French Social Theory Mike Featherstone,1986 Recognition theory and contemporary French moral and political philosophy Miriam Bankovsky,Alice Le Goff,2024-06-04 The revival of recognition theory has brought new energy to critical theory In general terms recognition theory aims to critically evaluate social structures against a standard of social freedom identified with norms of interaction which are freely recognised by all parties. Until now attention has primarily focused on the categories and forms of recognition theory. However, the influence of contemporary French theory upon the development of theories of recognition has not yet received the consideration it merits. This collection outlines the current state of recognition theory, studies the impact of French theory, and uses French thought to identify aspects of the recognitive process which are often overlooked. Exploring French accounts of agonistic identity, construction, vulnerability, power, ethical obligation, and reflexive theory, construction, this book supports the intentions of critical theory with heightened attentiveness to oppression in all of its forms.

Auguste Comte and the Religion of Humanity Andrew Wernick, 2001-04-30. This 2001 book offers an exciting reinterpretation of Auguste Comte, the founder of French sociology. Following the development of his philosophy of positivism, Comte later focused on the importance of the emotions in his philosophy, resulting in the creation of a new religious system, the Religion of Humanity. Andrew Wernick provides the first in-depth critique of Comte's concept of religion and its place in his thinking on politics, sociology, and philosophy of science. He places Comte's ideas in the context of post-1789 French political and intellectual history and of modern philosophy, especially postmodernism. Wernick relates Comte to Marx and Nietzsche as seminal figures of modernity and examines key features of modern and postmodern French social theory, tracing the inherent flaws and disintegration of Comte's system. Wernick offers original and fascinating insights in this rich study, which will attract a wide audience from sociologists and philosophers to cultural theorists and historians.

Radicalism in French Culture Niilo Kauppi, 2016-10-17 An invisible pattern draws together most studies dealing with French cultural radicalism in the 1960s with intellectual creation reduced to individual creation and the role of semiotic and social factors that influence intellectual innovation minimized Sociological approaches often see a more or less external link between social location and intellectual production but because of their structural approach they are incapable of taking into account unique historical circumstances the crucial role of personal impulses and more importantly the semiotic logic of ideas as conditions of innovative thinking This ground breaking book will further an internal sociological analysis of ideas and styles of thought It will show that the defining but largely neglected feature of what has become French theory was a collective mind and style of thought an explosive but fragile mixture of scientific and political radicalism that rather quickly watered down to academic orthodoxy For some time radical intellectuals succeeded in producing ideas that were perfectly in tune with the demands of the consumers mostly the young university audience Ideas were used as part of radical posture that was set in opposition to the establishment and those in power Ideas could not be too empirical or verifiable and they had to shock It is not surprising that a slew of new sciences and concepts were invented to indicate this radical posture The central argument of this study is that ideas become power ideas only if they succeed in uniting individual and collective psychic investment in powerful social networks with significant institutional and political backing These conditions were met in the French context for a certain specific period of time From roughly the mid 1960s to the beginning of the 1970s radical intellectuals such as Roland Barthes Pierre Bourdieu Jacques Derrida Michel Foucault Julia Kristeva developed a host of new ideas concepts and theories a number of which have subsequently been labelled as French theory
