifically designed to address multiple intelligences through a repetition based process Incorporating recent theories on developmental learning this book includes Scripts for 8 different books with enough activities to repeat each one for six weeks along with lists of optional alternative books Planning aids such as outlines of storytime sessions a fill in the blanks planning sheet questions for evaluation and tips for enhanced storytimes using props and crafts Detailed but straightforward explanations of theory and research that will help readers communicate effectively with parents caregivers and other stakeholders From setup to execution here's everything you need to create and implement a successful elevated storytime
