VanFossen,Michael J. Berson,2008 In 1991 Lawrence Grossman wrote that a new political system is taking shape in the United States As we approach the twenty first century America is turning into an electronic republic a democratic system that is vastly increasing the people s day to day influence on decisions of state Grossman s forecast implied a sea change in the way citizens would interact with and participate in their representative government a revamping of the way Americans would do citizenship Harnessing the power of technology to promote the ideal of democracy that first pulsed through our nation over 230 years ago may be a feasible achievement in a technocratic age but whether technology can help achieve a revolution as seismic as the political one that our founding fathers initiated may be a practical impossibility Fusing the power of technology and democratic ideals opens opportunities for greater access to information and offers a medium for people to be heard and express their voice with dissemination to the masses through digital tools such as blogs podcasts and wikis Indeed the emergence of the Internet as a nearly ubiquitous element of American society has brought about new opportunities to enhance citizen engagement in democratic politics and to increase the level of civic engagement among American citizens Despite such rhetoric however research has indicated that Grossman s electronic republic has for the most part failed to come to fruition The Future of Electronic Learning M. A. White,2013-12-16 First Published in 1983 The papers in this volume were originally presented at a conference on The Future of Electronic Learning held at Teachers College Columbia University in April of 1982 sponsored by the Electronic Learning Laboratory Each paper has been revised for a reading audience rather than a listening audience but the original questions from the audience and their answers have been retained as they give a sense of the conference and provide interesting information The sub title of the conference was Implications for Psychology and Education The reader will find that the papers address both the new kinds of learning that will develop as a result of learning from electronic technology as well as the new forms of teaching that will be needed The purpose of the conference was to bring together an unusual group of experts who could address these questions for the future with special knowledge of the technology combined with a concern for education

Electronic Quills Bertram C. Bruce, Andee Rubin, with contributi Barnhardt and Teachers, 2013-11-05 This volume centers on the words and experiences of teachers and students who used QUILL a software package developed by the authors to aid in writing instruction It looks in detail at the stories of these early users and considers questions relevant for other teachers students researchers and developers of educational innovations Questions posed include What does it mean to develop an environment for literacy in an actual classroom How can a teacher create an environment in which students work together toward meaningful goals How can a teacher promote the rich communication so necessary for developing language What is the role of technology in the practice and development of literacy The examination of the QUILL experiences provides a fuller and more revealing account of what it meant to use QUILL than would have been possible through standard evaluation techniques At the same time the focus on the particulars also finds analogues in analyses of similar pieces of open ended software or educational innovations in general Teaching and Learning in a Digital World Michael E. Auer, David Guralnick, Istvan Simonics, 2017-12-26 This book gathers the Proceedings of the 20th International Conference on Interactive Collaborative Learning ICL2017 held in Budapest Hungary on 27-29 September 2017. The authors are currently witnessing a significant transformation in the development of education. The impact of globalisation on all areas of human life, the exponential acceleration of technological developments and global markets, and the need for flexibility and agility are essential and challenging elements of this process that have to be tackled in general but especially in engineering education. To face these current real-world challenges, higher education has to find innovative ways to quickly respond to them. Since its inception in 1998, this conference has been devoted to new approaches in learning with a focus on collaborative learning. Today, the ICL conferences offer a forum for exchange concerning relevant trends and research results and for sharing practical experience gained while developing and testing elements of new technologies and pedagogies in the learning context. ECEL2009- 8th European Conference on E-Learning, Dan Remenyi, 2009 Resources in Education, 2000 Encyclopedia of Distance Learning, Second Edition Rogers, Patricia L., Berg, Gary A., Boettcher, Judith V., Howard, Caroline, Justice, Lorraine, Schenk, Karen D., 2009-01-31 Offers comprehensive coverage of the issues, concepts, trends, and technologies of distance learning.

Handbook of Research on Electronic Collaboration and Organizational Synergy Salmons, Janet, Wilson, Lynn, 2008-11-30 Offers exhaustive research on collaborations in education, business, and the government and social sectors. Resources for Teaching Middle School Science Smithsonian Institution, National Academy of Engineering, National Science Resources Center of the National Academy of Sciences, Institute of Medicine, 1998-04-30 With age-appropriate inquiry-centered curriculum materials and sound teaching practices, middle school science can capture the interest and energy of adolescent students and expand their understanding of the world around them. Resources for Teaching Middle School Science, developed by the National Science Resources Center (NSRC), is a valuable tool for identifying and selecting effective science curriculum materials that will engage students in grades 6 through 8. The volume describes more than 400 curriculum titles that are aligned with the National Science Education Standards. This completely new guide follows on the success of Resources for Teaching Elementary School Science, the first in the NSRC series of annotated guides to hands-on inquiry-centered curriculum materials and other resources for science teachers. The curriculum materials in the new guide are grouped in five chapters by scientific area: Physical Science, Life Science, Environmental Science, Earth and Space Science, and Multidisciplinary and Applied Science. They are also grouped by type: core materials, supplementary units, and science activity books. Each annotation of curriculum material includes a recommended grade level, a description of the activities involved, and of what students can be expected to learn, a list of accompanying materials, a reading level, and ordering information. The curriculum materials included in this book were selected by panels of teachers and scientists using evaluation criteria developed for the guide. The criteria reflect and incorporate goals and principles of the National Science Education Standards.

The annotations designate the specific content standards on which these curriculum pieces focus In addition to the curriculum chapters the guide contains six chapters of diverse resources that are directly relevant to middle school science Among these is a chapter on educational software and multimedia programs chapters on books about science and teaching directories and guides to science trade books and periodicals for teachers and students Another section features institutional resources One chapter lists about 600 science centers museums and zoos where teachers can take middle school students for interactive science experiences Another chapter describes nearly 140 professional associations and U S government agencies that offer resources and assistance Authoritative extensive and thoroughly indexed and the only guide of its kind Resources for Teaching Middle School Science will be the most used book on the shelf for science teachers school administrators teacher trainers science curriculum specialists advocates of hands on science teaching and concerned parents
