Freedom Railway China And The Tanzania Zambia Link:

Freedom Railway Martin Bailey, 1976 Africa's Freedom Railway Jamie Monson, 2009-03-12 The TAZARA Tanzania Zambia Railway Authority or Freedom Railway from Dar es Salaam on the Tanzanian coast to the Copperbelt region of Zambia was instrumental in fostering one of the most sweeping development transitions in postcolonial Africa Built during the height of the Cold War the railway was intended to redirect the mineral wealth of the interior away from routes through South Africa and Rhodesia Rebuffed by Western aid agencies newly independent Tanzania and Zambia accepted help from China to construct what would become one of Africa's most vital transportation corridors The book follows the railroad from design and construction to its daily use as a vital means for moving villagers and goods It tells a story of how transnational interests contributed to environmental change population movements and the rise of local and regional enterprise The Anticolonial Transnational Erez Manela, Heather Streets-Salter, 2023-08-24 The first volume to explore transnational anticolonialism as a global phenomenon spanning the entire twentieth century Leading scholars demonstrate that anticolonial movements everywhere in this period were invariably transnational in terms of their imaginaries mobilities and networks and that their legacies fundamentally shaped the present China and Africa David H. Shinn, Joshua Eisenman, 2012-07-10 The People's Republic of China once limited its involvement in African affairs to building an occasional railroad or port supporting African liberation movements and loudly proclaiming socialist solidarity with the downtrodden of the continent Now Chinese diplomats and Chinese companies both state owned and private along with an influx of Chinese workers have spread throughout Africa This shift is one of the most important geopolitical phenomena of our time China and Africa A Century of Engagement presents a comprehensive view of the relationship between this powerful Asian nation and the countries of Africa This book the first of its kind to be published since the 1970s examines all facets of China's relationship with each of the fifty four African nations It reviews the history of China's relations with the continent looking back past the establishment of the People's Republic of China in 1949 It looks at a broad range of areas that define this relationship politics trade investment foreign aid military security and culture providing a significant historical backdrop for each David H Shinn and Joshua Eisenman's study combines careful observation meticulous data analysis and detailed understanding gained through diplomatic experience and extensive travel in China and Africa China and Africa demonstrates that while China's connection to Africa is different from that of Western nations it is no less complex Africans and Chinese are still developing their perceptions of each other and these changing views have both positive and negative dimensions

Freedom Railway Martin Bailey, 1976 Politics of the Tanzania-Zambia Railway Project Kasuka S. Mutukwa, 1977-12-09 China's Aid to Africa Zhangxi Cheng, Ian Taylor, 2017-05-08 Although China has rapidly increased foreign aid to Africa and is now a relatively major player in the developmental assistance regime little is still known regarding how China delivers its foreign aid and even less about how this foreign aid actually works in the recipient countries

This book extensively utilising Chinese sources much of which have not been available before examines the effectiveness and sustainability of China's foreign aid in Africa as well as the political economic and diplomatic factors that influence Chinese aid disbursement policies. The book argues that a nebulous notion of friendship however ill defined is a key factor in Chinese aid something which is often overlooked by Western scholars. Through a detailed examination of both the decision making process in Chinese aid disbursements as well as an examination of specific case studies in West Africa this book improves our understanding of China's foreign aid policies towards Africa. It finds that there are profound shortcomings in China's foreign aid at present which despite the protestations of friendship and solidarity undermine Beijing's effectiveness as an actor in the developmental assistance enterprise in Africa. This text will be of key interest to scholars and students of development studies African studies China Africa relations and more broadly to international relations.

The Rise and Fall of Modern Empires, Volume IV Martin Shipway, 2016-12-05. The collection of essays in this volume offers an overview of scholarly approaches to the ways in which diverse actors representing the colonised or the colonising nations or indeed the international community reacted to colonialism during the lifetime of the modern colonial empires or in their aftermath. The coverage is broad in terms of geographical scope and historical period with articles on the major colonial empires in Asia and Africa and the imperial centres of Paris London and Berlin from the conquests of the late nineteenth century to the period of decolonisation. The selection also reflects recent academic trends by focusing on countries whose colonial past and experience of decolonisation have been studied and debated with particular intensity such as Algeria Kenya and India. The volume draws on previously published articles and book chapters by leading international scholars writing in or translated into English and includes a critical introduction which situates each essay in relation to recent debates in this dynamic and expanding field of study.
