French Painters Of The Seventeenth Century:

The French Painters of the Seventeenth Century Christopher Wright, 1985 The French Painters of the Seventeenth Century Christopher Wright, 1985 Traces the development of painting in France during the 1600s and profiles the careers of the major French painters of the period France in the Golden Age Pierre Rosenberg, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 1982 French Painting in the Seventeenth Century Alain Mérot, 1995-01-01 Recent studies and exhibitions combined with the discovery of work by hitherto little known artists have enabled Merot to take a fresh look at the period and to suggest a new configuration The great names of the period Poussin Vouet Le Sueur de La Tour Mignard are located in relation to other developments Merot includes discussion of the impact of contemporary literature and political philosophical and social influences The foundation of the Royal Academy of Painting in 1648 and the influence of Mazarin on artistic developments are considered with other issues of status patronage and connoisseurship The book provides a panorama of the period the text is profusely illustrated in colour and accompanied by a comprehensive bibliography The Brothers Le Nain Esther Susan Bell, Claude Douglas Dickerson, Nicolas Milavanovic, Alain Tallon, 2016-01-01 A beautiful volume that brings to light the forgotten Le Nain brothers a trio of 17th century French master painters who specialized in portraiture religious subjects and scenes of everyday peasant life In France in the 17th century the brothers Antoine c 1598 1648 Louis c 1600 1605 1648 and Mathieu 1607 1677 Le Nain painted images of everyday life for which they became posthumously famous They are celebrated for their depictions of middle class leisure activities and particularly for their representations of peasant families who gaze out at the viewer The uncompromising naturalism of these compositions along with their oddly suspended action imparts a sense of dignity to their subjects Featuring more than sixty paintings highlighting the artists full range of production including altarpieces private devotional paintings portraits and the poignant images of peasants for which the brothers are best known this generously illustrated volume presents new research concerning the authorship dating and meaning of the works by well known scholars in the field Also groundbreaking are the results of a technical study of the paintings which constitutes a major contribution to the scholarship on the Le Nain brothers The Seventeenth Century French Paintings National Gallery (Great Britain), Humphrey Wine, 2001 Since 1957 when Martin Davies published The French School an unprecedented amount of research has been undertaken on French seventeenth century artists Taking account of this Humphrey Wine has written afresh on the seventeenth century paintings in Davies's catalogue he has also written detailed entries on all subsequent acquisitions in this field These include as well as paintings by Claude and Poussin major pictures such as La Hyre's Allegory of Grammar the Le Nain brothers Adoration of the Shepherds and Le Sueur's Alexander and his Doctor Women in the Fine Arts, from the Seventh Century B.C. to the Twentieth Century A.D. Clara Erskine Clement Waters, 2020-09-28 In studying the subject of this book I have found the names of more than a thousand women whose attainments in the Fine Arts in various countries and at different periods of time before the middle of the nineteenth century entitle them to honorable mention as artists and I doubt not that an exhaustive search would largely increase this number The stories of many of these women have been written with more or less detail while of others we know little more than their names and the titles of a few of their works but even our scanty knowledge of them is of value Of the army of women artists of the last century it is not yet possible to speak with judgment and justice although many have executed works of which all women may be proud We have some knowledge of women artists in ancient days Few stories of that time are so authentic as that of Kora who made the design for the first bas relief in the city of Sicyonia in the seventh century B C We have the names of other Greek women artists of the centuries immediately preceding and following the Christian era but we know little of their lives and works Calypso was famous for the excellence of her character pictures a remarkable one being a portrait of Theodorus the Juggler A picture found at Pompeii now at Naples is attributed to this artist but its authorship is so uncertain that little importance can be attached to it Pliny praised Eirene among whose pictures was one of An Aged Man and a portrait of Alcisthenes the Dancer In the annals of Roman Art we find few names of women For this reason Laya who lived about a century before the Christian era is important She is honored as the original painter of miniatures and her works on ivory were greatly esteemed Pliny says she did not marry but pursued her art with absolute devotion and he considered her pictures worthy of great praise A large picture in Naples is said to be the work of Laya but as in the case of Calypso we have no assurance that it is genuine It is also said that Laya's portraits commanded larger prices than those of Sopolis and Dyonisius the most celebrated portrait painters of their time Our scanty knowledge of individual women artists of antiquity mingled with fable as it doubtless is serves the important purpose of proving that women from very ancient times were educated as artists and creditably followed their profession beside men of the same periods This knowledge also awakens imagination and we wonder in what other ancient countries there were women artists We know that in Egypt inheritances descended in the female line as in the case of the Princess Karamat and since we know of the great architectural works of Queen Hashop and her journey to the land of Punt we may reasonably assume that the women of ancient Egypt had their share in all the interests of life Were there not artists among them who decorated temples and tombs with their imperishable colors Did not women paint those pictures of Isis goddess of Sothis that are like precursors of the pictures of the Immaculate Conception Surely we may hope that a papyrus will be brought to light that will reveal to us the part that women had in the decoration of the monuments of ancient Egypt At present we have no reliable records of the lives and works of women artists before the time of the Renaissance in Italy
