Immigration and Welfare State Retrenchment Dennis C. Spies, 2018-03-21 Is large scale immigration to Europe incompatible with the continent's generous and encompassing welfare states Are Europeans willing to share welfare benefits with ethnically different and often less well off immigrants Or do they regard the newcomers as undeserving and their claim for welfare rights as unjustified These questions are at the heart of what has to become known as the New Progressive Dilemma debate and the predominant answers given to them are rather pessimistic Pointing to the experiences of the US where a multi racial society in combination with a longstanding history of immigration encounters very limited welfare provision many Europeans fear that the continent's new immigrant based heterogeneity may push it toward more American levels of redistribution But are the conflictual US experiences really resembled in the European context Immigration and Welfare State Retrenchment addresses this question by connecting the New Progressive Dilemma debate with comparative welfare state and party research in order to analyse the role ethnic diversity plays for welfare reforms in the US and Europe Whereas the combination of racial patterns and party politics had and still has serious consequences for the US welfare system the general message of the book is that these are not resembled in the Western European context While many Europeans are very critical of immigration and willing to ban immigrants from welfare benefits both the institutional design of European welfare programs and the economically divided anti immigrant movement prevent immigration concerns from translating into actual retrenchment in

From Migrants to Refugees Jill Rosenthal,2023-10-06 In From Migrants to Refugees Jill Rosenthal tells the history of how Rwandan migrants in a Tanzanian border district became considered either citizens or refugees as nation state boundaries solidified in the wake of decolonization Outlining the process by which people who have long lived and circulated across the Rwanda Tanzania border came to have a national identity Rosenthal reveals humanitarian aid s central role in the ideological processes of decolonization and nation building From precolonial histories to the first Rwandan refugee camps during decolonization in the 1960s to the massive refugee camps in the 1990s Rosenthal highlights the way that this area became a testing ground for novel forms of transnational aid to refugees that had global implications As local and national actors refugees and international officials all attempted to control the lives and futures of refugee groups they contested the authority of the nation state and the international refugee regime This history Rosenthal demonstrates illuminates how tensions between state and international actors divided people who share a common history culture and language across national borders

Global Migration beyond Limits Franklin Obeng-Odoom,2021-12-09 Global Migration beyond Limits takes a critical approach to mainstream economic accounts of migration environment and inequality Drawing on a range of case studies from Africa the Middle East Asia Australia Europe and the Americas Obeng Odoom argues that much of the crisis of migration can be understood as a reflection of cumulative stratification at different scales in the global system though the form of migration is conditioned by more than economic forces Examining the experiences of migrant farmers street workers refugees international students and many more this book shows that the so called migration crisis is an expression of a political economic system in which socially created value is privately appropriated as rents by a privileged few who use institutions such as land and property rights race ethnicity class and gender to keep others in their place

Border Jumping and Migration Control in Southern Africa Francis Musoni,2020-04-07 With the end of apartheid rule in South Africa and the ongoing economic crisis in Zimbabwe the border between these Southern African countries has become one of the busiest inland ports of entry in the world As border crossers wait for clearance crime violence and illegal entries have become rampant Francis Musoni observes that border jumping has become a way of life for many of those who live on both sides of the Limpopo River and he explores the reasons for this including searches for better paying jobs and access to food and clothing at affordable prices Musoni sets these actions into a framework of illegality He considers how countries have failed to secure their borders why passports are denied to travelers and how border jumping has become a phenomenon with a long history especially in Africa Musoni emphasizes cross border travelers active participation in the making of this history and how clandestine mobility has presented opportunity and creative possibilities for those who are willing to take the risk
