Lacugna, 1993-12-24 This exciting collection brings together ten of the most respected women theologians today Anne E Carr Lisa Sowle Cahill Sandra M Schneiders Mary Catherine Hilkert Mary E Hines Mary Aquin O'Neill Joann Wolski Conn Catherine Mowry LaCugna Susan A Ross and Elizabeth A Johnson for the comprehensive introduction to each area of contemporary theology from a feminist perspective

Being Spiritual while Doing Research Volker Kessler, Marilyn Naidoo, Tanya van Wyk, Philipp Wenk, Although the topic of spirituality has been experiencing a renaissance since the end of the previous century it is not always associated with academic activities The book invites scholars from all fields to rethink this traditional divide between knowledge and spirituality offering fresh perspectives on how the two can coexist and enhance each other Twenty nine authors from across the world illustrate how scholarly pursuits in various disciplines can be deeply spiritual journeys

Women in Catholic Higher Education Sharlene Nagy Hesse-Biber, Denise Leckenby, 2003-01-01 Delving into discourse traditionally silenced by the Catholic hierarchy this edited collection observes the ways in which patriarchal structures often hinder women's advancement within Catholic institutions of higher learning The contributors describe their own conflicts and successes in their attempts to negotiate their academic careers and personal lives in the context of the clash between secular and Catholic patriarchal values The contributors suggest concrete steps toward social justice for women who teach and work in Catholic higher education

Worship and Christian Identity E. Byron Anderson, 2017-04-21 Worship and Christian Identity argues that sacramental and liturgical practices are the central means by which a church shapes the faith character and consciousness of its members Consequently for any church to set aside such practices as outdated or irrelevant is to set aside the means by which the church nurtures and sustains its theological identity From this perspective Anderson explores the following questions What is the relationship between worship and belief What is the relationship between corporate worship and the formation of Christian persons and communities What is the relationship between worship and our knowledge of ourselves our world and God How might our attention to the reform and renewal of worship and sacramental practice provide a framework for theological evangelical and sacramental renewal Questions of sacramental practice inclusive or transformative language and the renewal of congregational hymnody have been largely displaced by marketing questions and conflicts between traditional and contemporary worship The hour of worship is subdivided now into increasingly specialized target audiences of singles seekers boomers and X'ers with worship carefully packaged as traditional or contemporary What at various points has been understood as a means of grace is now seen primarily as a means of numerical growth Missing in the conflict between traditional and contemporary worship is significant discussion of what is at stake for the identity of Christian persons and communities in the shape and practice of worship Perhaps more surprising discussion of the theological shape and practice of worship also has been absent in discussions concerning theological standards These absences suggest that for many in the church today worship is a means for expressing a community's belief but has little to do with the shape and character of that belief The assumption that worship is only or primarily a pragmatic means for expressing a community's belief stands in sharp contrast to the Christian tradition This assumption also contrasts with the insights provided by recent work in ritual studies psychology and faith development Worship and Christian Identity is an important book for faculty and students in seminary and graduate programs in liturgical studies and religious education particularly those interested in the relationships between liturgical studies and practical theology ritual studies and liturgical theology as well as the role of worship in Christian formation Chapters are Making Claims About Worship Worship as Ritual Knowledge Worship as Ritual Practice Trinitarian Grammar and the Christian Self Trinitarian Grammar and Liturgical Practice and A Vision of Christian Life

The Maleness of Jesus Neil H. Williams, 2011-01-01 At the center of Christianity is Jesus of Nazareth whose maleness is used by many to justify the subordination of women and to emphasize that men rather than women better represent Jesus This raises a number of questions that are the subject of this book What is the significance of Jesus maleness Does it reveal the character of God Is it foundational for the gospel Is Jesus maleness associated with an ongoing created order of male priority Our answers will affect Christianity's task of love justice and reconciliation in a world that is characterized by the global marginalization oppression and abuse of women

Religious Feminism and the Future of the Planet Rita M. Gross, Rosemary Radford Ruether, 2016-10-06 Rita Gross and Rosemary Radford Ruether have long been known for their feminist contributions to Buddhism and Christianity respectively In this book they talk candidly about what these traditions mean to them in both their liberating as well as problematic aspects Throughout the book their life stories provide the rich soil perhaps even the rationale for their theological and spiritual development Despite the marked differences in their life histories and their respective religious faiths Gross and Radford Ruether achieve surprising unanimity on the paramount issue what engaged

Buddhism and enlightened Christianity can offer in the struggle to create a new future for the planet

The Father and the Feminine Spencer Miles Boersma, 2024-09-12 How should Christians speak of the transcendent yet personal God when our language for persons is almost always gendered Is male imagery such as Father Son or King the only appropriate way Are there ways to talk of God using female gendered metaphors and pronouns And how does the use of such language impact humans as gendered people Moving beyond the extremes in this debate The Father and the Feminine seeks to clarify the ways Christians speak about God whether this is by recognizing revelation and Christian tradition upholding God's ineffability using analogies metaphors and narratives referring to God as Father Son and Spirit or by seeking a liberating way of life in community Spencer Miles Boersma argues that male language for God need not be problematic if used and understood correctly but at the same time that it cannot be the exclusive way Christians speak of the Divine The grammar of Christian Scripture and tradition both authorize the use of female language which Christians ought to use in pursuing a deeper relationship with God and others as well as a more authentic view of self

The Prophetic Spirit of Catechesis Anne Marie Mongoven, 2000 This pastoral book presents a new way to catechize adults using the relationship between ordinary life and Christian faith it combines both theoretical considerations and practical strategies For both professional and volunteer catechists

The Pentecostal Gender Paradox Joseph Lee Dutko, 2023-11-16 The distinct subjects of eschatology and gender equality have seen an explosion of interest in recent decades particularly within Pentecostal scholarship Pentecostalism is regarded ideally as both an eschatological and egalitarian movement However many Pentecostals have lamented the inconsistency between the early egalitarian impulse of the movement and its current restrictive practices This situation has been described as the so called Pentecostal gender paradox referring to the conflicting freedoms and limitations experienced by Pentecostal women Pentecostals have also recognized the waning eschatological fervor within the movement and its shifting eschatological convictions leading to calls to rediscover the eschatological heart of the movement Despite the renewed interest in both eschatology and women's equality little research has been done to put these two areas into conversation with each other eschatological convictions are often absent in the debate on gender roles in the church For Pentecostals eschatology has often been about urgency in saving souls rather than attending to social issues but could Pentecostal eschatology be the key to re-discovering greater equality for women in the church Is the waning of both eschatology and women's equality within Pentecostalism potentially interrelated For over one hundred years the role of women in Pentecostalism has been debated without a firm consensus By examining gender solely through an eschatological lens in history Scripture and praxis this work provides a valuable and creative contribution to one of the most important theological and global issues of our time women's equality This book is also one of the first comprehensive studies to approach a single social issue solely through an eschatological lens and to provide attention to developing a thorough and methodologically connected eschatological praxis By uncovering the unified eschatological egalitarian narrative thread within both the Pentecostal and biblical story this work suggests that the present end of women's inequality begins with fidelity to the future eschaton of gender equality

Holy Body Brianne Bell Jacobs, 2024-10-15 Holy Body: Gender and Sexual Difference in Theological Anthropology and Ecclesiology argues that all bodies across sexual difference are procreative. The author lays the ground for her argument with chapters that summarize the current debate over the gender binary in theology, modern scientific evidence about sexual difference, philosophical arguments about gender as a social construction, the development of the gender binary in Christian history, and the effects of the gender binary today. With this foundation laid, Brianne Bell Jacobs argues for a theological anthropology in which all bodies by performatively expanding who is loved are generative. Then, in the context of Roman Catholic ecclesiology, Jacobs argues again that all bodies are generative. She calls for an ordained priesthood in mutual relationship with the priesthood of the baptized in which both are given meaning beyond the gender binary and in which both are able together to generate the Body of Christ in the church and the Eucharist. In response to the harms of patriarchy, sexualized racism, homophobia, and sexual abuse, this book presents a Roman Catholic theology that affirms we are each of us and together a life-giving and holy body.

Women and Christianity Cheryl A. Kirk-Duggan, Karen Jo Torjesen, 2009-12-22 This work explores the impact of Christian women as scholars and leaders representing the ethnic, national, racial, and denominational diversity of Christianity today on all aspects of life. Women and Christianity explores the experiences of women and how their daily lives interface with their spirituality and faith. Beginning with a historical overview, the book presents essays grouped under five broad headings: women, family, and environment; socioeconomics, politics, and authority; body, mind, and spirit; sex, power, and vulnerability; and women, world, and religious practice. These essays focus on multiple aspects of women's experiences and contemporary Christian realities involving the interrelatedness of faith, thought, and activism across many strata of global society. They wrestle with the daily experiences and challenges women face, integrating their lives as women of faith as they are advocates, experience agency, and work for mutuality. It shows how in all these roles women must negotiate power, injustice, and the impact of sexism as they work within systemic oppression amid a patriarchal system, nevertheless championing change and refusing to be severely compromised.

A Future Full of Hope? Gemma Simmonds, 2013-08-01 Are we looking at the imminent death of religious life in the church, a future full of hope, or something in between? This book, based on papers given at a colloquium run by the Religious Life Institute at Heythrop College, University of London, addresses urgent questions around the renewal and survival of religious life. Despite recent scandals and a steady diminishment of numbers since Vatican II, religious remain a powerful source of inspiration and positive energy within church and society.
